On The Cover: "Aces In The Hole"

Ozzie Guillen's 1985 American League rookie-of-the-year award deepened the well of outstanding shortstops who have graced White Sox togs over the years. The legacy of "Aces In The Hole" began with George Stacey Davis (1902, '04-09) and George "Buck" Weaver (1912-20). Hall of Famer Luke Appling (1930-50), arguably the greatest player in White Sox history, followed to set the standard. Flashy Chico Carrasquel (1950-55), Venezuela's first gift to the tradition, ushered the "Go-Go" era of White Sox baseball into Comiskey Park. Countryman and eventual Hall of Famer Luis Aparicio (1955-62, '68-70) refined and perfected it. Lanky Ron Hansen (1963-69) and boyish Bucky Dent (1973-76) served solid tenures. Now Guillen, the club's latest Venezuelan blessing, is prompting memories of a proud past and thoughts of an exciting future. Artist Tom Sulek captured the legacy.

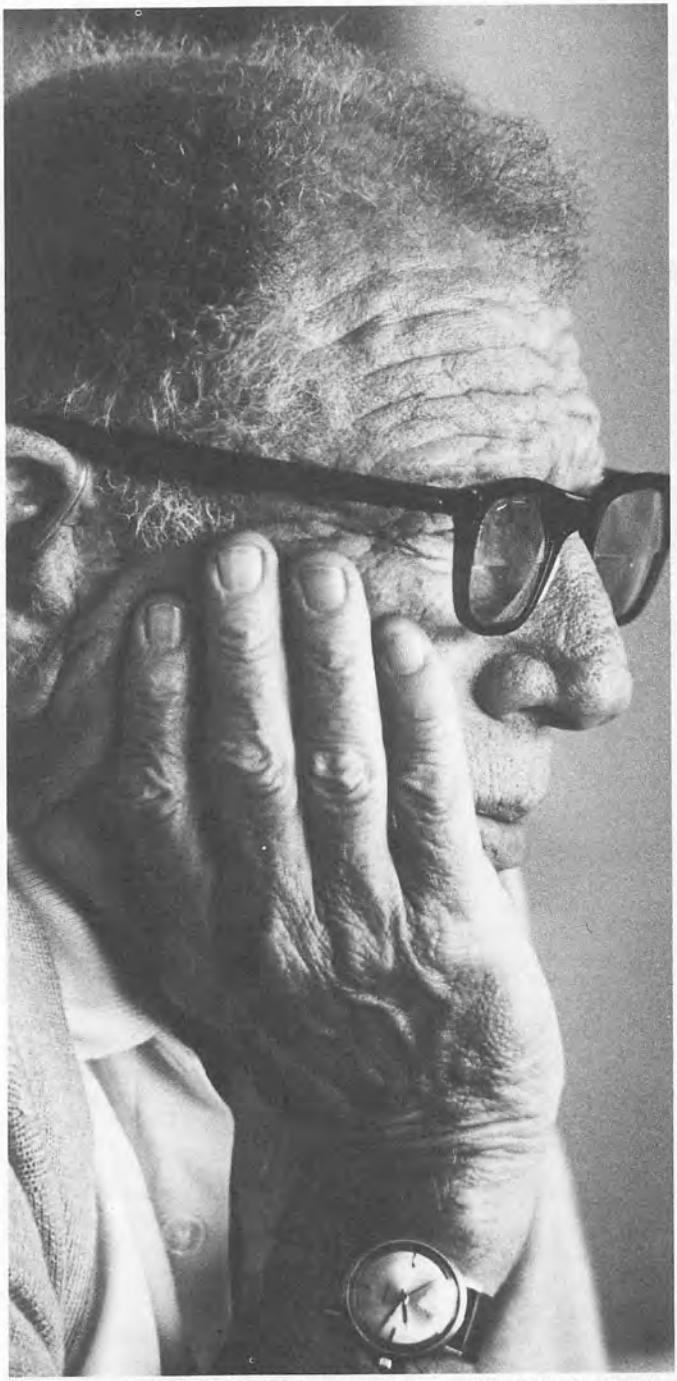
Bill Veeck, 1914-86

Bill Veeck. Innovator. Promoter. Author. Owner. Maverick. Workaholic. Medical survivor. Trailblazer. Husband. Father. Entertainer. Showman. Conversationalist. Insatiable reader. WWII U.S. Marine. Entrepreneur. Controversial. Flamboyant. Extrovert. Casual. Chicagoan. Unpretentious. For two fun-filled stints (1959-61, '76-80), Veeck, a.k.a. "Barnum Bill," belonged to the White Sox and vice versa. He won pennants at Cleveland (1948, the club's first in 28 years) and Chicago (1959, the team's first in 40 years). He also owned the St. Louis Browns and minor league Milwaukee Brewers. But most of all, he belonged to baseball! His career transcended any of the teams he owned, the other stops he made. He etched an indelible mark not only on the game he loved but life itself. How else would one explain exploding scoreboards, three-foot, seven-inch pinch hitters, players in shorts, fireworks, radio broadcasts, names on uniforms, etc? He was unique. Bill Veeck will be missed!

Front Office/Field Staff



Innovative Bill Veeck, who died January 2, 1986, graced the White Sox franchise as owner twice (1959-61, '76-80).

White Sox manager Tony La Russa owns a .512 winning percentage in six-plus seasons entering 1986.

Tony La Russa

Manager/#10

Given name: Anthony La Russa, Jr. Age: 41, turns 42 October 4. Born: October 4, 1944, Tampa, Fla. Batted/threw: Right/right. Height/ Weight: 6-1/190. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Residence: Sarasota, Fla. Family: Married Elaine Coker December 31, 1973; daughters Bianca Tai (September 14, 1979) and Devon Kai (August 17, 1982). First professional contract: Kansas City A's, 1962. Major league debut: Kansas City A's, 1963. White Sox affiliation: Appointed manager August 2, 1979, succeeeding Don Kessinger.

■ Major League Managerial Career: La Russa enters his seventh full season as the White Sox' field boss with a composite 496-472 record in his six-plus seasons in Chicago. . . that's a .512 winning percentage. . . his 1985 club rebounded strongly from a disappointing 74-88 season in 1984 to post an 85-77 record, good for third place in the A.L. West. . . lost notoriety as the A.L.'s youngest manager in 1985 when Texas hired Bobby Valentine during the season. . . second to Detroit's Sparky Anderson in A.L. managerial seniority by 49 days. . . selected as a coach for 1984 A.L. All-Star team. . . 1984 was the White Sox' first losing season under La Russa since 1980. . . orchestrated the ChiSox' amazing rampage through the A.L. West in 1983 when they finished 99-63, a record 20 games ahead of second-place Kansas City. . . 99-63 was the best regular-season record in baseball in '83. . . the 99 victories were Chicago's second highest win total in franchise history. . . his team's 20-game victory margin over K.C. set three records — largest winning margin in the history of the White Sox (shattering the former club mark of nine games by the pennant-winning 100-54 team of 1917), largest winning margin in the American League prior to divisional play (breaking the 1936 N.Y. Yankees' standard of 19½ games), and largest winning margin in the A.L. since divisional play began in 1969 (bettering the '69 Baltimore Orioles' mark of 19 games) . . . the 1983 off-season brought La Russa virtually every post-season managerial award — "manager-of-the-year" by The Sporting News (an award voted by managers), and "manager-of-the-year" by the Baseball Writers' Association of America and the Associated Press. . . had the '84 White Sox in first place at the All-Star Game break. . . undertook the White Sox managerial position August 2, 1979 after heading their "AAA" affiliate at Iowa through its first 105 games. . . instantly successful, guiding the Pale Hose to a 27-27 finish after assuming the helm of a 46-60 club. . . team record improved three consecutive years, beginning in 1981 (54-52, 87-75, and 99-63). . . credited by his players for his communication.

■ Minor League Managerial Career: La Russa's rise through the White Sox' ranks was a rapid one. . . spent only portions of two seasons (1978-79) as a minor league manager. . . hired to manage the White Sox' "AA" affiliate at Knoxville, Tenn. in 1978 primarily on the recommendation of Loren Babe, his manager at Denver and Iowa while La Russa was playing. . . Babe later coached on La Russa's staff in Chicago. . . managed Knoxville to a 53-25 record before being promoted to the White Sox' parent coaching staff. . . began the following season, 1979, as skipper at the White Sox' "AAA" affiliate at Iowa. . . summoned to Chicago August 2 to assume the managerial position as Don Kessigner's replacement. . . his composite minor league record was 107-76.

■ Playing Career: Signed with the Kansas City A's (later Oakland) the night he graduated from Tampa, Florida's Jefferson High School following a standout prep career. . . made his major league debut with the A's in 1963, his second season as a professional. . . played professionally for 16 seasons without spending one complete season in the major leagues. . . joined the A's for brief stints again in 1968, '69, '70, and '71. . . later appeared briefly in the big leagues for Atlanta and the Chicago Cubs. . . appeared in one game for the Cubs. . . he pinch ran for Ron Santo on Opening Day, 1973, and scored a run. . . spent three more weeks with the Cubs without getting into another game. . . finished his playing career in 1977 with "AAA" New Orleans of the American Association. . . spent portions of six seasons in the big leagues, appearing in 132 games and hitting .199 (35-for-176).

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Licensed attorney in Florida. . . affiliated with the Sarasota, Fla. firm of Thorp, Reed, Conley, and Dooley in the off-season. . . 1978 graduate of Florida State University's School of Law. . . passed the Florida bar exam in December of 1979. . . only the fifth lawyer-manager in major league history. . . the other four — Monte Ward (New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, late 1880s), Hughie Jennings (Detroit, 1907-20), Miller Huggins (St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees, 1913-29), and Branch Rickey (St. Louis Browns, 1914-15) — are all in baseball's Hall of Fame. . . took undergraduate studies at both the University of Tampa and the University of South Florida. . . received his bachelor's degree in industrial management from U.S.F. in 1969. . . devoted family man. . . native of Tampa, Fla. . . . raised in the Ybor City area where two of his American Legion teammates also would reach the major leagues — outfielder Lou Piniella (Kansas City and the New York Yankees) and catcher Ken Suarez (Kansas City, Cleveland, and Texas). . . La Russa's parents, Olivia and Tony, Sr., still reside in Tampa. . . La Russa speaks Spanish fluently. . . has appeared in numerous national publications as the subject of a full-page advertisement for Consort Hair Spray.

Newest pupil, shortstop Ozzie Guillen, dazzled in the field in 1985 en route to the A.L. rookie-of-the-year award. . . Guillen committed only 12 errors, a club record low for shortstops. . . credited with much of the drastic improvement shown by the White Sox infield defense the past three seasons. . . infield defense had been a soft spot prior to Brinkman's arrival . . . Sox finished in virtual tie for first in A.L. fielding statistics the past two seasons, finishing second by percentage points to Baltimore in '84 and California in '85 . . . the Sox committed one more error than the leader in '84, one less in '85 . . . in '83, the Pale Hose finished third in A.L. defense (.981) and second during the season's second half (.984), one percentage point shy of being the league's leading defense during the second half . . . those figures represented a drastic improvement over '82 when the Sox finished 13th in fielding in the 14-team American League . . . another notch on Brinkman's belt is first baseman Greg Walker, who suddenly is considered a good defensive player to complement his potent bat . . . infield defense was on manager Tony La Russa's mind during the 1982-83 off-season . . . Brinkman was La Russa's choice to tutor the ChiSox infielders about defense . . . defense was Brinkman's specialty during his 15-year major league career with Washington, Detroit, St. Louis, Texas, and the New York Yankees . . . earned his deserved reputation as one of the game's top defensive shortstops . . . during his 1972 season with the Tigers, Brinkman established the following major league fielding records: Fewest errors, 7; most consecutive errorless games, 72; highest fielding percentage in 150 or more games, .990; and, most consecutive errorless chances, 331 . . . garnered a Gold Glove in '72 for his efforts . . . Brinkman hit a composite .224 during his career with 60 home runs and 461 runs batted in . . . his best season with the bat was 1969 when he hit .266 with Washington.

ChiSox Memory

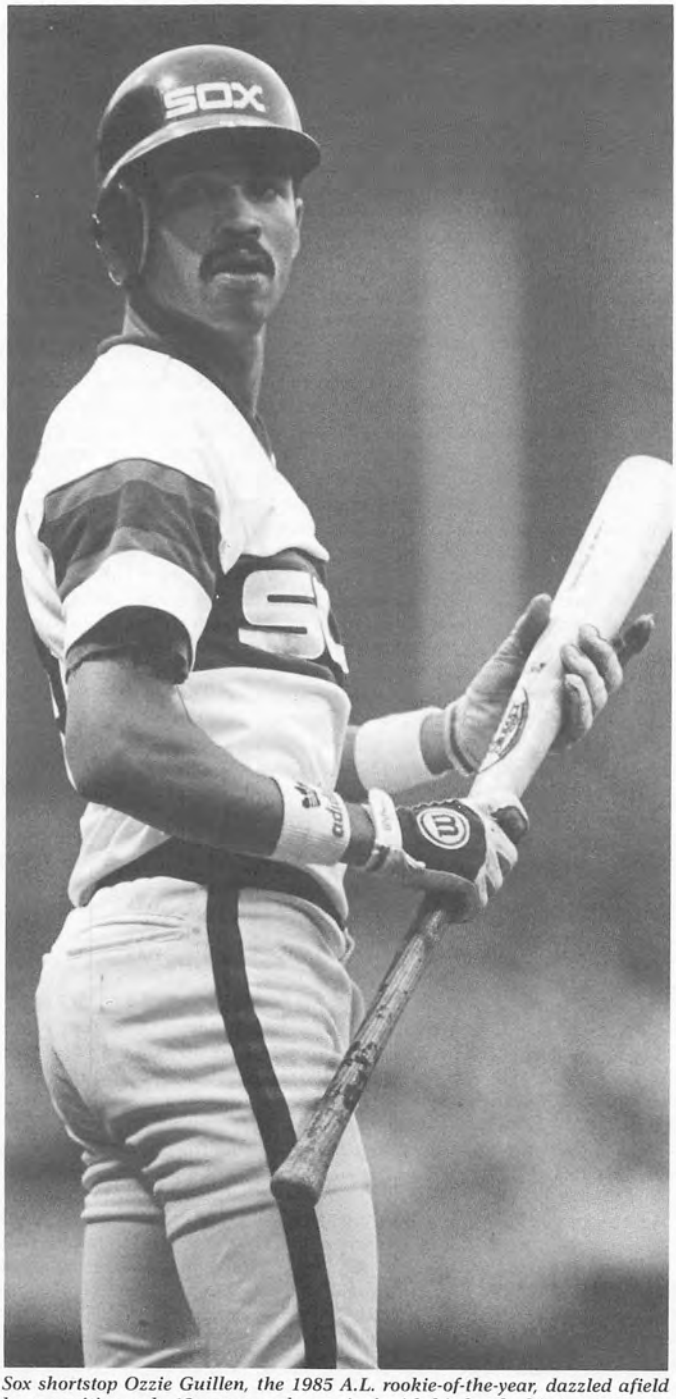
Jimmy Callahan was a colorful figure from the "dead ball era" both as a player and manager. Considered a "problem child" by Charles Comiskey who suspended him on more than one occasion, Callahan, nevertheless, was a fine pitcher and outfielder. On August 1, 1901, Callahan pitched the first one-hitter in White Sox history, defeating the Tigers 4-0.

Players



Sox shortstop Ozzie Guillen, the 1985 A.L. rookie-of-the-year, dazzled afield by commiting only 12 errors and surprised with his bat by hitting .273.

Juan Agosto
Pitcher/#50

Given name (pronunciation): Juan Roberto Agosto (ah-GUS-toe). Age: 28. Born: February 23, 1958, Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/Weight: 6-2/187. Major league tenure: Three years, seven days. Residence: Carolina, Puerto Rico. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Linda Peters March 24, 1983. First pro contract: Signed with the Boston Red Sox as a free agent August 29, 1974. Major league debut: September 7, 1981 vs. Seattle. White Sox acquisition: Signed as a free agent January 18, 1980.

■ 1985: Spent all but 11 days with the White Sox, making a career-high 54 appearances...made six appearances and earned a pair of saves in a short stint at Buffalo ("AAA") June 3-14...shared the role of left-handed short reliever with Bob Fallon in the season's early going and with Jerry Don Gleaton for much of the second half...the four victories and three defeats with the Sox matched his major-league totals entering the '85 campaign...ranked 10th among A.L. relievers with 6.71 hits per nine innings...earned just one save and entered 15 games in save situations...often summoned to face just one or two left-handed hitters in save situations before turning the ball over to Sox stopper Bob James...enjoyed some fine stretches in '85...immediately following his recall from Buffalo, allowed just one earned run in 11.2 innings of relief over nine appearances from June 15-July 20...made 12 straight scoreless appearances (12.1 innings) from August 23-September 15...allowed .210 opponent batting average...perhaps his finest outing of the season was also his longest, pitching five innings of scoreless, one-hit relief (two strikeouts, no walks) as the Sox came from behind on Carlton Fisk's two-run, ninth-inning triple to defeat Baltimore at Comiskey Park July 26...his next-longest effort came against the Yankees in Chicago August 14 when he hurled 4.2 innings allowing only one hit, a solo homer by eventual American League MVP Don Mattingly...39 strikeouts were a career-high...23 walks were 11 fewer than his 1984 total...hurled 60.1 innings, also a career best.

■ Major League Highlights: Agosto appeared with the parent White Sox during portions of '81-83 and for all of '84. ■ 1984: First full season in the major leagues...developed into the Sox' left-handed short relief specialist...led the staff in ERA (3.09) and fewest home runs allowed (two in 55.1 innings)...finished second in appearances (49) and saves (7)...displayed top form in mid-season, allowing only five earned runs in 36 innings from May 1 - July 31 for a 1.25 ERA over the three-month period...in perhaps the most memorable outing of his young career, Agosto entered the marathon, record-setting, 25-inning game against Milwaukee in the 14th inning and pitched seven innings of shutout ball, longest by staff reliever in '84. ■ 1983: First extended taste of major league play although he did appear in 19 games at "AAA" Denver...made 39 appearances for the A.L. West Division champion White Sox after being recalled June 1...appeared and won his first big league game the same day with 3.1 shutout innings of relief against Kansas City...went on to post a 0.52 ERA in 17.1 innings in June with a 2-1 record and four saves. ■ 1982: Made the White Sox' Opening Day roster but had just one appearance before being optioned back to their "AAA" affiliate at Edmonton. ■ 1981: Made his major league debut September 7 versus Seattle...appeared in one other game.

Minor League Highlights: Earned a pair of saves and allowed just three earned runs in six appearances and 12.2 innings of work during short stay at Buffalo last June. . . finished fifth in the Midwest League with a 2.59 ERA while posting an 11-6 record for the "A" Appleton (Wis.) Foxes in 1980. . . raced to an impressive start at "AAA" Denver in '83 before being recalled by the White Sox with a 4-1 record in 19 appearances that included seven saves and a 2.08 ERA in 26 innings.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Agosto is a successful reclamation project . . . signed his first professional contract at 16 by the Boston Red Sox. . . arm trouble prompted his release following the 1978 season. . . sat out the 1979 season. . . signed by the White Sox January 18, 1980 and converted from a starter to a reliever. . . signed by the White Sox on the recommendation of former major league slugger Orlando Cepeda, then a ChiSox coach. . . has pitched in the Puerto Rican Winter League the past several winters.

On September 2, 1918, Buck Weaver of the White Sox collected eight hits in 10 times at bat in a doubleheader. Twenty years later, August 4, 1938, Rip Radcliff duplicated the feat in a twin bill.

Neil Allen

Pitcher/#33

Given name: Neil Patrick Allen. Age: 28. Born: January 24, 1958, Kansas City, Kansas. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-2/190. Major league tenure: Seven years. Residence: Syosset, N.Y. Contract Status: Signed through 1987. Family: Married Linda Schultheis February 17, 1981; son Neil Robert (September 15, 1981) and daughter Courtney Leigh (August 15, 1984). First professional contract: New York Mets; selected 11th round, June, 1976, free agent draft. Major league debut: April 15, 1979 with New York Mets (vs. Philadelphia). Sox acquisition: Obtained from New York Yankees with catcher Scott Bradley and minor league outfielder Glen Braxton in exchange for catcher Ron Hassey and minor leaguers Matt Winters, Eric Schmidt, and Chris Alvarez February 13, 1986.

■ 1985: Split his season between St. Louis and the New York Yankees...opened the campaign in St. Louis and appeared in 23 games for the Cardinals...all but one of those outings came in relief...owned a 1-4 record and a pair of saves in 29.0 innings of work...was dealt to the Yankees July 17 for cash considerations and a minor league player to be named...had a 1-0 record and one save with the New Yorkers in 17 relief appearances...the save came August 23 vs. Seattle and was his first since April 21 with St. Louis...earned his only decision over Baltimore September 30 in New York...longest outing was a 4.1 inning effort in final stint of season at Toronto October 5...allowed no earned runs in his final four appearances over a stretch of 9.2 innings.

■ Major League Highlights: One of the National League's premier relief pitchers from 1980-82 with the New York Mets...earned 59 saves in those three seasons before being dealt to St. Louis in the celebrated trade for first baseman Keith Hernandez. ■ 1984: Made 56 relief appearances and one start and owned a 9-6 record with three saves...used primarily as the set-up man for finisher Bruce Sutter of the Cardinals. ■ 1983: Split his season between the Mets and Cardinals...struggled with the Mets early in the year and was shuffled between the bullpen and the starting rotation...the trade to St. Louis sparked him to a 5-1 start with the Cardinals as a member of the Redbirds' rotation...lost four straight to even his record and he was moved back to the bullpen...posted a pair of back-to-back shutouts while a starter (July 19 over San Diego and July 24 over Los Angeles) and was named N.L. player of the week, yielding only nine hits in the two games...had a streak of 22 straight scoreless innings when the Expos finally scored on him July 29. ■ 1982: Finished sixth in the N.L. in saves despite having his season drastically curtailed by illness and injury...appeared in only five games after August 1...problems included a bacterial infection of the colon and an elbow strain. ■ 1981: Third in the league in saves with 18 and played a part in 25 of the Mets' 41 victories of the strike-shortened season with seven wins added to the saves...began the post-strike portion of the season with a streak of 14 scoreless innings over eight appearances...recorded a pair of wins and six saves in those eight outings...shared N.L. player of the week honors with Atlanta's Rick Camp after that streak. ■ 1980: Established himself as one of the loop's top firemen...saved 22 games and did not permit a run in 37 of his 59 appearances...on six occasions, he pitched three or more scoreless innings of relief...fourth in the league in saves...named player of the week for the first time July 1-6. ■ 1979: Saw action in 50 games as a rookie with the Mets...posted a 6-10 record and had eight saves...gained first major league victory May 12 against the Cardinals in relief . . .on disabled list from May 31-June 25 . . .moved to bullpen full time upon his return and excelled the rest of the season, earning the nod as the Mets' top stopper . . .made 38 appearances and had a 5-5 record with eight saves and a 2.06 ERA out of the pen . . .first save was July 28 vs. Chicago in Shea Stadium.

Minor League Highlights: Allen led the Texas League in ERA with a 2.10 mark in 1978, his last season of minor league ball . . .was selected to pitch in the Texas League all-star game that year . . .in 1977, led the Carolina League in strikeouts with 126 while pitching for Lynchburg . . . his winning percentage of .833 (10-2) was also the loop's best . . .tied for the league lead that year with 11 complete games and was runner-up in ERA with a 2.79 mark.

Miscellaneous/Personal: A product of the Mets' organization . . . drafted out of Bishop Ward High in his hometown of Kansas City, Kansas . . .earned varsity letters in baseball, football and basketball as a prep and garnered honorable mention all-America honors as a football quarterback . . .offered college football scholarships by all schools from the Big Eight Conference but opted for pro baseball instead.

Harold Baines

Outfielder/#3

Given name: Harold Douglass Baines. Age: 26, turns 27 March 15. Born: March 15, 1959, Easton, Md. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-2/195. Major league tenure: Six years. Residence: St. Michaels, Md. Contract status: In final year of four-year contract. Signed through 1986 with two option years. Family: Married Marla Henry October 29, 1983; daughters Antoinette (March 6, 1984) and Britni (October 31, 1985). First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: April 10, 1980 with the White Sox (vs. Baltimore). Sox acquisition: Selected first round (first in nation), June, 1977, free agent draft.

■ 1985: Established himself as a legitimate star, hitting over .300 for the second straight season, finishing sixth in the American League in hitting, fourth in RBI and ninth in total bases...also tied for seventh in GWRBI and tied for fourth in sacrifice flies...made first appearance in baseball's All-Star Game, lacing a pinch single in his only at bat...named to The Sporting News and UPI A.L. all-star teams at conclusion of season....309 batting average and 113 RBI were career highs as was his total of 198 base hits...narrowly missed getting 200 hits in one season for the first time in his career when he was held hitless in his final 13 at bats by Seattle in the season's final series...led all A.L. hitters on the road with a .335 mark away from Comiskey Park...joined Wade Boggs, Don Mattingly, and Eddie Murray as the only players to finish in the top 15 in the batting statistics for the past two seasons...fifth in the loop in total hits...ninth in the league with 299 total bases...narrowly missed becoming the first Sox player to record 300 total bases twice in his career (had personal high of 308 in 1984)...had the club's longest hitting streak of the season at 14 games (25-62, .403) April 14-30...also enjoyed skeins of 12 and 10 games...on the other side of the coin, Baines also had the team's longest hitless streak at 26 at bats May 19-31...average slipped to a season-low .256 before ending that drought with a pair of hits versus Kansas City on the last day of May...gradually built average to rank among league leaders, finally reaching the .300 mark again August 8...a notorious slow starter, Baines jumped out to a great start, hitting .356 in April...slumped to .188 in May...hit over .300, though, in the season's final three months...held to just nine homers through August 22, Baines displayed some of his well-known power in the season's final six weeks, belting 13 round-trippers...the first of those 13 was his first career roof shot at Comiskey Park August 23 against Toronto...boasts 20 or more homers in four straight seasons...homerless from April 26 until June 18...no multiple-homer games...belted his fifth career grand slam (a Sox record) July 2 versus Seattle in Chicago...recorded first career five-hit game at Milwaukee August 17 with five safeties in six at bats...placed third among all A.L. outfielders with a .9939 fielding percentage, committing just two errors in 328 total chances...144 singles ranked third in A.L.

■ Major League Highlights: First homer of the 1985 season at New York April 16 (off Ed Whitson) was the 98th of his career, making him the most prolific left-handed hitting slugger in White Sox history...career total now stands at 119...only player in Sox history to homer three times in one game on two separate occasions...has averaged 103 RBI over the past four seasons. ■ 1984: Turned in outstanding season by hitting .304, the White Sox' only .300 hitter...his first .300 season...slammed a career high 29 home runs (second most by a left-handed hitter in White Sox history)...besides batting average, Baines led the ChiSox in nearly every offensive category — hits (171), RBI (94), game-winning RBI (17), runs (72), doubles (28), triples (10), multiple-hit games (48), extra base hits (67), total bases (308), and slugging percentage (.541)...led the American League in slugging percentage and tied for second in game-winning RBI...total-base figure was third best in White Sox history behind Joe Jackson (336 in 1920) and Carl Reynolds (329 in 1930)...became only the 12th batter in Pale Hose history to reach double figures in all extra base hit categories in one season and the first to accomplish the feat since Jorge Orta in 1975...ended the longest game (eight hours, six minutes) in history on May 9 when he hit the 753rd pitch of the contest (from Chuck Porter) into the center field bullpen to give the White Sox a 25-inning victory over Milwaukee...the bat he used to hit the historic home run was sent to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y....homered three times at Minnesota September 17. ■ 1983: Set a major league record with 22 game-winning RBI...his most significant GWRBI came September 17 at Comiskey Park when his ninth-inning sacrifice fly drove home Julio Cruz with the run that beat Seattle and clinched the White Sox' A.L. West Division championship, the franchise's first title since 1959...led the A.L. in homers hit in winning games (18)...hit the White Sox' only grand slam home run of the season...notched his 500th major league hit on August 29...owned a 19-game hitting streak, longest on the club (September 3-23)...led the Pale Hose in outfield assists (10) for the second straight season...finished second on the club in outfield defense (.973) only to A.L. leader and teammate Rudy Law...batted .125 in the American League playoffs against Baltimore (2-for-16). ■ 1982: Drove in a career high 105 runs...at 23, became the youngest player in White Sox history to crack the 100-RBI barrier...RBI total represented the most by a Sox batter since Dick Allen accumulated 113 in 1972...enjoyed an incredible week in early July by hitting .500 (11-for-22), slamming five home runs, including a pair of grand slams, and driving in 13 runs in just six games...the high point of his tear came July 7 when he blasted three home runs in one game, including an eighth-inning grand slam, to drive in six runs against Detroit...named A.L. player-of-the-week for his rampage. ■ 1981: Ignored the sophomore jinx...added 31 points to his rookie batting average...tied for second in the A.L. in triples with seven...hit .354 in August...drove in 15 runs in 17 September games...25 multiple-hit games. ■ 1980: Twenty years old during his impressive rookie season...regular from the beginning...appeared in 141 games, hitting 13 homers and driving in 49 runs while tying for the club lead in triples with six...slammed a three-run home run and two doubles in four at bats at Cooperstown, New York's annual Hall of Fame Game.

■ Minor League Highlights: Spent just three seasons in the minor leagues...in his only "AAA" season, 1979, Baines hit .298 with 22 homers and 87 RBI, and led Iowa, the White Sox' "AAA" affiliate at the time, in triples (8), total bases (246), and slugging percentage (.528)...etched his name in the record book in '79 by belting two home runs in the same inning on August 4 at Oklahoma City.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Quiet, soft-spoken personality...first pick of the June, 1977 free agent draft...."discovered" as a 12-year-old little leaguer by former White Sox owner Bill Veeck when both lived on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Floyd Bannister

Given name: Floyd Franklin Bannister. Nickname: "Banny." Age: 30, turns 31 June 10. Born: June 10, 1955 at Pierre, S.D. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-1/203. Major league tenure: Nine years. Residence: Scottsdale, Ariz. Contract status: In fourth year of five-year contract. Signed through 1987 with three option years. Family: Married Jana Cochran November 11, 1978; sons Brian (February 28, 1981) and Brett (March 3, 1983). First pro contract: Houston Astros; selected first round (first in nation), June, 1976, free agent draft. Major league debut: April 19, 1977, with Houston (vs. San Francisco). Sox acquisition: Signed as a free agent December 13, 1982.

1985: Struggled through much of the season but won his final four starts to finish with a 10-14 mark . . . finished second in the A.L. behind Minnesota's Bert Blyleven with 198 strikeouts, the second highest total of Bannister's career and the most by an A.L. southpaw in '85 . . . lost his first three decisions before winning five of his next six to post a 5-4 mark by June 10 . . . did not earn another victory until beating Toronto August 25 in Comiskey Park . . . his losing streak reached seven games . . . dropped three more verdicts to fall to 6-14 before his strong finish . . . had four games with 10 or more strikeouts, including three in succession . . . whiffed 10 Indians in just 6.1 innings at Cleveland May 7, fanned 11 Tigers at Chicago May 12, and struck out 10 Orioles in just 5.2 innings in a rain-shortened loss at Comiskey Park May 16 . . . the fine effort against the Tigers on Mother's Day evening was his only shutout of the season, a 4-0, seven-hit masterpiece in which he walked only one batter . . . victimized by 30 home run balls, the most on the Sox staff and third highest total in the A.L. behind Milwaukee's Danny Darwin and Baltimore's Scott McGregor who each served up 34 long balls . . . three of the homers he allowed were grand slams (the Indians' Brook Jacoby at Cleveland May 7, the Orioles' Eddie Murray in Chicago July 25 and the Brewers' Cecil Cooper in Milwaukee August 15) . . . had his seven-game winning streak against New York snapped at Yankee Stadium in his second start of the season . . . had one stretch (May 7-16) of 19.2 straight innings without allowing an earned run.

■ Major League Highlights: Has compiled a 40-35 record in three seasons with the White Sox . . . has led the Pale Hose in strikeouts all three seasons with totals of 193, 152, and 198, respectively . . . ranks ninth among active hurlers in career strikeouts per nine innings (7.09) . . . also owns two of the three best White Sox single-season efforts in that category. ■ 1984: One of only two ChiSox starters to finish over .500 . . . tied for second on the club with 14 wins (against 11 losses) . . . led the Sox staff in strikeouts (152) for the second consecutive year . . . 8-2 in July and August with a pair of four-hitters . . . struck out 11 at Milwaukee in a 5-1 Sox win on August 3, the best strikeout effort by a White Sox pitcher in '84 . . . beat the Yankees four times against no losses . . . was 9-4 against East Division teams . . . only relief appearance came in the 25-inning marathon against Milwaukee on May 8-9, the longest game (eight hours, six minutes) in major league history. ■ 1983: Made his first post-season appearance as the White Sox starter in game two of the ALCS against Baltimore, falling victim to Mike Boddicker's five-hit 4-0 shutout of the Sox . . . suffered through an inauspicious 3-9 (4.76 ERA) start to his White Sox career during the first half of the regular season . . . won his first nine decisions in the second half en route to a 13-1 record after the All-Star Game break . . . during the second half, he posted a 2.23 ERA and struck out 124 batters against only 27 walks . . . struck out 193 batters for the season, second best total in the American League and best by a lefty . . . strikeout ratio of eight per nine innings was tops in the A.L. and third in the major leagues . . . probably tossed his best career performance September 16 to clinch a tie for the A.L. West for Chicago, limiting Seattle to two hits and striking out 12, his career single-game high . . . joined fellow starters LaMarr Hoyt and Richard Dotson in compiling a 42-5 composite record after the All-Star Game . . . 16 wins remains his personal high. ■ 1982: Final season with Seattle was outstanding . . . Bannister led the A.L. in strikeouts with 209 . . . 3.43 ERA was tops among A.L. southpaws. ■ 1981: Fired a pair of two-hitters during the strike-shortened season to post his first .500 season (9-9) in the major leagues. ■ 1980: Achieved two firsts — pitched more than 200 innings (218) and dropped his ERA under 4.00 (3.47). ■ 1979: First season as a Mariner and in the American League. ■ 1978: A disappointing 3-9 in his last National League season as a Houston Astro . . . hampered by a spring training illness and several bouts with blisters. ■ 1977: Posted an 8-9 log in his rookie major league season . . . won his last four verdicts.

■ Minor League Highlights: Spent only one season (1976) in the minor leagues . . . split that campaign between Covington, Columbus (Ga.), and Memphis . . . posted a 2-0 record and 1.50 ERA while striking out 53 hitters in 43 innings.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Signed by the White Sox as a free agent in December of 1982 . . . the signing was considered a coup . . . traded from Houston to Seattle for shortstop Craig Reynolds on December 8, 1978 . . . selected by 16 teams in the re-entry draft . . . first player selected in the June, 1976 free agent draft after a standout career at Arizona State University . . . amassed a gaudy 38-6 record as a Sun Devil with a 1.88 ERA to match in three seasons at the Tempe, Ariz. school . . . 19-2 as a junior with a 1.45 ERA and 123 strikeouts in 186 innings . . . named college player-of-the-year by The Sporting News . . . two-time all-America choice . . . dons no. 19, his number as a collegian at Arizona State, for the first time with the White Sox after wearing no. 24.

Daryl Boston

Outfielder/#8

Given name: Daryl Lamont Boston. Age: 23. Born: January 4, 1963, Cincinnati, O. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-3/193. Major league tenure: Zero years, 167 days. Residence: Cincinnati, O. Contract status: Signed through 1986 with two option years. Family: Single. First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: May 13, 1984 with the White Sox (vs. Texas). Sox acquisition: Selected in first round (seventh player in nation), June, 1981 free agent draft.

1985: Opened the season as the club's regular center fielder but a batting slump prompted his return to "AAA" Buffalo June 30...recalled from Buffalo September 1 and finished the season with the Sox...started the season on a good note, hitting safely in his first four games with three two-hit games (7-14, .500), three doubles, a triple and three RBI...belted first major league homer May 19 in Chicago off Texas' Charlie Hough...Boston also had his first major league hit off Hough May 13, 1984...recorded one three-hit game at Minnesota October 1...in addition to his four-game streak at the start of the season, Boston had another four-gamer following his recall in September...had six hits in 14 at bats in the four-game series at Texas September 5-8...hit safely in six of his first seven games with at bats after his recall (9-23, .391)...batted .271 with 10 homers and 35 RBI in 63 games at Buffalo...stole 16 bases in 21 attempts for the Bisons...stole eight of the 14 bases he attempted to steal with the White Sox.

Major League Highlights: Has flashed unlimited potential in two partial stays with parent White Sox. 1984: Made his major-league debut May 13, 1984, an auspicious one by tripling off Texas' Hough in his first big league at bat...followed with two consecutive singles before striking out in fourth trip, leaving him just one hit short of the major league and White Sox record for consecutive hits at the start of a major league career...added a stolen base for good measure in his debut...recalled by the parent White Sox three times, meaning his season was spent shuttling as follows — Denver ("AAA")-Chicago-Denver-Chicago-Denver-Chicago...appeared in 35 games with the White Sox...enjoyed a banner year at Denver in 127 games, hitting .312, second best on the team while leading the squad with 40 stolen bases...his season average ranked fourth in the American Association...also led the A.A. in triples with 19, the most recorded in the loop in 19 years. . . at season's end, Boston was named to the American Association all-star team and the league's rookie-of-the-year.

Minor League Highlights: Boston moved rapidly through the White Sox farm system, reaching the major leagues in 1984 after starting at the club's Gulf Coast League rookie team at Sarasota in 1981. . . advanced to "A" Appleton his second year, and played both "AA" (Glens Falls) and "AAA" (Denver) ball his third year. . . has stolen 117 bases in less than five full minor league seasons. . . in '83, despite being promoted from "AA" to "AAA" the final few weeks of the season, he still finished second on the Glens Falls White Sox with 18 home runs and fourth in RBI with 50. . . at the end of the '83 season, he was dubbed one of the top 10 major league prospects in the Eastern League by Baseball America. . . Boston was accorded the same honor in '84 by Baseball America as an American Association "AAA" player. . . named to the Midwest League all-star team in 1982, his second professional season after leading the circuit's outfielders in games (139) and putouts (293).

Miscellaneous/Personal: Blessed with outstanding speed, defensive skills, and throwing arm. . . selected by the White Sox as their first round pick (seventh choice overall) in the June, 1981 free agent draft. . . the choice made Boston the highest drafted player from the Cincinnati area since White Sox pitcher Richard Dotson was selected seventh in the nation by California in 1977. . . graduated from Woodward High School in Cincinnati after a stellar prep career as a pitcher and quarterback. . . heavily recruited as a football player. . . father Henry was manager of the Cincinnati Tigers semi-professional baseball team at one time. . . that team's star player was outfielder Dave Parker. . . split the past off-season conditioning under Sox supervision and playing winter ball in Venezuela. . . owns an excellent impersonation of singer Stevie Wonder.

Julio Cruz
Infielder/#12

Given name: Jose Luis Cruz. Nicknames: "Juice," "Cruzer." Age: 31 Born: December 2, 1954 at Brooklyn, N.Y. Bats/throws: Switch/right. Height/weight: 5-9/167. Major league tenure: Eight years, 95 days. Residence: Bellevue, Wash. Contract status: In third year of six-year contract through 1989. Family: Sons Austin (March 31, 1983) and Alex (September 25, 1985). First pro contract: California Angels; signed as a free agent May 7, 1974. Major league debut: July 4, 1977 with Seattle Mariners (vs. White Sox). Sox acquisition: From Seattle Mariners in exchange for second baseman Tony Bernazard June 15, 1983.

■ 1985: Battled injuries and spent one 15-day period (May 17-June 3) on the disabled list due to a troublesome knee . . . suffered his poorest offensive season with a .197 batting average . . . played in just 91 games and platooned much of the season's second half with Bryan Little at second base . . . batted .250 (29-116) as a right-handed hitter and just .144 (17-118) as a lefty . . . held to a career-low eight stolen bases, the first time in his nine major-league seasons that he has been held to single digits in base thefts . . . made seven pinch-hitting appearances, notching three hits, one base on balls, and one RBI, a game-winner September 13 at Seattle . . . enjoyed one three-hit game at Baltimore April 30 with a pair of singles and a double . . . stroked a two-run single in top of the 11th inning at Boston April 15 to propel Sox to their first extra-inning win of '85 . . . also collected a two-run triple off Detroit's Frank Tanana to drive home the game-winner at Comiskey Park July 23 . . . longest hitting streak was a five-gamer that started May 11 with his final game before going on the disabled list and came to a halt June 9 (6-19) . . . continued to show moments of brilliance in the field and teamed with shortstop Ozzie Guillen for the season's most memorable infield double play against the Yankees April 27.

■ Major League Highlights: Despite getting just eight steals in '85, Cruz still has averaged 37.3 thefts per year in his eight-plus major-league seasons . . . shares the American League record of 32 consecutive stolen bases with Kansas City's Willie Wilson . . . Cruz swiped his during the end of 1980 and the beginning of 1981 (four and 28, respectively) with Seattle . . . considered among the A.L.'s top defensive second basemen . . . ended '85 as the no. 8 career base stealer among active players with 336. ■ 1984: After a slow start offensively, Cruz improved his hitting during the second half, batting .249 after the all-star break . . . closed with a surge, posting his best monthly batting average in September at .288 (19-for-66) . . . not noted for power, Cruz smacked his first career grand slam home run April 28 at Comiskey Park against Boston . . . snapped a streak of 30 or more stolen bases for six straight seasons with just 14 . . . despite committing a personal single-season high of 18 errors, he finished third in the American League in assists (452) and fourth in double plays (42) and total chances (452). ■ 1983: Put the "go" in Chicago's A.L. West Division championship drive after being acquired from Seattleon June 15 . . . generally credited with providing the team's spark . . . when Cruz arrived, the ChiSox were 5½ games out of first in fifth place . . . after "the Cruzer" was inserted into the lineup, the Sox won 10 of their next 13 outings and went 71-31 the rest of the regular season . . . played every inning of the '83 ALCS against Baltimore, compiling the Sox' second best batting average (.333 with four-for-12) and swiping two bases in the four-game series . . . stole 57 bases (24 with the Sox) to finish fourth in the American League . . . combined with teammate Rudy Law to pilfer 134 bases, all but 31 of the Sox' team total for the season . . . as a result, the White Sox finished with their best stolen base total in 40 years (173 in 1943)...."Juice" recorded a milestone on July 9 at Comiskey Park when he stole his 300th career base against Milwaukee...swiped 11 bases in 12 attempts against Milwaukee...scored the division title-clinching run against Seattle September 17 on a ninth-inning sacrifice fly by Harold Baines in Chicago's 4-3 victory. ■ 1982: Led Seattle in games (154), runs (83), and stolen bases (46) while recording personal highs in hits (133), doubles (22), triples (5), and home runs (8)...also matched his longest hitting streak by batting safely in 11 consecutive games from May 7-18...career high 49 RBI...enjoyed another outstanding defensive year, finishing just .001 of a percentage point behind Detroit's Lou Whitaker as the best A.L. defensive second baseman....987 fielding percentage equalled his own 1978 Mariner mark for second baseman. ■ 1981: Set an American League record and tied the major league record of Philadelphia's Terry Harmon for second basemen June 7 against Cleveland when he handled 18 total chances (nine putouts, nine assists) in a regulation nine-inning game...sidelined for a good portion of the latter part of the season by a succession of calf and hamstring muscle problems. ■ 1980: Suffered poor offensive season, hitting only .209 in 119 games...still stole 45 bases...sidelined from May 18-July 17 with a hairline fracture of his right foot. ■ 1979: Enjoyed his best season at the plate as a major league sophomore, hitting .271...49 stolen bases...missed 54 games due to a torn ligament in his left thumb that was repaired surgically. ■ 1978: First complete season in the major leagues...established Mariner single-season stolen base record of 59...set personal single-season highs for at bats (550) and walks (69). ■ 1977: Made his major league debut July 4 against the White Sox...played 60 games in the big leagues and 75 at Seattle's "AAA" affiliate at Hawaii.

■ Minor League Highlights: Ended his minor league career with a flourish by hitting .366 and stealing 47 bases in 75 games at Hawaii to earn a berth on the Pacific Coast League all-star team...learned to switch hit in his first professional season while in the California Angels' organization...led the Pioneer League with 34 stolen bases in 1974, his first professional season...swiped 60 more the next year at Quad Cities of the Midwest League...stole 83 bases with three different teams in 1976 as he rapidly moved up the minor league ladder...set a California League record in 1976 by playing 41 consecutive errorless games at second base for Salinas.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Seattle grabbed Cruz in the American League expansion draft from California (fifth round) on November 5, 1976...became a free agent after the 1983 season...signed a long-term contract with the White Sox after being heavily pursued by California and Baltimore...signed his first professional contract with the Angels in 1974 as a free agent after being passed in the '74 amateur draft...born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Cruz moved with his family to southern California as a teenager...played baseball and basketball at Redlands (Calif.) High School, earning a pair of most valuable player honors in basketball...holds an associate degree in liberal arts from San Bernardino Valley Junior College...a basketball fan and recreation player, Cruz can dunk a basketball from a standing start...he did not play baseball in junior college.

ChiSox Memory

Night baseball saved the Sox from financial ruin in the 1940s. The novelty of the twi-night doubleheader—the first played in Comiskey Park—drew 27,553 paying customers on July 29, 1942. The Sox rewarded their fans with a doubleheader sweep of the Yankees.

Joel Davis

Given name: Joel Clark Davis. Age: 21. Born: January 30, 1965, Jacksonville, Fla. Bats/throws: Left/right. Height/weight: 6-5/205. Major league tenure: Zero years, 57 days. Residence: Jacksonville, Fla. Contract status: Pending. Family: Married Vania Ortiz January 12, 1985; son Christopher (September 29, 1983) and daughter Amanda (May 2, 1985). First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: August 11, 1985 (vs. Milwaukee). Sox acquisition: Selected first round, June, 1983 free agent draft.

1985: Started the season at "AA" Glen Falls...quickly promoted to "AAA" Buffalo...recalled by the parent White Sox where he won his major league debut, 4-1, August 11 against Milwaukee in Chicago...fired seven full innings in that initial major league start, allowing just five hits and one earned run...struck out six and walked only two...pitched seven more innings against the same Brewers in Milwaukee five days later but received no decision in a game the Sox eventually lost...finished the season with a 3-3 mark and became a fix-ture in the Sox' starting rotation from the time he was recalled . . . made 11 starts in a total of 12 appearances . . . lasted at least 5.1 innings in all but one start . . . fired one complete game but lost it, 3-1, at Minnesota October 2 . . . struck out 37 and walked only 26 in 71.1 innings of work . . . posted a 1-1 record and 2.84 ERA in four starts at Glens Falls before his promotion to Buffalo . . . was just 2-5 at Buffalo in 10 starts.

Major League Highlights: See above.

Minor League Highlights: Considered a top Sox prospect throughout career . . . second in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie) in strikeouts with 95 in 1983, his first year of professional baseball . . . also placed seventh in ERA with a 1.91 mark that season . . . fired a two-hitter against the Sarasota Royals August 18 . . . spent the 1984 season with Sox farm teams at "A" Appleton, "A" Niagara Falls, and "AA" Glens Falls . . . was ninth in the New York-Penn League in ERA with a 2.35 mark while at Niagara Falls . . . fired a 4-0, one-hit shutout versus Jamestown June 23 and was named to the New York-Penn League all-star team . . . compiled a 5-0 mark and a 2.45 ERA in the Fall Instructional League following the '84 season.

Miscellaneous/Personal: One of the youngest pitchers in the major leagues in 1985 at just 20 years of age . . . the Sox' first-round draft pick and the 13th player chosen in the June, 1983 free agent draft . . . native of Jacksonville, Fla., struck out 190 batters in 100 innings in his senior year at Sandalwood High School . . . finished that season with a 12-0 record . . . also played one year of basketball in the prep ranks . . . presented key to his hometown of Jacksonville, Fla. on his 21st birthday January 30.

Joe De Sa

First Baseman/#38

Given name (pronunciation): Joseph De Sa (DEE-sa). Age: 26, turns 27 July 27. Born: July 27, 1959, Honolulu, Hawaii. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 5-11/170. Major league tenure: Zero years, 104 days. Residence: Honolulu, Hawaii. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Margarita Abrew October 9, 1984; son Joseph (July 29, 1985). First pro contract: St. Louis Cardinals, selected third round, June, 1977 free agent draft. Major league debut: August 20, 1980 with St. Louis (vs. Cincinnati). Sox acquisition: Signed as a free agent November 16, 1983.

1985: Made the Opening Day White Sox roster after an impressive spring...made American League debut as a defensive replacement in left field in the season's second outing at Milwaukee April 11...appeared in three games with just two at bats before being optioned to "AAA" Buffalo April 23...returned to the Sox August 10 and made first start of season at first base the following afternoon versus Milwaukee...doubled and hit first major league homer off Milwaukee's Ray Burris and helped rookie Joel Davis win his major league pitching debut for the Sox...made a total of 10 starts, four as a designated hitter, in the month of August and was strictly a pinch-hitter and defensive replacement in the season's final weeks...clubbed a pinch-hit grand slam homer at Seattle September 13 to help the Sox to a 6-1 victory...it was one of three pinch homers on the season for the Sox and one of the two pinch hits that De Sa had in '85...batted .287 in 97 games at Buffalo for the Bisons...led the club with 17 homers and shared the team RBI lead of 66 with Mark Ryal but played in eight fewer games than Ryal.

Major League Highlights: Only major league duty prior to '85 was with St. Louis in 1980...spent a total of 31 days with the Cardinals in the final month of that season and collected three singles in 11 official trips to the plate...superior defensive first baseman.

Minor League Highlights: Started his career in 1977 at Calgary in the Cardinals' farm system...since 1980, has spent all his minor league playing time at the "AAA" level...has not hit less than .275 during that time...led the American Association with no errors in 81 games while playing first base for Springfield in 1981.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Drafted by the Cardinals in the third round of the June, 1977 free agent draft...remained in the St. Louis farm system until being signed as a free agent by the White Sox, November 16, 1983...native of Hawaii.

Richard Dotson

Given name: Richard Elliott Dotson. Nickname: "Dot." Age: 27. Born: January 10, 1959 at Cincinnati, O. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-0/203. Major league tenure: Six years, 31 days. Residence: Palos Heights, Ill. Contract status: In third year of four-year contract with two option years. Family: Married Jane Jurasek December 21, 1985. First pro contract: California Angels; selected in first round (seventh player in nation), June, 1977 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 4, 1979 with the White Sox (vs. California). Sox acquisition: With outfielders Bobby Bonds and Thad Bosley from California Angels in exchange for catcher Brian Downing and pitchers Chris Knapp and Dave Frost December 5, 1977.

■ 1985: Opened the season on the 15-day supplementary disabled list . . . season come to an end in early June due to a circulatory problem in his shoulder . . . underwent surgery in late July. . . considered the "ace" of the Sox mound staff entering the season, his absence was a severe blow to the Pale Hose's title hopes . . . managed nine starts between April 22 and June 7 and fashioned a 3-4 record . . . fired no complete games but lasted a full seven innings on three occasions . . . twice carried no-hitters through 4.2 innings against the Tigers . . . defeated Kansas City and allowed just six hits and one earned run in his second-to-last appearance June 2 in Chicago . . . struck out a season-high six in that game, a figure he had earlier reached in a loss to Toronto May 28 . . . made just a pair of game appearances in spring training due to right arm tenderness later diagnosed as a circulatory problem.

■ Major League Highlights: Has posted a 73-59 record in five full, one partial and one injury-shortened big league seasons . . . between the '83 and '84 All-Star Games (he participated in the latter), Dotson posted a composite 25-6 record with a 2.45 ERA in 272.1 innings. ■ 1984: The White Sox' lone representative on the American League all-star team . . . led Sox starters with a 3.59 ERA, 245.2 innings pitched, and 14 complete games...tied for second on the staff with 14 victories...14 complete games ranked third in the A.L. and just three shy of leader Charlie Hough of Texas...registered two three-hitters and three four-hitters...established personal single-game strikeout high with 10 against Texas on May 26 en route to a four-hit, 5-1 victory...best effort came on June 13 in 2-1 win at California when he three-hit the Angels and was deprived of a shutout on an unearned run with two outs in the ninth inning...also recorded his 500th career strikeout in the game (Rob Wilfong)...11-4 and a 2.64 ERA prior to the All-Star Game break...lost four consecutive games after the break...1985 circulatory surgery in right shoulder probably explains Dotson's sup-par second half. ■ 1983: Joined Cy Young Award-winning teammate LaMarr Hoyt in posting a 20-win season and leading the White Sox to their A.L. West Division championship...his 22-7 record led the American League in winning percentage (.759)...second in the league to Hoyt in wins with 22...Dotson and Hoyt became only the third ChiSox pitching duo in 63 years to win 20 or more games the same season and the first to turn the trick since Jim Kaat (21-13) and Wilbur Wood (20-19) in 1974...also were the first White Sox twosome to win at least 46 games in one year since 1919 when Ed Cicotte (29-7) and "Lefty" Williams (23-11) won 52...at age 24, Dotson was the youngest Sox pitcher to record a 20-win season since Reb Russell won 21 in 1913 (Russell was just four months younger than Dotson when he accomplished the feat)..."Dot" won his last eight decisions and 16 of his last 18...from July 15, he lost only twice — once in the regular season and once in the ALCS (both to Baltimore)...May 18, Dotson pitched the first one-hitter of his career only to lose 1-0 on an eighth-inning home run by Dan Ford just inside the right field foul pole...the ChiSox were 27-8 in games Dotson started...joined Hoyt and Floyd Bannister to form the "Big Three" and fashion a 42-5 won-loss record during the second half with a collective ERA of 2.55 in 385 innings...12-3 at Comiskey Park...the A.L. pitcher-of-the-month for September when he was 7-0 with a 1.93 ERA in 51.1 innings. ■ 1982: After a dismal 3-10 first half, Dotson won eight in a row in the second half to climb to 11-11 on September 8 with a win over California...named A.L. pitcher-of-the-month for August after going 6-0 with a 1.68 ERA in 48.1 innings. ■ 1981: The ChiSox' most effective starter in his sophomore big league season...enjoyed a string of 21 consecutive scoreless innings in May (3-15) with a pair of four-hit shutouts...finished tied for the A.L. lead with four shutouts, all during the season's first half...led Sox staff with 24 starts and tied for the lead in complete games (five). ■ 1980: The only right-hander in the Sox' "kiddie corps" of young starters, Dotson was second to Britt Burns for staff wins (12), strikeouts (109), and complete games (six)...tied for second with 32 starts...his first complete season in the big leagues. ■ 1979: Recorded his first major league shutout in his second major league start September 9, blanking Oakland 7-0 on six hits.

■ Minor League Highlights: Rapid advancement...spent only two full seasons in the minors...never pitched higher than "AA" Knoxville ...boasted 368 strikeouts in 326 minor league innings.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: The California Angels' first draft pick (seventh player selected overall) in the June, 1977 free agent draft... signed a letter of intent to attend Miami (O.) University...stellar prep career at Anderson H.S. in Cincinnati...married Jane Jurasek last December 21, in Chicago...met his bride, a Sarasota, Fla. native, during spring training...served as the Sox' player representative in 1985.

ChiSox Memory

In 1906 the White Sox finished last in home runs with six. Or was it seven? Recent evidence suggests the record keepers cheated Sox catcher Billy Sullivan out of a circuit clout. Sullivan hit two for the year, one in May, another in August, not one as previously thought.

Bob Fallon

Pitcher/#27

Given name (pronunciation): Robert Joseph Fallon (f-AL-uhn). Age: 26. Born: February 18, 1960, New York, N.Y. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-3/205. Major league tenure: Zero years, 79 days. Residence: Hollywood, Fla. Contract status: Pending. Family: Single. First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: April 26, 1984 with the White Sox (vs. Cleveland). Sox acquisition: Selected first round, secondary phase, June, 1979 free agent draft.

1985: Spent two months with the White Sox (April 23 through June 26) but started and ended the season at "AAA" Buffalo of the American Association . . . recalled from Buffalo in April to give the Sox another lefty in the bullpen . . . made 10 appearances, all in relief, and had no record . . . finished four games, all losses . . . pitched only three times when the Sox were ahead and entered one game with the score tied . . . in two of the three games in which he had a lead, he retired the only batter he faced . . . in the third game, he walked the only man he pitched to . . . brought in to face the Angels' Reggie Jackson with the score tied and the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth at California June 13. . .Jackson lined Fallon's first pitch for a single to end the contest. . .had mop-up duty in a pair of lopsided losses in his final two outings. . .struck out five A's in 2.2 innings June 20 but also allowed three homers in that stint. . .whiffed seven Angels in just 5.1 innings June 23 but was roughed up for nine hits, a pair of homers, and four runs. . .compiled a 3-8 record at Buffalo. . .made 15 appearances, just one in relief. . .struck out 60 and walked 40 in 80.0 innings of work. . .finished with a 4.39 ERA. . .made strong bid to make Sox' Opening Day roster before being optioned to Buffalo.

Major League Highlights: Has tasted life in the big leagues the past two seasons. 1984: Made major league debut with the Sox April 26, 1984 at Cleveland. . .started the longest by-the-clock game in major league history — eight hours and six minutes — May 8, 1984 at Comiskey Park against Milwaukee. . .the game ended the next evening on Harold Baines' homer in the 25th inning, handing Tom Seaver an unexpected victory in relief. . .returned to "AAA" following the historic game.

Minor League Highlights: Has spent most of the past three seasons with the Sox' "AAA" affiliates — Buffalo ('85) and Denver ('83-'84). . . disappointing 3-8 campaign for the Bisons in 15 '85 appearances, including 14 starts. . .owned the best ERA at Denver in '84 at 3.75 while posting 101 strikeouts in 115.1 innings. . .made one appearance in the American Association playoffs, pitching two innings of shutout relief against eventual A.A. champion Louisville. . .in '83, Fallon led the Denver staff with 103 strikeouts in 138 innings. . .tied for the club lead in starts (23), third in wins (10), and pitched a pair of key games in the A.A. playoffs. . .September 4 he led Denver to a 9-5 win over Iowa, giving the Bears a two-games-to-one lead in the first round. . .in the title round which Denver swept in four games, Fallon allowed Louisville only two earned runs in seven innings of game three for a 9-4 victory. . .halfway through a no-hitter on August 12 against Omaha but couldn't answer the bell in the sixth inning when his left hand went numb. . .reliever Guy Hoffman allowed one hit in relief. . .cracked the 100-strikeout barrier in four of six minor league seasons.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Product of one of the top collegiate baseball programs at Miami (Fla.) Dade North Junior College . . .attended Miami Dade for one year after graduating from Hollywood (Fla.) High School where he was a standout prep hurler.

Carlton Fisk

Outfielder/#72

Given name: Carlton Ernest Fisk. Nickname: "Pudge." Age: 38. Born: December 26, 1947, Bellow Falls, Vt. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-2/217. Major league tenure: Fourteen years, 54 days. Residence: Lockport, Ill. Contract status: In first year of two-year contract. Family: Married Linda Foust April 18, 1970; children Carlyn (September 26, 1970), Carson (February 20, 1972) Courtney (February 18, 1976). First pro contract: Boston Red Sox; selected first round (fourth player in nation), January, 1967 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 6, 1971 with Boston Red Sox (vs. New York). Sox acquisition: Signed as a free agent March 10, 1981.

1985: Enjoyed the most productive season of his 14 full years in the major leagues...career-high totals of 37 home runs and 107 RBI...the homer total tied the White Sox club record established by Dick Allen in 1972...extra-base hit percentage of 47.29 led A.L. regulars...Fisk clubbed 33 of the 37 round-trippers while catching, breaking the former American League single-season standard of 32 set by Detroit's Lance Parrish in 1982...it marked just the second time in his career Fisk topped the century mark in RBI...Fisk's previous highs were 26 homers (1973, '77 and '83) and 102 RBI (1977)...had three two-homer games: May 29 versus Toronto at Comiskey Park, July 8 at Detroit, and September 6 at Texas...drove in a season-high seven runs in that game at Texas, equalling his career single-game RBI high...blasted his second Comiskey Park roof shot against Kansas City's Charlie Leibrandt May 30...American League's starting catcher in the All-Star Game when Detroit's Lance Parrish, voted to start by the fans' balloting, was scratched due to injury...named to The Sporting News and UPI post-season A.L. all-star teams...also received The Sporting News Silver Slugger Award among A.L. catchers...Fisk led the A.L. in homers for much of the first half...finished second in league homers behind 38-year old Darrell Evans of Detroit who hit 40...one RBI every 5.07 at bats ranked ninth in A.L....named A.L. player-of-the-week for May 27-June 1 when he belted five homers and drove in 13 runs in just four games...hit .500 (9-18) for the week during which the Sox swept a four-game set from Kansas City at Comiskey Park to move up in the West Division standings ...equalled his career best with 17 stolen bases (1982)...stole the 100th base of his career May 13 in Chicago against Cleveland...swiped second and third base in the second inning versus Oakland June 19...had 23 homers at the All-Star Game break and tied his career-high figure of 26 July 22 in the club's 89th game...hit his 32nd homer August 14 against New York in the Sox' 110th game but added just five more in the final 53 contests...longest homerless stretch of the season was 16 games from September 7 through September 23...longest hitting streak was an eight-gamer that opened his season (12-31, .387)...Fisk missed the season's first three games with a muscle pull in his left hip suffered in the final weekend of spring training, his only significant injury of the season . . . made 121 starts behind the plate . . . started 28 more times as the Sox' designated hitter . . . underwent a rigorous off-season weight-training program prior to the '85 season, adding weight and bulk . . . had a fine year defensively, committing just 10 errors and throwing out 34 of 94 opposing baserunners (36 percent) . . . recorded a pair of putouts at home plate August 2 in New York in one of the most bizarre plays of the '85 season . . . Fisk took shortstop Ozzie Guillen's relay throw from the outfield on a ball hit to the gap by Rickey Henderson and tagged out both Bobby Meacham and Dale Berra in succession at home plate who were just steps apart . . . intentionally walked three times in one game at Milwaukee August 17 . . . shared club lead with Harold Baines and Greg Walker with 13 game-winning RBI . . . named Chicago's co-player-of-the-year with the Cubs' Keith Moreland by the Chicago Baseball Writers.

■ Major League Highlights: Fisk has 267 career homers, 255 as a catcher, ranking him third on the all-time list for backstops behind Johnny Bench (325 of 389) and Yogi Berra (313 of 358) . . . with 113 career stolen bases, Fisk is the first catcher in modern baseball history to top the century mark in both homers and stolen bases . . . 10-time selection to the A.L. All-Star team . . . has appeared in a pair of ALCS (Chicago in '83 and Boston in '75) and one World Series (Boston in '75) . . . no. 12 career home run hitter (267) among returning players. ■ 1984: Spent the season hampered by a abdominal muscle pull suffered Opening Day . . . forced onto the disabled list once (June 23-July 4) and appeared in only 102 games, his fewest in three seasons . . . Fisk made only 86 appearances behind the plate, 11 as a pinch hitter, and five as a designated hitter . . . despite limited duty, Fisk still became only the second catcher in White Sox history to hit at least 20 home runs in more than one season with 21 round trippers (Sherm Lollar was the other backstop to accomplish the feat) . . . both registered the accomplishment twice . . . became only the third batter in ChiSox history to hit for the cycle and the first to do it at Comiskey Park when he singled, doubled, tripled, and homered against Kansas City May 16 . . . prior to Fisk's fireworks, the last Sox batter to accomplish the feat was Jack Brohamer June 24, 1977 at Seattle . . . Ray Schalk, another catcher, was the first, cycling June 22, 1922 at Detroit . . . 43 RBI were the lowest total in history for a major leaguer with 20 or more home runs. ■ 1983: Finished a strong third in balloting for the American League most valuable player . . . without doubt, Fisk was a driving force in the White Sox' '83 American League West Division Championship, turning a bad year into an outstanding one . . . struggled for the first two months . . . when manager Tony La Russa moved Fisk to the second spot in the batting order on June 15, Fisk went on a tear, hitting a torrid .329 (29-for-148) . . . Fisk hit .319 during the second half (88-for-176) to raise his season average to .289 . . . second on the White Sox in runs (85) and third in home runs (26) . . . 26-home run output matched his career single-season highs of 1973 and '77 with Boston while setting a White Sox single-season home run record for catchers . . . Fisk apparently hit 27 homers but his controversial August 14 non-homer at Comiskey Park against Baltimore was disallowed by umpire Jim Evans . . . joined Ron Kittle (35 homers) and Greg Luzinski (32 home rums) to set a club three-man, single-season home run record of 93. ■ 1982: Third on the club in steals (17), fourth in RBI (65) and runs (66) . . . put together a 12-game hitting streak (July 26-August 9) and hit safely in 23 of 25 games (July 26-August 23), driving in five runs in a game against his former teammates, the Red Sox, on July 30. ■ 1981: Fisk's first season with the White Sox after signing as a free agent produced sub-par totals of seven home runs and 45 RBI in 96 games . . . the White Sox opened the '81 season on April 10 at Boston's Fenway Park, Fisk's home the previous 10 seasons . . . in storybook fashion, Fisk fashioned a three-run home run in the eighth inning to power Chicago past the BoSox 5-3 . . . in his home debut with the White Sox four days later, Fisk added to the drama by slamming a grand slam home run off Pete Vuckovich to boost the Sox to a 9-3 win over Milwaukee in front of a record home Opening Day crowd of 51,560. . .caught more games than any A.L. receiver (95) and had the fewest passed balls (two) in the league. . .the latter passed ball total was lowest for a White Sox backstop since Brian Downing was charged with only one in 1976. . .Fisk was voted The Sporting News Silver Slugger Award as the most productive receiver in the American League and also was named to the United Press International all-star team. ■ 1980: In his final season with Boston, Fisk reestablished himself as an everyday catcher following an injury-plagued '79 campaign. . .caught 115 games, fifth highest total in the A.L. . . .led the league with fewest passed balls (three) for catchers in 100 or more games. . .registered his 1000th major league hit June 1 against Milwaukee, a home run off Rickey Keeton at Boston. ■ 1977: Tied a major league mark with only four passed balls in 151 games. . .became one of only six catchers in baseball history to score 100 runs and drive in 100 runs in the same season. ■ 1975: Fisk painted one of the great moments in baseball history with his dramatic 12th inning home run in game six of the World Series against Cincinnati at Boston's Fenway Park, a homer for which he supplied body English that has been documented on film and reused many times. ■ 1973: Named American League rookie-of-the-year after batting .293 with 22 home runs and 61 RBI. . .also led league catchers in total chances that earned him a Gold Glove Award.

■ Minor League Highlights: After missing 1967 due to military service, Fisk reached the big leagues for good by the final 14 games of Boston's '71 season. . .hit .338 in his first professional season at Waterloo. . .didn't hit .300 again until joining the Red Sox.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Fisk, wife Linda, and children Carlyn, Carson, and Courtney reside in the Chicago area (Lockport) the year around. . .wears no. 72, the reverse of his no. 27 at Boston, because ". . .that was the year my son Carson was born, it was my rookie year in the majors, and it represents a turnaround in my career.". . .selected no. 1 in the 1967 winter free agent draft by Boston. . .most valuable player in baseball, basketball, and soccer at Charlestown (N. Hamp.) High School before attending the University of New Hampshire. . .brother Calvin was a catcher in the Baltimore organization. . .Boston outfielder Rick Miller is his brother-in-law. . .Fisk's free agent signing during spring training in '81 brought instant credibility to the White Sox' new ownership group headed by Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn. . .acquired the nickname "Pudge" as a youngster in New England.

Jerry Don Gleaton

Given name: Jerry Don Gleaton. Age: 28, turns 29 September 14. Born: September 14, 1957, Brownwood, Tex. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-3/210. Major league tenure: Two year, five days. Residence: Brownwood, Tex. Contact status: Signed through 1986. Family: Single. First professional contract: Texas Rangers, selected first round (17th player in nation), June, 1979 free agent draft. Major league debut: July 11, 1980 with Texas (vs. White Sox). Sox acquisition: With pitcher Gene Nelson from Seattle in exchange for pitcher Salome Barojas, June 27, 1984.

1985: Spent the season's first half at "AAA" Buffalo and the second portion with the parent White Sox. . .joined Juan Agosto as the Sox' left-handed relievers. . .was 1-0 with one save but his ERA stood at 5.76. . .made 31 appearances, all in relief. . .his lone victory came September 13 at Seattle, the club that sent him to the White Sox in 1984. . .earned a save in his third appearance, July 22 versus Detroit at Comiskey Park. . .longest stints were a pair of three-inning efforts (July 21 versus Cleveland and August 23 versus Toronto). . .allowed just three home runs in 29.2 innings of work but one was a Comiskey Park roof shot by California's Brian Downing on September 18. . .struck out the side in the only inning he pitched August 17 at Milwaukee. . .was the closer in Buffalo's bullpen before his recall. . .appeared in 38 of the

Bisons' 86 games and accounted for seven of the team's 15 saves. . .compiled an impressive 8-2 won-lost record out of the 'pen in just half a season.

Major League Highlights: Has spent portions of six seasons in the major leagues with three different clubs but has yet to put in a complete year in the big leagues. . .played the majority of the 1981 season with Seattle and the only time he spent in the minors was during the lengthy players' strike. 1984: Came to Chicago in a mid-season deal with Seattle that also brought pitcher Gene Nelson to the Sox in exchange for pitcher Salome Barojas. . .appeared in 11 games with the Sox including one start. . .had a 1-2 record and a pair of saves. 1981: Appeared in 20 games for the Mariners, his highest prior to 1985 with the Sox. . .started a career-high 13 contests and finished with a 4-7 record. 1979: Made major league debut against the White Sox while pitching for the Texas Rangers.

Minor League Highlights: Compiled a 13-7 mark in 25 starts for "AA" Tulsa in 1980, his second year in professional baseball. . .never has pitched in a classification lower than "AA". . .enjoyed his best season in 1982 at "AA" Lynn where he fashioned a 15-7 mark with an Eastern League high 13 complete games. . .also had a 2.72 ERA, second best in the loop.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Native of Brownwood, Texas with the accent to prove it. . .enjoyed an outstanding pitching career at the University of Texas. . .posted a 13-1 mark and 1.94 ERA as a junior. . .named first-team all-America and Southwest Conference player-of-the-year. . .was a first-round selection and the 17th player chosen when the Texas Rangers picked him in the June, 1979 free agent draft.

Ozzie Guillen

Infielder/#13

Given name (pronunciation): Oswaldo Guillen (GEY-un). Age: 22. Born: January 20, 1964, Oculare del Tuy, Venezuela. Bats/throws: Left/right. Height/weight: 5-11/150. Major league tenure: One year. Residence: Guarenas, Venezuela. Contract status: Signed through 1986 with two option years. Family: Married Ivis Cardenas March 2, 1983; sons Oswaldo, Jr. (June 30, 1984) and Oney (January 25, 1986). First pro contract: Signed by San Diego as free agent December 17, 1980. Major league debut: April 9, 1985 with White Sox (at Milwaukee). Sox acquisition: With pitchers Tim Lollar and Bill Long and infielder Luis Salazar from San Diego in exchange for pitchers LaMarr Hoyt, Todd Simmons and Kevin Kristan December 6, 1984.

■ 1985: Capped outstanding first season in the major leagues by being named A.L. rookie-of-the-year by the Baseball Writers of America...easily won the balloting with 16 of 28 first-place votes, finishing 34 points ahead of runner-up Teddy Higuera of Milwaukee...was the fifth Sox player to receive the honor (Luis Aparicio in 1956, Gary Peters in 1963, Tommie Agee in 1966 and Ron Kittle in 1983 were the others)...also named the A.L.'s top rookie by The Sporting News and ESPN's "Inside Baseball"...named the best defensive infielder in the A.L. in a managers' poll conducted by the Toronto Star...shortstop on the Topps major league rookie all-star team...established a Sox shortstop record with just 12 errors for the season...started 132 games (all at shortstop) and appeared in a total of 150...only one unearned run crossed the plate after one of Guillen's dozen miscues...his .980 fielding percentage led all major league shortstops...two of his 12 errors occurred when he failed to tag second base on force plays...finished season with higher-than-anticipated .273 batting average...batted .302 after June 10 (101-334)...average had reached a low of .210...extremely aggressive at the plate, the free swinger drew just 12 walks in 513 plate appearances...despite his aggressiveness, Guillen struck out only 36 times...first major-league hit was a bunt single on a 3-0 pitch in the season opener at Milwaukee...had hits in his first six major-league contests with at bats (9-24, .375) and in 13 of his first 14 games (16-51, .314)...longest hitting streak of initial season was an eight-gamer September 4-11 (10-29, .345)...enjoyed first four-hit game against the Yankees in Chicago August 14...his perfect night also included his first and only major-league homer down the right-field line off Ed Whitson...credited with the game-winning RBI in Tom Seaver's 300th career victory at New York August 4...Guillen predicted his game-winner to Seaver the evening before...claimed that hit as the biggest thrill of his rookie season...scored the game-winning run from second base on a wild pitch to beat Oakland in Chicago in a 12-inning affair June 19...also scampered home from second base on Luis Salazar's infield hit to score the deciding run August 2 in an 11-inning affair at New York...first GWRBI of his career came on a bases-loaded walk off New York's Joe Cowley (now with the Sox) to complete a three-game sweep of the Yanks April 28...had just one pinch-hit (a single at Kansas City September 4) in 13 guest appearances...toughest Sox regular to double up, grounding into double plays only every 98.20 at bats...10th toughest strikeout in A.L. among hitters with at lest 502 at bats.

■ Major League Highlights: See above.

■ Minor League Highlights: At 20 years of age, the slick-fielding Guillen played his fourth professional season at San Diego's "AAA" affiliate, Las Vegas in 1984...in his first season at the advanced minor league level, Guillen hit .296...a contact hitter, he drove in 53 runs as the Stars' leadoff batter...he fanned only 40 times in 477 plate appearances (463 official at bats)...enjoyed a defensive percentage of .969 in 549 total chances while leading the Pacific Coast League with 362 assists...finished second in the league in double plays (62) and fewest errors by a shortstop (17)...named to the P.C.L. all-star team,...called the loop's "no. 2 major league prospect at season's end" by Baseball America...in 1983, he hit .295 at "AA" Beaumont of the Texas League and struck out only 29 times in 427 at bats, an average of one strikeout per 14.7 at bats...following the season, Guillen was voted one of the top 10 prospects in the Texas League...at Reno of the "A" California League in 1982, Guillen posted his finest professional season, hitting .347 and leading the league in runs (103) and hits (183) en route to a berth on the loop all-star team...began his professional career with Bradenton (Fla.) of the Gulf Coast Rookie League at 17 years of age.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Considered the key to the 1984 off-season trade that sent pitcher LaMarr Hoyt and a pair of Sox farmhands to San Diego for Luis Salazar, Tim Lollar, minor league pitcher Bill Long and Guillen...became the third Venezuelan to man shortstop for the White Sox, following Chico Carrasquel and Luis Aparicio...still makes his permanent residence in Venezuela where he plays winter ball and has achieved celebrity status since his 1985 A.L. rookie-of-the year accolade ...signed by San Diego as a free agent...originally a switch hitter, Guillen has hit exclusively from the left side the past two years...did some switch-hitting again this winter in the Venezuelan Winter League...personable, charismatic player.

ChiSox Memory

The major league record for passed balls in one season was set by J.C. Martin of the White Sox. He had 33 in 112 games in 1965. Of course, two of the pitchers Martin was asked to handle were knuckleballers Hoyt Wilhelm and Eddie Fisher.

Jerry Hairston

Given name: Jerry Wayne Hairston. Nickname: "Popeye." Age: 34. Born: February 16, 1952, Birmingham, Ala. Bats/throws: Switch/right. Height/weight: 5-10/190. Major league tenure: Seven years, 93 days. Residence: Naperville, Ill. Contract status: In third year of three-year contract with one option year. Family: Married Esperanza Arellano January 6, 1974; children Jerry, Jr. (May 29, 1976), Justin (June 16, 1977), Scott (June 25, 1980), Stacey Lynn (March 31, 1984). First pro contract: White Sox, selected third round, June, 1970 free agent draft. Major league debut: July 26, 1973 with White Sox (vs. Kansas City). Sox acquisition: Re-acquired when contract purchased from Mexico City Reds September 10, 1981.

1985: Took sole possession of the White Sox record for career pinch-hits with his first hit of the season, a run-scoring single at Boston April 15...the hit was his 51st in a guest role and snapped his deadlock with Smoky Burgess...again led the American League in pinch-hitting with 14 safeties, marking his third straight pinch-hitting crown...led the loop in pinch-hitting appearances (69), official guest at bats (53), total bases (18), doubles (4) walks (14) and the hits category...batted .264 as a pinch-hitter with seven RBI, including one game-winner at Milwaukee August 18...enjoyed an on-base percentage of .406 as a pinch-hitter...four times he had hits in back-to-back pinch-hitting appearances...played nearly the entire campaign with a bothersome knee injury suffered April 20 when he ran into the left-field wall at Comiskey Park...entered that game defensively when starting left fielder Ron Kittle had to leave the game after injuring his shoulder in a collision with the wall...bad knee limited his play in the field to just four appearances and only two starts...opened 23 games as the Sox' designated hitter...batted .210 (17-81) as a DH with one of his two homers and 12 of his 20 RBI...other homer came at Texas in one of his two starts in left field.

Major League Highlights: Despite a lengthy career that began in 1970 and his first major league appearance in 1973, Hairston has spent only five complete seasons in the "bigs" — 1977 (White Sox and Pittsburgh and 1982-85 (White Sox)...49 of his 64 career pinch hits have come in the last three seasons...named the A.L.'s best pinch-hitter in a poll of major league managers conducted by the Toronto Star in 1985.

1984: Continued his reign as the American League's top pinch-hitter with a loop-leading total of 18 safeties, his second consecutive A.L. pinch-hitting crown...also led league pinch-hitters in games (69), at bats (59), total bases (29), doubles (5), walks (10), and strikeouts (12)...tied with Boston's Rick Miller for the lead in pinch-hit runs (8)...hit .305 as a pinch-hitter and enjoyed a .492 slugging percentage and .406 on base percentage...registered two pinch homers and five pinch RBI...pinch hit for starting White Sox left fielder LaMarr Hoyt (that's right, LaMarr Hoyt) in first inning at Seattle September 29 and collected his 50th career pinch hit in a Sox uniform, a double, equalling Smoky Burgess' ChiSox career pinch hit record of 50...it was Hairston's final pinch hit of 1984...used exclusively as a pinch hitter in the season's early going...made his first start of '84 as a designated hitter May 4 against Boston...made 41 starts, 21 as an outfielder, 20 as a designated hitter...found himself in the regular lineup often late in the season, starting 28 games in August and September as either the DH or in the outfield...beat Texas and Odell Jones May 10 with a dramatic two-run ninth-inning home run at Comiskey Park...appeared in 500th major league game May 16 against Kansas City...four of his five '84 home runs came from the left side; two of the five came as a pinch hitter. ■ 1983: Led the A.L. in six pinch-hitting categories — hits (17), appearances (78), at bats (62), doubles (5), total bases (27), and walks (15)...tied for league lead in two other pinch categories — triples (1) and runs (7)...ended perfect game bid by Detroit's Milt Wilcox April 15 at Comiskey Park with a two-out pinch single in the ninth inning off Wilcox' first pitch...only the third time in major league history a no-hit bid has been foiled with two out in the ninth...Hairston's .292 batting average was second only to Tom Paciorek's .307 for the A.L. West Division champion White Sox...recorded his 100th career RBI by homering off Cleveland's Dan Spillner. ■ 1982: Posted 11 pinch hits in 47 at bats (.234), including a pair of home runs and nine RBI...his 47 pinch appearances led the A.L.; his 11 hits tied for the league lead...dramatic two-out, two-run home run in the bottom of the ninth inning off Detroit's Jerry Ujdur at Comiskey Park July 8 led the ChiSox to a 3-2 come-from-behind victory. ■ 1981: Rescued from the Mexican League following the players' strike, Hairston returned to the major leagues after a four-year absence for his pinch-hitting prowess...paid immediate dividends, hitting safely in his first appearance at Seattle September 15...hit safely in three of his first four games...capped his return to the majors on the final day of the '81 season with a grand slam home run off Minnesota's Don Cooper and six RBI, including the game winner off Twins' relief ace Doug Corbett in the ninth, propelling the Sox to a 13-12 win to clinch third place in the A.L. West. ■ 1977: Hairston was acquired by the Pittsburgh Pirates June 13 for cash consideration.

■ Minor League Highlights: Prior to being acquired by the White Sox in 1981, Hairston enjoyed his best season in the Mexican League, hitting .293 with seven home runs, 74 RBI, and 32 stolen bases in 123 games...set the Mexican League playoff record with 17 RBI as a Mexico City Red in '81...spent the three previous seasons at Mexican League cities Campache ('80) and Durango ('78-79) after spending portions of the five previous seasons in the major leagues.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Married Esperanza Arellano on January 6, 1974...father Sam appeared in the major leagues for the White Sox in 1951 (four games) when he posted two hits in five at bats for his lifetime .400 batting average...Sam still serves the Sox as a scout and minor league instructor...brothers John and Sam, Jr. also played professional baseball; John appeared briefly in the major leagues with the Chicago Cubs in 1969 (three games).

Marc Hill

Catcher/#7

Given name: Marc Kevin Hill. Nickname: "Booter." Age: 34. Born: February 18, 1952, Ellsberry, Mo. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-3/240. Major league tenure: Eleven years, 69 days. Residence: Clearwater, Fla. Contract status: In second year of two-year contract. Family: Married Cheri Trudell April 6, 1973; children Kevin (November 17, 1974), Kyle (June 21, 1979) and Kara (May 12, 1984). First pro contract: St. Louis Cardinals; selected 10th round, June, 1970 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 28, 1973 with St. Louis Cardinals (vs. Philadelphia). Sox acquisition: Signed as a free agent February 12, 1981.

■ 1985: Appeared in just 40 games, lowest total of his nine full seasons in the major leagues...had three partial seasons (1973 and '74 with St. Louis and 1981 with White Sox) with fewer appearances...10 hits and 75 at bats were also full-season lows...failed to hit a home run for the first time since his partial season with the Sox in '81...limited playing time was result of the outstanding year enjoyed by veteran catcher Carlton Fisk...not known for his speed, "Booter" beat out a pair of infield singles against Milwaukee in Comiskey Park April 23...also enjoyed a two-hit game in the nightcap of twin bill against Toronto at Chicago August 23...forced to play third base, his fourth appearance at the hot corner in his major league career and first since 1982, in the late innings of an extra-inning affair with Oakland June 19 in Chicago...handled a pair of chances flawlessly in that cameo appearance...threw out just three of 16 baserunners, all at second base...made 28 starts behind the plate.

■ Major League Highlights: Highly regarded as a back-up catcher with better than average defensive skills and a superlative, team-oriented attitude...clubhouse prankster. ■ 1984: Veteran reserve catcher appeared in 77 games, his highest total since 1978 as a San Francisco Giant, due to the season-long battle regular backstop Carlton Fisk waged with an abdominal muscle pull...hit five homers, his highest total since 1977 when he belted his personal high of nine. . . 20 RBI also were his best effort since '77. . . made 55 starts. ■ 1983: Appeared in 58 games as Fisk's reserve. . . Hill, not noted for his foot speed, scored from second base on a sacrifice fly off the bat of pinch hitter Greg Walker at Yankee Stadium May 15. . . two runners scored on the play. . . Hill did not appear in the '83 A.L. playoff series against Baltimore. ■ 1982: First full season with the White Sox. . . appeared in 53 games. . . made 27 starts. . . committed only one error in 53 appearances. . . hit a two-run homer against Cleveland in his 500th game on May 21. . . first American League three-hit game at Yankee Stadium August 3. . . shot down seven of 16 would-be base stealers. ■ 1981: Played behind both Fisk and Jim Essian. . . appeared in only 15 games in the strike-shortened season. ■ 1980: Appeared in only 17 games for the Giants before Seattle acquired him through waivers June 20. . . appeared in only 29 games with the Mariners. ■ 1979: Last season as a regular. . . suffered a broken left wrist in a home plate collision with the Mets' John Stearns July 24. . . in 63 games, Hill committed only three errors while throwing out 18 runners attempting to steal. ■ 1977-79: Caught regularly for San Francisco. . . hit .250 in 320 at bats in '77, his best single-season batting average. . . also posted career one-campaign bests of nine homers and 50 RBI in '77. ■ 1973: Made his major league debut with the St. Louis Cardinals September 28 at the age of 21. . . in his only big league appearance that season, he caught a two-hit shutout of Philadelphia.

■ Minor League Highlights: When the parent White Sox faced a numbers squeeze on their roster in 1981, Hill agreed to report to "AA" Glens Falls from August 15-September 1 to alleviate the problem. . . named to all-star teams at three levels of minor league competition as a St. Louis Cardinal farmhand - Gulf Coast League (1970), Texas League (1973), and American Association (1974). . . hit 14 home runs at Tulsa in '74, the only time in Hill's professional career he hit double figures in home runs in one season.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Born and raised 50 miles from Busch Stadium in St. Louis where he grew up watching the Cardinals. . . originally signed by the Cardinals in 1970. . . spent five seasons in the Cards' farm system. . . all-Missouri choice as a prep baseball and basketball star. . . first athlete in the history of Lincoln County (Mo.) High School to win letters in three sports (baseball, basketball, and track) as a sophomore. . . father Edward was a pitcher in the St. Louis Browns' organization in the 1940s. . . one of the finest golfers in baseball.

Tim Hulett

Infielder/#32

Given name (pronunciation): Timothy Craig Hulett (HUE-lit). Age: 26. Born: January 12, 1960, Springfield, Ill. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-0/183. Major league tenure: One year, 46 days. Residence: Naperville, Ill. Contract status: Pending. Family: Married Linda Ferguson September 27, 1980; sons Tug (February 28, 1983) and Joe (April 9, 1984). First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: September 15, 1983 with White Sox (vs. Seattle). Sox acquisition: Selected first round, secondary phase, January, 1980 free agent draft.

1985: Spent first full season in the major leagues. . . started a total of 116 games, 96 at third base and 20 at second. . . batted a respectable .268 but had his ups and downs defensively, committing 24 errors. . . of the two dozen miscues, 23 occurred at the hot corner. . . kept his batting average over the .300 mark until late June. . . recorded a .333 batting mark in April and .386 in May but slumped to .213 for June. . . after getting just one single in 14 previous major-league at bats the two previous seasons, Hulett recorded his first two-hit game April 20 versus Boston and drove home his first big league RBI April 23 against Milwaukee. . . first homer came May 15 off Baltimore's Dennis Martinez. . . concluded the season with a career-high eight-game hitting streak that will carry into the '86 season.

Major League Highlights: Finished the '83 season with the parent Sox and opened the '84 campaign in Chicago but spent most of those two years at "AAA" Denver. 1984: Earned a berth on the Sox' Opening Day roster with a strong spring performance. . . batted just seven times in eight appearances before being sent to "AAA" Denver April 26. 1983: Made his major league debut September 15 against Seattle. . . appeared in eight September games as the Sox clinched their A.L. West title. . . his first major league start was September 21 versus Minnesota.

Minor League Highlights: Spent most of 1984 season with "AAA" Denver, hitting .263 while splitting time between second and third base...led Denver with 16 home runs and was third with 80 RBI, the latter just two off the team leadership...as Denver's regular second baseman in 1983, his first season at the "AAA" level, Hulett turned in his best professional batting average of .273 in addition to a career high 88 RBI...his sacrifice fly September 10, 1983 drove in the winning run as the Bears defeated the Louisville Red Birds 3-2 to sweep the American Association championship playoff in four games...in '82, Hulett was named the "AA" Eastern League's all-star second baseman...also recognized by Baseball America as the top second baseman at the "AA" level...led the Eastern League in runs (113) while driving in 87 runs and belting a career-high 22 home runs...in '81, he made only 16 errors in 134 games as Glens Falls' regular second baseman.

Miscellaneous/Personal: The Springfield, Illinois native attended the University of South Florida and Miami Dade North Community College...at USF he set a school record with 19 doubles in one season...at Miami Dade North, he set a school standard with 14 homers...at Springfield's Lanphier High School, Hulett played basketball, football, and baseball...led the city conference in hitting, home runs, and stolen bases all four years of his prep career.

More "City Series" Sox feats: Ray Schalk played the most games in the City Series with 53, closely followed by Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs who participated in 51. Earl Sheely, the burly Sox first baseman of the 1920s, hit the most homers with six. Red Faber won the most games with 11.

Bob James

Pitcher/#43

Given name: Robert Harvey James. Nickname: "Bo." Age: 27, turns 28 August 15. Born: August 15, 1958, Glendale, Calif. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-4/230. Major league tenure: Three years, 121 days. Residence: Canyon Country, Calif. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Renae Hoff January 7, 1979. First pro contract: Montreal Expos; selected first round (ninth player in nation), June, 1976 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 7, 1978 with Montreal (vs. N.Y. Mets). Sox acquisition: From Montreal Expos in exchange for infielder Vance Law December 7, 1984.

■ 1985: Acquired in December, 1984, from Montreal to give the Sox a stopper in the bullpen . . . James did exactly that, finishing second in the A.L. behind Kansas City's Dan Quisenberry with a club record 32 saves . . . James eclipsed the record of 30 saves established by Ed Farmer in 1980 . . . the big right-hander earned the 32 saves in 41 save opportunities and won eight of 15 decisions . . . appeared in a club-high 69 games despite missing nearly a month with a twisted left knee . . . trailed only Quinsenberry and New York's Dave Righetti in final standings for the 1985 Rolaids Relief Man Award . . . also joined Righetti and Oakland's Jay Howell as three best A.L. fastballs in poll of managers by Toronto Star . . . among A.L. relievers with at least 70 innings pitched, James ranked as follows: Strikeout/walk ratio, second; saves, second; games finished, third; opponents' on-base percentage, third; homers per nine innings, third; runners per nine innings, third; ERA, fourth; walks per nine innings, fourth; and, strikeouts per nine innings, sixth . . . injured the knee July 11 at Baltimore with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning and the Sox leading 6-3 . . . not only was James lost with the injury but the Pale Hose lost the game as well when reliever Mike Stanton was unable to retire anyone and Fred Lynn's homer gave the Orioles a 7-6 victory . . . James' 88 strikeouts in 110.0 innings gave him the best strikeout/innings pitched ratio on the club (7.2 whiffs per nine innings) . . . longest stint of the season was a 3.2-inning effort September 22 versus Oakland at Comiskey Park, earning the victory in the Sox' 10-inning win . . . pitched three or more innings only four times . . . established himself as the Sox stopper with three strikeouts in just 2.1 innings and a save in Tom Seaver's Opening Day win at Milwaukee . . . allowed just five home runs and none between June 18 and September 8 . . . earned saves in 16 of his first 18 save opportunities in a Sox uniform . . . picked up nine saves and one win in 10 straight appearances from May 29-June 15 . . . recipient of the Rolaids Relief Man Award for the month of September with a 2-1 record and eight saves . . . owned all White Sox saves until Gene Nelson notched one May 31 against Kansas City . . . his 2.13 ERA was the best on the club.

■ Major League Highlights: The hard-throwing James owns 274 career strikeouts in just 295 major league innings . . . 32 saves in 1985 nearly doubled his career total in one full and four partial major-league seasons (17) . . . seventh among active relievers in career strikeout percentage 8.37 per nine innings. ■ 1984: Spent his first full major-league season in successful tandem with veteran Montreal reliever Jeff Reardon . . . as his career numbers indicate, James' strikeouts approximated his innings pitched, fanning 91 hitters in 96 innings . . . won six games and saved 10 others while posting a 3.66 ERA . . . for the second consecutive season, he led Expo pitchers in strikeouts per innings pitched, whiffing 8.5 batters per nine innings . . . particularly effective early in the season when he made 11 scoreless appearances from May 12-June 13, a stretch covering 19.2 innings, 20 strikeouts, and only three walks...from July 12 -August 22, he recorded a 4-0 record with four saves. ■ 1983: Started the season with Detroit, appearing in four games...after a short stay at "AAA" Wichita, James was recalled by the Expos in July and went on to strike out 56 batters in 50 innings, the top strikeout ratio in Montreal history...notched his first career victory in Chicago when he pitched 4.1 innings of one-hit, shutout relief against the Cubs at Wrigley Field September 13...also struck out six in the outing...in his last nine games, James won once, recorded four saves, and struck out 25 batters in 18.2 innings...did not allow either the tying or winning run to score in any of his 27 appearances. ■ 1982: Opened the season with Montreal before being sent to Detroit and splitting time between the parent Tigers and their "AAA" affiliate at Evansville... appeared in just 28 games between the three stops. ■ 1978: In just his third professional season, James made his big league debut for Montreal in September, losing to the Mets...appeared in four games.

■ Minor League Highlights: Used almost exclusively as a starting pitcher during his minor league career...broke in in 1976 with Lethbridge of the "rookie" Pioneer League and did not make the switch to the bullpen until 1982 at Evansville.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Drafted no. 1 (ninth overall) by Montreal in June, 1976...did not pitch on a regular basis until his senior year at Verdugo Hills (Calif.) H.S., tossing two no-hitters and being named most valuable player in 1975, his senior year...prior to that he was a catcher...underwent surgery for the removal of floating bone chips July 29, 1980...pitched sparingly in 1981 while recovering from surgery and was subsequently traded to Detroit June 9, 1982...also played Babe Ruth, American Legion, and semi-professional baseball in Sunland, Calif....lists jogging, trout fishing, and bowling as favorite leisure activities.

Given name: Alfornia Jones. Age: 27. Born: February 10, 1959, Charleston, Miss. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 5-11/178. Major league tenure: One year, 88 days. Residence: Charleston, Miss. Contract status: Pending. Family: Single. First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: June 4, 1983 with White Sox (vs. Baltimore). Sox acquisition: Selected 13th round, June, 1981 free agent draft.

1985: Missed nearly the entire season with an elbow injury suffered in a freakish fall at Boston in April. . . slipped on the runway between the clubhouse and dugout at Fenway Park and strained his right elbow. . . placed on the 15-day disabled list April 22 . . . eventually moved to the 21-day list and was not reactived until September 3 . . . spent a short time rehabilitating at Buffalo ("AAA") and was 0-1 in four appearances in late August . . . his loss after a promising start hampered the Sox' bullpen . . . earned his only decision with a victory at Boston April 15 . . . pitched 2.1 innings, allowing just one hit and one unearned run in the Pale Hose's 6-5, extra-inning victory. . . made just one more effort April 21 (also against Boston) before going on the disabled list . . . pitched just one time in September after being reactivated, throwing one inning at Minnesota September 30.

Major League Highlights: Jones has spent portions of the past three seasons in the major leagues with the Sox and his only minor-league duty in '85 was during a rehabilitation period from an elbow injury. 1984: Divided his time between the parent White Sox and their "AAA" affiliate at Denver . . . began the campaign at Denver, but after notching a 1-1 record with one save and a 0.00 ERA in his first five appearances, he was summoned to Chicago April 29 . . . his first appearance against Boston the same day brought him his first major league save after retiring Dwight Evans with a strikeout to end the game . . . made five more appearances before allowing his first run May 27 at Texas . . . recorded his first major league victory June 30 by pitching the final inning of an 11-inning 5-4 win over Baltimore . . . optioned to Denver July 10 where he completed the season with a 2-3 record, seven saves, and a 4.71 ERA in 28.2 innings. 1983: Made his major league debut August 6 against Baltimore . . . made two appearances before returning to "A" Appleton.

Minor League Highlights: Performance at Midwest League champion "A" Appleton in 1983 brought him the distinction of being named the best relief pitcher in the minor leagues . . . spent all but a few days at Appleton where he led the Midwest League in winning percentage (.971 from 11-1) and appearances (55) . . . also second in the league in saves (22) . . . anchored the league's best pitching staff . . . his 0.97 ERA easily was tops in the league but he lacked nine innings to qualify for the ERA title . . . named Rolaids minor league relief pitcher-of-the-year and Midwest League player-of-the-year at season's end . . . yielded just

Ron Karkovice

Catcher/#53

Given name (pronunciation): Ronald Joseph Karkovice (KAR-ko-vice). Nickname: "Karko." Age: 22, turns 23 August 8. Born: August 8, 1963, Union, N.J. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-1/215. Major league tenure: None. Residence: Orlando, Fla. Contract status: Pending. Family: Single. First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: None. Sox acquisition: Selected first round (14th player in nation), June, 1982, free agent draft.

1985: Spent the entire campaign at "AA" Glens Falls of the Eastern League...his 11 homers were third best total on team and he drove in 37 runs...battled assorted injuries and was limited to just 99 games...finished with a .216 batting average, just one point higher than 1984 at Glens Falls.

Major League Highlights: Karkovice has not appeared in the major leagues.

Minor League Highlights: Rookie season numbers at Sarasota in 1982 included a team-high seven home runs and 32 RBI in 60 games...promoted to "A" Appleton in '83, Karkovice shared the club lead in homers with 13...named to the Midwest League all-star team...split the '84 season between Glens Falls and "AAA" Denver...in 88 games, hit 13 home runs at Glens Falls, third best total on the club...hit two more in 31 Denver appearances.

Miscellanoues/Personal: Considered an outstanding defensive catcher...in Karkovice and Joel Skinner, the White Sox have two of the top young catching prospects in baseball...excellent running speed for a catcher...has been timed in 4.1 and 4.2 seconds to first base...the White Sox' number one pick of the June, 1982 free agent draft (14th overall selection).

Ron Kittle

Outfielder/#42

Given name: Ronald Dale Kittle. Nickname: "Kitty." Age: 28. Born: January 5, 1958, Gary, Ind. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-4/220. Major league tenure: Three years, 32 days. Residence: Crown Point, Ind. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Laurie Cooke October 19, 1984. First pro contract: Los Angeles Dodgers; signed as a free agent July 5, 1977. Major league debut: September 2, 1982 with the White Sox (vs. Texas). Sox acquisition: Signed as a free agent September 4, 1978.

1985: Kittle experienced a "famine, then feast" type of season...hampered by shoulder injury suffered in a collision with Comiskey Park's left-field wall April 20...Kittle struggled for the season's first half, hitting just .191 with eight homers and 17 RBI through August 5...played with the injured shoulder for over two months but served mostly as a designated hitter and pinch hitter...did not hit his first homer until May 7 at Cleveland off Bert Blyleven and cranked another the following night off the Tribe's Neal Heaton...hit his eighth homer June 8 at Minnesota and did not connect again until August 8...finally placed on the disabled list July 4 when the lingering shoulder injury would respond only to rest...spent one week at "AAA" Buffalo on rehabilitative assignment in mid-July...returned to the Sox July 25...two-homer game versus Boston (one his sixth career roof shot) August 8 immediately after the two-day players' strike started his season-ending "feast"...connected for two more homers August 12 against New York, September 26 at Oakland and October 1 at Minnesota...also swatted a pair of round-trippers versus Toronto in Chicago May 29, giving him five two-homer games for the season, easily a team high...batted .265 (52-196) with 18 homers and 41 RBI after August 5 to raise his final average from .191 to .230...one homer per 14.58 at bats trailed only Detroit's Darrell Evans (12.63) among regulars...equalled his career high with an 11-game hitting streak (15-41, .366) September 1-17...named A.L. player-of-the-week September 9-15 with three homers and a .429 average (9-21) in the six games he played...had RBI in six straight games (September 10-15) with a total of eight in those six contests...finished season with a four-game hitting streak that will carry over in 1986...also had RBI in each of those final four outings...appeared in 57 games as a designated hitter and compiled a .251 batting average with 16 homers and 35 RBI...was hitless in nine pinch-hitting appearances with seven strikeouts...after leading the team in strikeouts for two straight seasons, he lost that dubious honor in '85 to his road roommate and best pal Greg Walker..."Kitty" whiffed 92 times in 379 offical at bats and "Walk" K'd 100 times in 601 at bats.

■ Major League Highlights: Kittle owns 93 homers in his first three complete major league seasons and lifetime total of 94...among regulars, Kittle ranks second in the major leagues in career home run/at bat ratio (14.83)...also among top 10 regulars in career extra-base hit percentage (44.48)...only the bothersome shoulder injury kept him from reaching the 30-homer mark for third straight season...his six Comiskey Park roof home runs are the most in the venerable park's history. ■ 1984: Followed his 35-homer rookie-of-the-year debut with 32 round trippers as a sophomore...led the Sox in home runs for the second consecutive season...finished third on the club in runs (67), RBI (74), and walks (49)...also led the team for the second year in a row in strikeouts (136)...became the first player in history to hit three home runs onto the Comiskey Park roof in one season...the three monumental blows came off Boston's Al Nipper and Bob Ojeda and Detroit's Dave Rozema...also poked two pinch-hit homers...two six-game hitting streaks (April 26-May 1 and June 13-18) his longest of the season...A.L. player-of-the-week for April 23-29 for .435 (10-for-23) batting average, including four homers and nine RBI...started as designated hitter seven times with the first coming September 15...three two-home run games (Boston, Texas, and Toronto). ■ 1983: A fairy tale...in his first major league season, his 35 home runs and 100 RBI led the A.L. West Division title-bound White Sox and won him the league's rookie-of-the-year accolade...only the fourth White Sox player to win the coveted honor at the time...only White Sox player selected to the victorious American League all-star team'...35 homers wiped out White Sox rookie record of 27, set by Zeke Bonura in 1934...finished just two home runs short of Al Rosen's A.L. rookie record of 37 as a Cleveland Indian in 1950...100 RBI second best rookie total in White Sox history (Bonura had 110 in '34)...most RBI by an American League rookie since Fred Lynn (105) and Jim Rice (102) in 1975...joined Greg Luzinski (32 homers) as the most productive home run tandem in White Sox history, eclipsing the 61 round trippers hit by Oscar Gamble (31) and Richie Zisk (30) in 1977...joined Luzinski and Carlton Fisk (26 homers) as the most prolific home run trio in White Sox history, bettering the 86 home runs amassed by Gamble, Zisk, and Eric Soderholm (25) in '77...became only the sixth batter in history to hit more than one home run onto the Comiskey Park roof...the roof shots came off Chris Codiroli of Oakland and Mike Walters of Minnesota...led A.L. with 150 strikeouts...appeared in 145 regular-season games...playoff action ended in game three against Baltimore when Oriole pitcher Mike Flanagan hit Kittle on the left knee...Kittle had to leave the game and was unable to play in the decisive fourth game...hit .286 in the ALCS in the three games he was able to appear...went one-for-two in the '83 All-Star Game. ■ 1982: Appeared in 20 major league games in September after tearing apart the Pacific Coast League...made his major league debut September 2 at Comiskey Park against Texas...recorded his first big league start and hit (a double) September 4 against Texas...registered his first major league homer off Minnesota's Frank Viola at the Metrodome October 2, an opposite field shot.

Minor League Highlights: Recorded some of the gaudiest statistics in memory. . .named 1982 minor league player-of-the-year at "AAA" dmonton with Pacific Coast League-leading totals of 50 home runs and 144 RBI. . .despite batting .345, did not win the triple crown. . .the P.C.L. most valuable player and all-star also led the loop in slugging percentage(.729) with 50 homers, 10 triples, 22 doubles, and 91 singles for 365 total bases. . .his '82 stats gave Kittle a two-season total of 90 home runs, 246 RBI, and a composite .336 batting average for 236 "AA" and "AAA" games. . .became only one of five professional players to hit 50 or more home runs in one season over the past 22 years. . .also named Eastern League most valuabe player in '81 at Glens Falls with 40 home runs and 102 RBI. . .hit .324 but missed triple crown. . .Kittle was main contributor to Glens Falls' team total of 179 homers, the most in professional baseball in '81. . .also led the Eastern League with 269 total bases. . .in 1980 at "A" Appleton, Kittle hit .316 in 61 games and was named to the Midwest League all-star team before being promoted to Glens Falls where he hit .308 in 17 games.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Married high school acquaintance Laurie Cooke during the 1984 off-season. . .the couple is making its permanent home in Crown Point, Indiana near their native Gary. . .Kittle's professional baseball is a rags-to-riches story. . .signed his first professional contract with the L.A. Dodgers' organization in 1977. . .hit poorly and complained of numbness in his right arm. . .problem diagnosed as a inched nerve in his neck stemming from a pair of crushed vertebrae. . .the unknown injury prompted spinal fusion surgery in 1978. . .Kittle wore a neck brace for four months. . .the Dodgers, feeling his baseball career was over, released Kittle. . .in September of 1978 while Kittle was working as an iron construction worker, he was offered a special tryout with the White Sox at Comiskey Park through former Pale Hose pitching great Billy Pierce. . .graduated from Wirt High School in Gary, Ind. where he was a three-sport letterman. . .all-Indiana choice in basketball.

Rudy Law

Given Name: Rudy Karl Law. Nickname: "Lawman." Age: 29, turns 30 October 7. Born: October 7, 1956 at Waco, Tex. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-2/180. Major league tenure: Five years, 22 days. Residence: Inglewood, Calif. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Evelyn Silva, May 17, 1980; son Randy (October 23, 1983). First pro contract: Los Angeles Dodgers; signed as a free agent September 1, 1975. Major league debut: September 12, 1978 with Los Angeles Dodgers (vs. San Francisco). Sox acquisition: From Los Angeles in exchange for pitch Burt Geiger and outfielder Cecil Espy March 30, 1982.

1985: Led club with 29 stolen bases in 35 attempts despite missing nearly a month due to a pulled hamstring suffered July 11 at Baltimore...stolen base success percentage (82.86) ranked seventh in A.L....finally placed on the 15-day supplementary disabled list July 20...activated again August 4...29 steals equalled his 1984 total (a year in which he also was bothered with hamstring problems) and remains his career low...27 multiple-hit games, tying him with Tim Hulett for fifth on the club...started 96 games, all in left or center field...longest hitting streak of season was an eight-gamer September 18-28 (12-28, .429)...also enjoyed a seven-game skein during the Sox' West Coast road trip in June which propelled them into first place (10-21, .476)...Law's hot spell continued for the remainder of the month of June as he hit safely in 16 of 20 games from June 9-July 1 (25-70, .357)...homered to lead off the bottom of the ninth inning to end Blue Jay Dave Stieb's no-hit bid August 24...Bryan Little and Harold Baines followed with consecutive homers to give the Sox back-to-back-to-back round-trippers for the first time since September 9, 1983 when Carlton Fisk, Tom Paciorek, and Greg Luzinski turned the trick...the three homers (the first two off Stieb) were not enough for the Sox to overtake the Blue Jays...Law also authored the Pale Hose's only inside-the-park homer September 21 versus Oakland in Chicago...six pinch-hits (in 16 at bats) tied Luis Salazar for second spot on club behind specialist and league leader Jerry Hairston.

Major League Highlights: Law has stolen 171 bases in 216 attempts (.792) with the Sox...has averaged 42.2 steals in his five full major-league campaigns. 1984: Led club with 29 stolen bases...hit .380 (41-for-108) in his first 30 games...never regained early form after suffering leg injury (pulled hamstring) in mid-May...batting average eventually dipped to .251, the lowest average of his major league career. . . hit a personal single-season high of six home runs. . . second on the club in runs (68) and third in multiple-hit games (31). . . lost his uniform no. 11 August 14th when the White Sox retired the number in honor of their former shortstop great, Luis Aparicio, who had been inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. two days earlier. . . consistent with .250 batting average at home and .251 on the road. . . hit .455 (5-for-11) as a pinch-hitter, including one homer. . . hit .310 in April and .361 in May but never bettered .255 (August) in any of the other months. ■ 1983: Enjoyed the finest season of his career. . . led the White Sox with a .389 batting average (7-for-18) in the ALCS against Baltimore. . . his seven hits were the most on either team. . . after being rescued from the L.A. Dodgers' "AAA" team at Albuquerque, Law proved to be the catalyst on the bases for the ChiSox' West Division title drive, stealing a team record 77 bases to eclipse the old mark of 56 set by Luis Aparicio (1959) and Wally Moses (1943). . . 77 steals were second in the A.L. . . led the team total of 165 stolen bases, most by the White Sox in 40 years (since stealing 173 in 1943). . . led A.L. outfielders with a .994 fielding percentage, committing only two errors in 309 total chances. . . thus became first White Sox outfielder to lead the league in defense since Pat Kelly in 1975 (.991). . . best fielding percentage by a Pale Hose outfielder since Ken Berry set the team record in 1969 when he was errorless in 222 total chances. ■ 1982: First year with the White Sox and first time in the American League. . . primarily a utility outfielder during the first half of the season. . . earned the starting job in center and lead-off spot in the batting order July 1. . . sizzled the rest of the year, leading the club in hitting (.318) and stolen bases (36) and tied for second in triples (8). . . stole 18 consecutive bases from June 16-August 30. . . hit his first A.L. homer May 8 at Detroit. . . hit .328 during the second half. ■ 1980: Spent the entire season with the L.A. Dodgers. . . hit .341 during spring training and .329 in April. . . Dodgers' Opening Day center fielder. . . slumped at the plate and lost his regular job by mid-season. . . still set a Dodger rookie record for stolen bases (40) that was broken by Steve Sax. ■ 1978: Made his major league debut with 12 September appearances. . . first game was September 12 versus San Francisco. . . recorded his first three major league hits against Cincinnati September 28.

■ Minor League Highlights: Hit .335 and stole 56 bases for "AAA" Albuquerque in '81 after spending the previous season with the parent Dodgers. . . posted a 15-game hitting streak and boasted nine three-hit games, including the Pacific Coast League championship contest against Tacoma September 6. . . stole 79 bases at Albuquerque in '78 before being recalled by the Dodgers in September. . . hit .386 at Lodi in '77 and .335 in his first professional season, 1976, at Bellingham.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Despite hitting .300 and stealing 24 bases in his senior year at Ravenswood High School in East Palo Alto, Calif., Law was bypassed in the June free agent draft of 1975. . . signed by the Dodgers as a free agent late in the summer of '75. . . a loyal Los Angeles Lakers basketball fan, Law's hottest offensive streak of the '85 season coincidentally occurred when the Lakers defeated Boston for the National Basketball Association title in mid-June.

Bryan Little

Infielder/#47

Given name: Richard Bryan Little. Age: 26, turns 27 October 8. Born: October 8, 1959, Houston, Tex. Bats/throws: Switch/right. Height/weight: 5-10/160. Major league tenure: Two years, 156 days. Residence: Hearne, Tex. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Single. First pro contract: Montreal Expos; selected ninth round, June, 1980 free agent draft. Major league debut: July 29, 1982 with Montreal (vs. St. Louis). Sox acquisition: From Montreal in exchange for pitcher Bert Roberge, December 7, 1984.

1985: Split the season between the parent Sox and "AAA" Buffalo... first recalled by Chicago May 17 when Sox second baseman Julio Cruz was placed on the 15-day disabled list... made American League debut May 18 against Texas and had a base hit in his first at bat... hit safely in his first four games with at bats and five of the six in which he batted prior to returning to Buffalo June 14... scored four runs in game versus Kansas City June 1, a club high for the season and tied the mark for the most in the A.L. in '85... returned to the Sox to stay July 4... while at Buffalo, he led the Bisons with a .306 batting average and was a sparkplug in Buffalo's strong first half... enjoyed a pair of six-game hitting streaks in the second half (July 14-26 and August 23-28), his longest skeins of the year... belted first A.L. homer August 24 off Toronto's Dave Stieb at Chicago... Stieb had just lost a no-hitter when the previous Sox batter, Rudy Law, hit a home run... Little belted another homer four days later, a three-run shot of Texas' Dave Stewart, also in Chicago... a key figure in Tom Seaver's 300th career victory, Little laced a two-out, two-run single in the sixth inning August 4 at New York to give Seaver a more comfortable 4-1 lead... started 55 games, all but one at second base... opened one game at third base (May 22 at Toronto) and made one other appearance at the hot corner (May 25 at Kansas City)... mishandled his only two chances at third base but committed just three errors in 267 total chances at second base for a fine .989 fielding percentage there... also made one late-inning stint at shortstop (July 7 at Cleveland)... added to his reputation as one of baseball's finest bunters with eight bunt singles... named A.L.'s best bunter in post-season poll of managers by Toronto Star.

■ Major League Highlights: Has spent just one full season in the major leagues (1983 with Montreal) and parts of three others. ■ 1984: Split his time between Montreal and the Expos' "AAA" farm club at Indianapolis... played second base and shortstop for the Expos, appearing in 85 games... got off to a quick start and finished the year with a .244 average... 12 of his 65 hits went for extra bases... batted .292 in 35 games at Indianapolis... played the biggest chunk of his time with the parent club at second base where he finished the '84 season with a .982 fielding mark... only six second basemen who played as often as he did had better fielding marks for the year. ■ 1983: Opened the season as the Expos' starting shortstop... played 66 games at short and 51 at second base... led the National League in bunt hits with 24. ■ 1982: Made major-league debut with the Expos, appearing in 29 games.

■ Minor League Highlights: Enjoyed outstanding first half of 1985 season for the Buffalo Bisons of the "AAA" American Association with a .306 batting average, one homer and 20 RBI in just 49 games... narrowly missed hitting .300, finishing with a .292 mark in only 35 games at "AAA" Indianapolis in '84... worked his way through the Expos' farm system with stops at "A" Jamestown, "A" West Palm Beach, "AA" Memphis, and "AAA" Wichita before being recalled by the parent club in 1982.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: As a rookie in '83, Little was voted the major leagues' outstanding bunter in a New York Times player poll and a balloting of all major league managers by the Toronto Star... a native of Houston, still calls Texas his home and resides in Hearne, a Lone Star State hamlet near College Station where Bryan attended Texas A&M University... White Sox organist Nancy Faust greets each of Little's plate appearances with a rendition of "The Aggie War Hymn," A&M's popular fight song.

Bill Long

Pitcher/#36

Given name: William D. Long. Age: 26. Born: February 29, 1960, Cincinnati, O. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-0/185. Major league tenure: Zero years, 16 days. Residence: Cincinnati, O. Contract Status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Margaret Phelan September 23, 1984. First professional contract: San Diego; selected second round, June, 1981 free agent draft. Major league debut: July 21, 1985 (vs. Cleveland). Sox acquisition: With infielders Luis Salazar and Ozzie Guillen and pitcher Tim Lollar from San Diego in exchange for pitchers LaMarr Hoyt, Todd Simmons and Kevin Kristan, December 7, 1984.

■ 1985: Made major league debut with the Sox during brief two-week stint in Chicago in late July and early August. . .recalled from "AAA" Buffalo July 20 and started against Cleveland the following afternoon at Comiskey Park. . .earned no decision after working five innings and allowing three earned runs on seven hits. . .struck out five and walked just one in that initial start. . .made two more starts and one relief appearance before returning to Buffalo August 4. . .second start lasted just two innings against Baltimore in Chicago, giving up five runs, including a solo homer by Eddie Murray. . .Sox rallied to win the game, taking Long off the hook. . .only decision was a loss in his final start in a nationally-televised affair with New York at Yankee Stadium. . . pitched 5.1 innings and was touched for eight runs and three homers (Don Pasqua, Ron Hassey and A.L. MVP Don Mattingly). . .finished the short stint with a 10.29 ERA but struck out 13 men against just five walks. . .led the American Association with 13 victories at "AAA" Buffalo. . .won his first five decisions and allowed just three earned runs in his first 30.2 innings of the season before being slowed by tendonitis in his right shoulder. . .was 10-2 on the road with a 2.42 ERA. . .short right-field porch at Buffalo's War Memorial Stadium (289 feet) did not treat the right-handed Long very well where he was 3-4 with a 4.94 ERA at home.

■ Major League Highlights: See above.

■ Minor League Highlights: A product of the San Diego farm system. . .spent first professional season at Salem of the Carolina League and tied for second in the loop with three shutouts despite making only 13 starts. . .promoted to "AA" Amarillo of the Texas League in 1982. . .led that circuit in innings pitched (198) and was third in complete games (nine). . .made his first "AAA" appearance in '83 with Las Vegas after starting the season at "AA" Beaumont. . .shared the Texas League lead with 14 victories in 1984, was fourth in ERA (2.93) and fifth in strikeouts (114).

■ Miscellaneous Personal: Acquired by the Sox in the multi-player deal with San Diego that sent LaMarr Hoyt to the Padres and brought 1985 A.L. Rookie-of-the-year Ozzie Guillen to Chicago. . .a native of Cincinnati, Long attended and pitched for Miami University in Oxford, O.

Joel McKeon

Pitcher/#61

Given name: Joel Jacob McKeon. Age: 23. Born: February 25, 1963, Covington, Ky. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-0/185. Major league tenure: None. Residence: Hollywood, Fla. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Single. First professional contract: White Sox. Major league debut: None. Sox acquisition: Selected first round (secondary phase), June, 1982 free agent draft.

1985: Spent the entire season at "AAA" Buffalo, his first year at that level . . . led the Buffalo staff with a dozen saves in 16 opportunities . . . all but five of his 49 appearances were out of the bullpen . . . the '85 season was just his second pro season as a reliever . . . became the Bisons' late-inning specialist after fellow southpaw Jerry Don Gleaton was recalled by the parent Sox in July . . . earned 10 of his 12 saves (in just 12 opportunities) in the final 54 games of the season . . . of the 47 baserunners he inherited, only 17 scored . . . after becoming the closer, only five of 24 inherited runners were able to score . . . made one appearance as a batter May 19 when defensive changes involving the designated hitter forced the pitcher to take a spot in the batting order . . . McKeon lined a soft single to left field in his only appearance at the plate to receive credit for the game-winning RBI over Omaha.

Major League Highlights: McKeon never has appeared in the major leagues.

Minor League Highlights: Made the conversion from starter to reliever in 1984 at "AA" Glens Falls . . . owned a 2-3 record with a pair of saves in 40 relief appearances and five spot starts that season . . . was 5-5 with 110 strikeouts in 100 innings as a starter for Midwest League champion Appleton ("A") in 1983 . . . fired a two-hit shutout against Cedar Rapids May 26, 1983 . . . began his pro career in 1982 at "rookie" Sarasota and fired three complete games and two shutouts while compiling a 3-1 record . . . earned promotion to "AA" Glens Falls in that first season and was 5-2 in just seven starts with a 3.00 ERA.

Miscellaneous Personal: The Sox' first choice in the secondary phase of the June, 1982 free agent draft...born in Covington, Ky., McKeon attended high school in Hollywood, Fla. where he was named Broward County player-of-the-year in baseball as a junior in 1980...graduated from South Broward High in 1981...attended Miami-Dade North Community College.

Gene Nelson

Pitcher/#30

Given name: Wayland Eugene Nelson II. Age: 25. Born: December 3, 1960, Tampa, Fla. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-0/174. Major league tenure: Three years, 84 days. Residence: Dade City, Fla. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married CeCilia Chessher November 10, 1980; sons David (September 19, 1977) and Wayland Eugene, Jr. (July 21, 1982). First pro contract: Texas Rangers selected 29th round, June, 1978 free agent draft. Major league debut: May 4, 1981 with New York Yankees (vs. California). Sox acquisition: With pitcher Jerry Don Gleaton from Seattle Mariners in exchange for pitcher Salome Barojas June 27, 1984.

1985: Spent the seaon's first three months in the Sox bullpen but was shifted to the starting rotation in July when surgery shelved Richard Dotson and youngster Bruce Tanner was ineffective as a regular starter...Nelson was extremely effective as the set-up man for closer Bob James while in the 'pen, posting a 4-3 record with a 2.89 ERA and a pair of saves...in his final 35.1 innings of relief prior to being moved to the rotation, Nelson allowed just seven earned runs (1.78 ERA)...enjoyed a stretch from May 8 to June 10 when he allowed only two earned runs in 20.1 innings and 13 appearances...posted a 6-7 mark as a starter and his ERA rose to 4.87...fired one complete game, a 7-2 success in the first game of a doubleheader at Boston August 1...it was just his second complete game with the Sox and only the sixth distance job of his career...made only one relief effort after becoming a starter (August 30 at Toronto)...served up 23 home runs (third most on the club) in 145.2 innings, an average of one homer every 6.1 innings...named the most valuable player in the Sox' 7-4 victory over the Cubs in the Busch Crosstown Classic April 29 at Comiskey Park after hurling four no-hit innings to start the game.

Major League Highlights: Made his major-league debut in 1980 with New York and was touted as one of the top pitching prospects in baseball...last season was his first full year in the big leagues...always considered a hard thrower with great potential. 1984: Plucked from Seattle's "AAA" affiliate at Salt Lake City June 27 along with pitcher Jerry Don Gleaton in exchange for pitcher Salome Barojas...Nelson reported to Chicago...the transaction paid immediate dividends...in his first appearance July 5, he pitched three innings of shutout relief to notch a 7-6 win over Cleveland...in his second appearance two days later, he hurled two more shutout innings of relief to record his first save of the year, also against Cleveland...promoted to the starting rotation July 12...pitched steadily but still lost four straight games before notching his first White Sox win as a starter August 6 at Milwaukee...made his ninth and final White Sox start of the season September 2 against Kansas City...earned a victory in relief September 18 with his best effort of the season, tossing six innings of one-hit, shutout relief, fanning six and walking one in a 5-3 win over Minnesota. ■ 1983: Recalled to Seattle from Salt Lake City May 19...suffered one loss in two starts and three appearances before being returned to Salt Lake City...recalled by the Mariners again August 24 and went 0-2 in two starts and five appearances...lost a 2-1 game at Texas September 23 despite throwing a four-hitter. ■ 1982: Joined the Mariners Opening Day after trade from the Yankees...went 0-4 in six April starts despite a respectable 3.51 ERA...received only eight runs from the M's offense in his first eight starts...A.L. player-of-the-week for June 7-13 with wins against Texas and Kansas City, allowing one earned run in 15 innings and tossing his first major league shutout at the Rangers. ■ 1981: Won the James P. Dawson Award as the top rookie in the New York Yankees' training camp and at age 20 found himself in the major leagues...youngest player in the big leagues at the time...was the first Yankee since pitcher Rollie Sheldon (1960) to make the jump from "A" ball to the major leagues...started seven times and appeared in one other game, compiling a 3-1 record...did not spend the entire season with New York.

■ Minor League Highlights: In 1980, Nelson was the Yankees' minor league pitcher-of-the-year and a Florida State League all-star, going 20-3 with a 1.97 ERA and a 12-game winning streak...a perfect 5-0 in '78 as a Texas farm hand, 1-0 at Ft. Lauderdale and 4-0 at Columbus in '81, and 7-0 at Salt Lake City in '83 before being recalled by Seattle...glittering cumulative minor league won-loss record of 59-23.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Selected by Texas in the 29th round of the June, 1978 free agent draft...690th choice overall...traded with pitcher Ray Fontenot by Texas to New York for pitchers Bob Polinski, Neal Mersch, and Mark Softy October 8, 1979 to complete the trade of August 1, 1979 that sent outfielder Mickey Rivers and three players to be named later to the Rangers for third baseman Amos Lewis and two players to be named later...traded to the Mariners with pitcher Bill Caudill and a player to be named later (outfielder Bobby Brown) for pitcher Shane Rawley April 1, 1982...raised in Tampa, Fla....baseball most valuable player at Pasco High School, Dade City, Fla. for three years.

Third baseman Pete Ward's extra-base hit totals as a rookie in 1963 were identical to his final minor league numbers the previous season. As a "AAA" Rochester Red Wing (International League) in 1962 and a Sox rookie in '63, Ward logged 34 doubles, 6 triples, and 22 home runs. Ward also enjoyed the American League's longest hitting streak in '63, and 18-gamer from June 7-24. He hit .382 with 26 hits in 68 times at bat over that span.

Luis Salazar

Infielder-Outfielder/#5

Given name: Luis Ernesto Salazar. Age: 29, turns 30 May 19. Born: May 19, 1956, Barcelona, Venezuela. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 5-9/180. Major league tenure: Five years, 52 days. Residence: Guarenas, Venezuela. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Wife Graciela; son Carlos (March 10, 1980) and daughter Vivana (October 28, 1983). First pro contract: Kansas City Royals, signed as a free agent November 29, 1973. Major league debut: August 17, 1980 with San Diego (vs. Houston). Sox acquisition: With infielder Ozzie Guillen and pitchers Tim Lollar and Bill Long from San Diego in exchange for pitchers LaMarr Hoyt, Todd Simmons, and Kevin Kristan December 6, 1984.

■ 1985: Opened the season as the Sox' top third baseman, eventually splitting his playing time between third and center field . . . struggled offensively in the season's first half . . . did not get his average to the .200 mark until July 24 . . . gradually raised the mark to a respectable .245 at season's end . . . finished the year strong, recording a .313 mark in July, a .283 average in August, and a .286 worksheet in September and October . . . suffered what turned out to be a serious knee injury playing third base at California September 23 . . . originally thought to be a bruise, Salazar started two more game (September 29 at Oakland and October 2 at Minnesota) . . . underwent extensive knee surgery in the first week of the off-season to repair the damage . . . prior to the injury, Salazar was enjoying one of his finest stretches of the season and equalled his season-high eight-game hitting streak . . . highlight of that streak was a game-winning, two-run, 10th-inning homer versus Oakland in Chicago September 22 . . . the homer was his fourth hit of the game, his high for the season . . . despite hitting just .172 through June 9, Salazar had five homers and 15 RBI . . . the homers at that time accounted for nearly one third of his hits (16) and his RBI total was just one shy of his hit total . . . batted .400 as a pinch-hitter with six hits in 15 guest appearances including one home run (June 9 at Minnesota) . . . had five GWRBI, including the deciding run in Tom Seaver's 299th career win at Boston July 30 . . . started at four different positions . . . opened in center field 50 times, at third base 29 times, in left field on three occasions and at first base a half-dozen times . . . first base duty gave the Sox a right-handed bat at that position when they wished to rest regular Greg Walker . . . finished third on the club with 14 steals in 18 attempts . . . one of just four Sox players to be ejected by an umpire in '85 when Tim Welke tossed him at Milwaukee August 17 for disputing a called third strike.

■ Major League Highlights: Spent the last five full seasons in the major leagues . . . broke in with the Padres midway through the 1980 season . . . San Diego and the Sox are his only two big league for which he has toiled. ■ 1984: Opened the regular season splitting time at third base with veteran Graig Nettles . . . by the end of the season, the versatile Salazar also played shortstop and all three outfield positions for the National League champion San Diego Padres . . . his best offensive spurt of the year was June 14-25 when he batted .556 (10-for-18) with three RBI in four games . . . June was his best month; he hit .367 (11-for-30) in 12 games . . . spent May 15-June 11 on the disabled list with pulled muscles in the left side of his rib cage . . . was one-for-three in four appearances in the World Series against Detroit . . . was one-for-five in the NLCS . . . his one playoff hit was a triple. ■ 1983: Led N.L. third baseman with 24 stolen bases, third best total on the Padres . . . his 14 homers were second best on the club and he ranked fourth in runs (52), hits (124), and games (134)...successfully scored runners from third base with less than two out in nine of 17 attempts...hit .301 against lefties...played 118 games at third, 19 more at shortstop. ■ 1982: As San Diego's regular third baseman, he tied with Philly's Mike Schmidt for the N.L. lead in double plays by a third sacker (28)...tied the Chicago Cubs' Ryne Sandberg for the N.L. stolen base lead among third baseman (32)...recorded an inside-the-park home run at Philadelphia...hit .295 against lefties...scored runners from third base with less than two out in 23 of 29 opportunities. ■ 1981: His first full season in the big leagues, Salazar hit .303 to finish 13th in the N.L. batting race...led the Padres with 161 total bases...had seven consecutive hits in one three-game stretch. ■ 1980: Called up from San Diego's "AAA" affiliate at Hawaii August 14...made his major league debut August 17 and went four-for-seven in a doubleheader against Houston at San Diego...hit .337 as the Padres' regular third baseman the rest of the season...stole 11 of 13 bases for S.D. after stealing 43 bases for Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League.

■ Minor League Highlights: Posted gawdy statistics during his minor league career...in 1979 while playing for Buffalo, Salazar led the "AA" Eastern League in games (139), at bats (561), runs (108), and hits (181) while also amassing 27 homers, 86 RBI, 21 stolen bases, and batting .323...in 1979 and '80, Salazar hit over .300 at three minor league ("AA" Buffalo and "AAA" Portland and Hawaii) and one major league (San Diego) stop...stole 41 bases at Portland in '80 and 43 more at Portland and Hawaii the following season.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Blessed with an outstanding throwing arm and excellent speed...considered one of the National League's better defensive outfielders even though he primarily was used as an infielder by the Padres...originally signed by the Kansas City organization...released by the Royals, Salazar signed with Pittsburgh November 23, 1975 after missing the '75 season...traded to San Diego with outfielder Rick Lancellotti for utilityman Kurt Bevacqua and pitcher Mark Lee.

Dave Schmidt

Given name: David Joseph Schmidt. Age: 28, turns 29 April 22. Born: April 22, 1957, Niles, Mich. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-1/185. Major league tenure: Four years, 91 days. Residence: Arlington, Tex. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Deborah Ann Luther (August 16, 1982); son Brian Donald (November 17, 1984). First pro contract: Texas Rangers; selected in 26th round, June 1979 free agent draft. Major league debut: May 1, 1981 with Texas (vs. Kansas City). Sox acquisition: From Texas with infielder Wayne Tolleson in exchange for infielder Scott Fletcher, pitcher Edwin Correa, and a player to be named later (infielder Jose Mota), November 24, 1985.

1985: Made a career-high 51 appearances with Texas and started four games. . .the starts were his first since 1982. . .fired a 6-0 shutout over the Angels in Arlington in his last start of the season October 4. . .the victory helped eliminate California from the American League West title chase. . .fashioned a 7-6 record, giving him a career high in victories and equalling his top mark in defeats. . .recorded five saves, pushing his career total to 26. . .posted a 3.15 ERA which nearly matched the 3.14 mark he had entering the season. . .although his appearance total was a career high, he hurled 24 fewer innings than in 1982 when eight of his 33 efforts were starts. . .owned a 2-0 record against the eventual world champion Kansas City Royals, the only club he was able to defeat twice. . .was 0-1 in four appearances versus the White Sox, losing a 6-5, 10-inning issue to the Pale Hose in Comiskey Park August 29. . .fired 16.0 scorelss innings over 11 appearances from May 17 through June 29. . .allowed just four earned runs over 32.2 innings of work between May 17 and August 11, a period covering 26 appearances. . .longest relief efforts were a trio of three-inning stints. . .the four starts came in his final four appearances of the season. . .was 2-2 as a starter. . .had a 5-4 mark out of the bullpen.

Major League Highlights: Spent four complete and one partial season with the Rangers. 1984: Led Texas with 43 appearances and 12 saves despite missing the final two-and-one-half weeks of the season with a sore right shoulder. . .the 12 saves were the most by a Texas pitcher since 1979. . .allowed only three earned runs in a three-month stretch in June, July and August. . .was 0-2 with a 14.21 ERA against Seattle, allowing half of his season total of earned runs against the Mariners. . .was 6-4 with a 1.41 ERA versus the rest of the league. 1983: Underwent surgery for removal of bone spur in right elbow in November, 1982 and started the season on the disabled list. . . activated April 30 and did not allow an earned run in his first five appearances. . . suffered a hyper-extension of troubled elbow May 29 and was sidelined for two more weeks. ■ 1982: Joined the starting rotation August 3 after making a pair of spot starts in his 25 appearances. . . was 1-4 as a starter. . . allowed just one run in 10 innings against the White Sox August 17 but was not involved in the decision. . . did not pitch after September 5 due to the sore elbow that later was repaired surgically. ■ 1981: Made major league debut May 1, 1981 after being recalled from "AAA" Wichita the same day. . . returned to Wichita June 1 but was recalled again August 7.

■ Minor League Highlights: Used exclusively as a starter in three minor league seasons. . . enjoyed an outstanding start at "A" Asheville in 1980, going 8-1 in his first 12 starts to earn a promotion to "AA" Tulsa.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: A 26th-round choice of the Rangers in the June, 1979 free agent draft. . . born in Niles, Mich., Schmidt was raised in Northridge City, Calif. . . pitched three seasons of college baseball at UCLA, compiling a 24-7 career mark. . . college career included a streak of 15 consecutive victories.

ChiSox Memory

In 1966, Sox southpaw Gary Peters, right-hander Joel Horlen, and lefty Tommy John finished one-two-five in the American League earned run average derby. Peters posted a glittering 1.98 ERA, allowing only 45 earned runs in 205 innings. He was 12-10. Horlen closed at 2.43. John was outstanding, too, at 2.62.

Tom Seaver

Pitcher/#41

Given name: George Thomas Seaver. Age: 41. Born: November 17, 1944, Fresno, Calif. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-1/221. Major league tenure: Nineteen years. Residence: Greenwich, Conn. Contract status: Signed through 1986 with one option year. Family: Married Nancy McIntyre (June 9, 1966); daughters Sarah (February 24, 1971) and Anne (October 28, 1975). First pro contract: New York Mets, signed April 3, 1966. Major league debut: April 11, 1967 with Mets (vs. Pittsburgh). Sox acquisition: Selected in compensation draft January 23, 1984.

1985: His 19th major league season was filled with milestones . . . in fairy-tale fashion, recorded his 300th career victory August 4 with a complete-game performance over the Yankees in New York, the city were he spent most of his illustrious career with the crosstown Mets . . . allowed just six hits, one earned run and struck out seven in the dramatic 4-1 victory in front of a full house on a bright Sunday afternoon . . . established a major-league record with his 15th Opening Day start at Milwaukee April 9 . . . decisioned the Brewers, 4-2, to break tie with Walter Johnson at 14 first-day starts . . . also passed Gaylord Perry and moved into third place on the all-time strikeout list when he fanned Seattle's Spike Owen October 4 on his final start of the season to move his whiff total to 3,534 . . . recorded his 3,500th "K" against Milwaukee's Paul Molitor August 9, the first batter he faced after winning his 300th verdict five day earlier in New York . . . struck out 11 Orioles at Baltimore July 14, the 70th time in his career he fanned 10 or more in a game and his most whiffs since October 1, 1978 when he recorded 11 against Atlanta while hurling for the Reds . . . it also was his first double-digit strikeout game since whiffing 10 Cubs September 5, 1980, again while wearing the Reds' uniform . . . blanked Cleveland and Bert Blyleven, 1-0, July 19 at Comiskey park, his only shutout of the season and the 61st of his career . . . 3.17 ERA ranked seventh in A.L. among starters . . . missed a turn against New York in mid-August with spasms in his back, his first failure to meet a starting assignment since 1982 . . . missed another turn in September at Seattle when he was bed-ridden with the flu . . . made a pair of relief apperances (April 30 at Baltimore and May 7 at Cleveland) when the five-man Sox rotation and several open dates in the schedule required extra work for the starters between assignments . . . they marked only his eighth and ninth career bullpen appearances . . . at 40 years of age, he was not only the oldest hurler on the Sox staff but also the busiest, pitching a team-high 238.2 innings and trailing teammates Britt Burns and Floyd Bannister by just one start with 33 . . . won his first three decisions and never fell below the .500 mark . . . earned his seventh win of the season (295th of his career) at California June 14 but didn't win again until July 5 over Cleveland . . . won four of five starts from July 14 through August 4 when he nailed his 300th game . . . was the losing pitcher three times when the Sox were shut out (3-0 by Charlie Leibrandt May 25 at Kansas City, 1-0 by Jack Morris July 10 at Detroit, and 8-0 by John Candelaria at Chicago September 19) . . . also combined with Bob James for a 3-0 shutout at Oakland September 29 . . . allowed 22 home runs but 16 of them came with the bases empty . . . surrendered the second Comiskey Park rooftop homer in his brief A.L. career when Kirk Gibson drove one over the right-field roof May 10 . . . twice put three-game winning streaks together, starting and ending the season with them . . . longest losing streak was just two games.

■ Major League Highlights: Certain Hall of Famer when his playing days end. . . his 16 victories in 1985 make him the winningest White Sox pitcher at age 40 or over. . . three-time Cy Young Award winner in the National League. . . established major league record by fanning 200 or more batters for nine consecutive seasons (1968-76). . . won 20 or more games five times. . . leads active hurlers with 61 career shutouts. . . three-time National League strikeout and ERA king. . . no. 3 on all-time strikeout list with 3,537. . . major leagues' leading career ERA leader (2.82) has allowed just 7.41 hits per nine innings over his career, ranking him 11th among active hurlers and third among pitchers with at least 500 innings. . . Seaver's opponents have hit just .224 against him during his career. . . fourth among active hurlers in career innings pitched (4605.2), trailing Phil Niekro (5054.2), Steve Carlton (4878.2), and Don Sutton (4795.2). . . no. 2 active hurler with 304 career wins, trailing no. 1 Steve Carlton (314). . . 619 career starts rank him fourth among active pitchers, chasing Don Sutton (672), Phil Niekro (658) and Steve Carlton (655). . . third among active pitchers in complete games behind Steve Carlton (251) and Phil Niekro (238). . . no. 3 among active pitchers in strikeouts (3537), chasing Nolan Ryan (4083) and Steve Carlton (3920). ■ 1984: American League debut following 17 seasons in the National League. . . at 39 years of age, Seaver led the White Sox in victories (15) and shutouts (4). . . second on the club in innings (236.2). . . never missed a turn in the rotation. . . shutout total second in the American League. . . started one of four White Sox combined shutouts, victimized by shutouts three times, losing two of those games by scores of 1-0 and 2-0, and won a game against California in which both runs scored against him were unearned. . . recorded two three-hit and two four-hit efforts. . . completed 10 games. . . complete games and shutout totals his best since 1977. . . inning count his highest since '78. . . allowed 27 home runs, his career high. . . only Sox pitcher to allow a Comiskey Park roof-top home run (Detroit's Ruppert Jones July 3). . . 15-11 record remarkable considering the lack of support he received from the White Sox bullpen. . . six times Seaver left games with the lead only to have the bullpen lose it. . . a seventh time he left with the score tied but was charged with the loss. . . made history May 9 when he won both ends of a unique doubleheader. . . pitched the final inning of the 25-inning suspended game of May 8 against Milwaukee (the longest by-the-clock game in baseball history) and made and won his regularly-scheduled start in the nightcap, pitching 8.1 innings. . . first Sox pitcher to win twice in one day since Wilbur Wood May 28, 1973. . . lost A.L. debut to Detroit April 8. . . didn't notch first A.L. win until May 4 against Boston, the first of four consecutive triumphs. . . his second White Sox triumph, May 9 versus Milwaukee, was his 275th career success. . . season high of eight strikeouts against California June 6. . . passed Don Sutton, Bob Gibson, Pud Galvin, and Ed Walsh on the all-time shutout list. . . remained no. 5 on the all-time strikeout list but moved to within 105 Ks of no. 4 Walter Johnson. . . moved passed Ted Lyons, Burleigh Grimes, Ed Plank, Jim McCormick, August Weyhing, and Red Ruffing on the all-time list of pitchers with 3500 or more innings. . . passed Charles Nichols on the list of pitchers with 500 or more starts. ■ 1983: Returned to New York Mets from five and one-half seasons in Cincinnati, the last an injury-plagued campaign, to post nine victories for a last-place club. . . led Met staff in innings (231) and tied for lead in starts (34). . . also led staff with 135 strikeouts, most by a Met pitcher since '79. . . Mets scored three runs or less in 13 of Seaver's 14 losses, including three shutouts and five one-run efforts. . . pitched his 4000th career inning June 22 at Shea Stadium against St. Louis, the 30th big league pitcher to pass that plateau. ■ 1982: Injuries (right shoulder) limited him to 21 games, keeping him from winning in double figures for the only season of his professional career. ■ 1981: Posted his best single-season winning percentage of .875 with 14-2 season for Cincinnati. ■ 1978: Tossed 4-0 no-hitter at St. Louis June 16, 1978. ■ 1977: Traded by New York to Cincinnati for four players after a 7-3 record and 13 starts. . . went 14-3 at Cincinnati in 20 starts the remainder of the year for a 21-6 composite record. ■

1975: Won his third Cy Young Award for a 22-9, 2.38 ERA season with New York. ■ 1973: Notched second Cy Young Award with 19-10, 2.08 ERA campaign . . . led Mets to their second National League pennant . . . also won N.L. ERA and strikeout (251) titles, ■ 1971: Pocketed N.L. ERA (1.76) and strikeout (289) crowns for second time in his career. ■ 1970: Won N.L. ERA (2.81) and strikeout (283) races for first time . . . set major league record April 22 at Shea Stadium with 10 consecutive strikeouts (to conclude the game) against San Diego . . . in the same game, equalled the major league single-game strikeout mark of 19. ■ 1969: Won first of three National League Cy Young awards with a 25-7, 2.21 ERA season . . . led Mets to their Cinderella World Series championship against Baltimore. ■ 1967: Became the first pitcher in 10 years to win the N.L. rookie-of-the-year award with a 16-13, 2.76 ERA year . . . it was the first major honor bestowed upon a Met player . . . also the first rookie-of-the-year winner to play for a last-place team.

■ Minor League Highlights: Spent just one season in the minors, 1966, with the Mets' "AAA" affiliate at Jacksonville . . . led the International League in starts (32) . . . set season and single-game strikeout records of 188 and 14, respectively.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Left unprotected by the Mets during the compensation draft of January 23, 1984, Seaver was selected by the White Sox as compensation for Toronto's signing of Dennis Lamp as a "type A" free agent . . . signed a bonus contract with the Atlanta Braves in February of 1966 . . . commissioner William Eckert ruled the contract in violation of the college rule . . . ruled any club other than Atlanta willing to match the terms of the illegal contract would be eligible to draw for the right to negotiate with Seaver . . . Cleveland, Philadelphia, and the Mets expressed interest . . . the Mets won a special drawing April 3, 1966 . . . Seaver earned all-city honors in baseball and basketball at Fresno (Calif.) High School . . . served in the U.S. Marine Corps before attending Fresno City College and the University of Southern California . . . earned a bachelor's degree in public relations from U.S.C. in 1974 . . . father, Charles, was a member of the U.S. Walker Cup golf team . . . a writer, too, Seaver's latest two books are The Art of Pitching and Tom Seaver's All-Time Baseball Greats . . . the four players obtained by New York from Cincinnati for Seaver June 15, 1977 were infielder Doug Flynn, pitcher Pat Zachry, and outfielders Dan Norman and Steve Henderson . . . the trade between the two clubs December 16, 1982 that returned Seaver to New York sent pitcher Charlie Puleo, catcher Lloyd McClendon, and outfielder Jason Felice to Cincinnati.

■ 1985: Made pair of stops in Chicago but spent most of the season at "AAA" Buffalo of the American Association . . . first recalled July 27 when Sox back-up catcher Marc Hill was hurting with a bad hip. . . appeared in three games in that stay with the parent club and hit safely in all three (4-8, .500, two doubles, two RBI) . . . returned to Buffalo August 4, two days prior to the short-lived major league players' strike . . . recalled again September 1 and finished the season with the White Sox . . . hit safely in eight of the 14 games in which he recorded an official at bat and finished the season with a .341 batting mark (15-44) with one homer and five RBI. . .the homer, the first of his major league career, came September 18 in Chicago off veteran California pitcher Don Sutton. . . batted .240 in 115 games at Buffalo. . .started fast. . .had 12 homers but garnered most of them in the season's early going. . .the dozen round-trippers equalled his previous single-season best (1983 at Denver).

■ Major League Highlights: Considered the catcher of the future for the Sox, Skinner has spent portions of the last three seasons in the major leagues. . .being groomed for regular duty with the Sox in '86. ■ 1984: Appeared in 43 games for the White Sox during three separate stints with the parent ball club. . .the up-and-down physical season endured by regular catcher Carlton Fisk kept Skinner traveling between "AAA" Denver and Chicago. . .his Chicago tours were May 23-June 10, June 13-July 19, and September 5 through the end of the season. . .hit .284 at Denver, his best batting average to date as a professional. . .added 10 home runs. . .suffered a fractured wrist diving back to first base shortly after his final return to Denver that healed in time to play with the White Sox in September. ■ 1983: Skinner's contract was purchased by the White Sox June 12 when Fisk suffered a sore shoulder. . .made his major league debut the same day and went two-for-four at the plate. . .returned to Denver June 15 and then to Chicago in mid-September. . .appeared in six games altogether.

■ Minor League Highlights: Skinner was chosen the top major league prospect in the Eastern League in 1982 and the American Association in '83. . .hit a respectable .260 in '83, his first season at the "AAA" level, for the A.A. champion Bears. . .member of the 1984 A.A. all-star team, his third all-star selection in his last three professional seasons. . .also voted the A.A.'s best defensive catcher and catcher with the best throwing arm. . .Eastern League all-star catcher in '82. . .all-star catcher in the South Atlantic League in '81, his first professional season.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Son of former major league manager and player and current Atlanta coach Bob Skinner. . .joined the White Sox organization February 2, 1982 when the Pale Hose selected him over some 2,000 other professional players in the first compensation draft. . .the choice came from the Phillies' signing of Sox free agent reliever Ed Farmer in January of 1982. . .Farmer was a "type A" free agent, giving the White Sox a chance to make baseball history and yank the promising Skinner from the Pittsburgh organization. . .Skinner and wife Jennifer welcomed the birth of their first child during the off-season.

Wayne Tolleson

Infielder/#1

Given name: Jimmy Wayne Tolleson. Age: 30. Born: November 22, 1955, Spartanburg, S.C. Bats/throws: Switch/right. Height/weight: 5-9/160. Major league tenure: Three years, 131 days. Residence: Spartanburg, S.C. Contract status: Signed through 1986. Family: Married Kim Stevens March 1, 1979; son Steven (November 1, 1983). First pro contract: Texas; selected eighth round, June, 1978 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 1, 1981 (vs. Toronto). Sox acquisition: Obtained from Texas with pitcher Dave Schmidt in exchange for infielder Scott Fletcher, pitcher Edwin Correa, and a player to be named later (infielder Jose Mota), November 24, 1985.

■ 1985: Topped all Texas regulars with his .313 average, the first .300-plus season of his professional career...after hitting .213 in '84, Tolleson's 100-point batting average improvement was the most in the major leagues...entered 1985 with a .285 major league mark and had a previous single-season high of .260 in 1983...finished fifth in the A.L. among all batsmen with 200 or more official trips to the plate...a switch-hitter, Tolleson was more successful from the left side, hitting .333 in 231 at bats...appeared in 123 games, second most in his major league career, with 81 of his games at shortstop...also played second base (29) and third base (12)...hit .354 at Arlington Stadium and .262 on the road...hit over .400 against three clubs — Toronto (.435), Baltimore (.417) and Detroit (.400)...best month was April (.385) and worst was September/October (.250)...six of his 18 RBI were game-winners...longest hitting streak was a 10-gamer August 30 through September 10...three of those 10 games were against the Sox in Arlington (September 5, 7, and 8)...also had a nine-game skein in late May, early June...tied the Texas club record with two triples in one game, August 11 vs. Baltimore.

■ Major League Highlights: Has stolen 20 or more bases in all three of his complete major league seasons...his career stolen base success rate in nearly 75 percent (79 steals in 106 attempts)...career high theft figure is 33 in 1983. ■ 1984: Started the season well, hitting .297 (22-74) in his first 21 games through April 28 . . . batted just .189 over his final 97 games and slipped to .132 in his last 30 contests beginning July 22 . . . led the Rangers with 22 steals and had two thefts in a game four times . . . was successful on 84.6 percent of his steal attempts (26), the second best ratio in the A.L. (20 or more attempts) behind Willie Wilson's 90.3 per cent . . . had a .979 fielding percentage (10 errors in 477 total chances) in 109 games at second base. ■ 1983: Started the season as a utility infielder but became the starting second baseman in late April when a knee injury sidelined Mike Richardt . . . second on club with 33 steals . . . was hitting .288 through July 24 but batted just .211 in his last 53 games . . . had hitting streaks of 15 and 12 games . . . was successful on all eight of his third base steal attempts . . . recorded first major league triple and home run in the same game — June 11 at the Metrodome in Minnesota. ■ 1982: Had fine spring training and opened the season with the Rangers . . . played sparingly and was optioned to Denver April 26 . . . recalled by Texas July 23 and went 0-23 in his first 12 games. ■ 1981: Made major league debut in September after being recalled from Wichita.

■ Minor League Highlights: Stole 136 bases in 182 attempts (74.7 percent) in five minor league seasons . . . was second in the "AA" Texas League with 46 steals (pro career high) in 1980 . . . named to the loop's all-star team that season . . . became a switch-hitter in 1980.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Born, raised, and still resides in Spartanburg, S.C. . . . started in basketball and football at Spartanburg High . . . a prep football teammate of Chicago Bears quarterback Steve Fuller . . . played baseball and football for four seasons at Western Carolina University in Cullowhee, N.C. . . . was named all-America as a wide receiver and led NCAA in pass receptions as a senior . . . graduated from Western Carolina in 1978.

First Baseman/#29

Given name: Gregory Lee Walker. Age: 26, turns 27 October 6. Born: October 6, 1959, Douglas, Ga. Bats/throws: Left/right. Height/weight: 6-3/210. Major league tenure: Three years, 19 days. Residence: Douglas, Ga. Contract status: In first year of two-year contract. Family: Married Carmen Kirkland March 10, 1979; daughters Kaycee (October 17, 1979) and Leigh Ann (January 16, 1984). First pro contract: Philadelphia Phillies, selected 20th round, June, 1977 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 16, 1982 with the White Sox (vs. Oakland). Sox acquisition: From Philadelphia in major league draft December 4, 1979.

■ 1985: The only Sox player to appear in all 163 games (equalling club record established by Don Buford in 1966)...163 games led A.L....although his .259 average was the lowest of his three full major league seasons, Walker equalled his 1984 total of 24 homers and drove in a career-high 92 runs...averaged reached a high-water mark of .299 May 17 after reaching a low point of .247 May 8...put together a season-high 11-game gitting streak (16-46, .348) September 22-October 2...shared club lead in GWRBI with Harold Baines and Carlton Fisk at 13...Walker had 10 of his 13 game-winners by July 8 and led the A.L. in that category for much of the season's first half...recorded a game-winning single and a deciding homer on back-to-back nights in May versus Cleveland and Baltimore after intentional walks were issued to Baines directly in front of him...belted dramatic, two-run, two-out homer in the bottom of the ninth inning to keep Sox alive in a 12-inning, come-from-behind win over Oakland June 19 while the Sox held first place in the A.L. West...started 152 games, all but five at first base...the five other starts came as a designated hitter...in addition to his late 11-game streak, had hits in 10 consecutive outings July 18-27...committed only eight errors and ranked among the best first basemen in fielding percentage in the A.L. with a .994 mark...that plateau was just shy of .995 in '84...batted .310 in May, his best month, with four homers and 12 RBI...best month for power was June with seven homers...also hit six round-trippers in September and one in the season's final week in October...second on the club with 601 official at bats and topped the team with 100 strikeouts...tied K.C.'s George Brett with 38 doubles, fifth in A.L....66 extra-base hits tied K.C.'s Steve Balboni for A.L.'s seventh spot.

■ Major League Highlights: The former Philadelphia Phillie farmhand marks his fourth full year and his fifth overall in the majors, all with the White Sox. ■ 1984: Blossomed into the White Sox' everyday first baseman...enjoyed an outstanding sophomore season, hitting .294 with 24 home runs and 75 RBI, all personal single-season highs...24 homers were tops by a Pale Hose first baseman since Dick Allen clubbed 32 in 1974...hit .308 during the second half...closed with a surge, batting .381 (37-for-97) in September with six homers and 20 RBI to earn American League player-of-the-month honors...September was his fourth month of .300 or better hitting...hit .300 in April, .301 in June, and .315 in August...first hit of season off a left-handed pitcher (Cleveland's Neal Heaton) was a game-winning home run (July 5)...finished second on the club in batting average and RBI...third in home runs...second only to Harold Baines in multiple-hit games with 36...owned the team's second longest consecutive-game hitting streak with 14...also won A.L. player-of-the-week honor for his play of September 3-9 when he hit .520 with five homers and 11 RBI, including a pair of three-hit games...hit three homers in two-game span at Milwaukee August 4 and 6...surprised with fielding improvement, committing only four errors in 846 total chances, a .995 fielding percentage. ■ 1983: Appeared in two ALCS games against Baltimore, pinch hitting in game two and starting at first base in game four...collected one hit and one walk in four plate appearances in the fourth game...after his second consecutive outstanding spring, Walker won the Opening Day starting assignment at first base...committed two errors, prompting manager Tony La Russa to be more gradual in introducing Walker to everyday play...used primarily as a pinch hitter and led the American League with 15 pinch RBI...made 42 pinch appearances, second only to Jerry Hairston, and hit a club-high .371, including two home runs...employed as designated hitter 21 times, batting .311 in that role (23-for-74) with three home runs and six RBI. ■ 1982: Injuries to White Sox first basemen Tom Paciorek and Mike Squires prompted an unexpected call for Walker September 15...made his major league debut September 16 at Comiskey Park with a pinch single in his first big league at bat...batted in eight games the final two weeks of the season and hit safely in six, including his last five in a row...appeared in 11 games altogether, hitting .412 with two home runs and seven RBI...first major league home run came at Comiskey Park September 27 off Seattle's Bob Stoddard.

■ Minor League Highlights: Spent only 35 games at the "AAA" level, all in 1982...grand plan had him penciled in as regular first sacker for White Sox "AAA" affiliate at Edmonton but a broken right wrist knocked him out of action for three months (April 22-July 23)...still hit .350 with three homers and 12 RBI...suffered the injury on a tag play at first base...the everyday first baseman for the White Sox most successful 1981 farm club, the Glens Falls (N.Y.) White Sox, winner of both halves of the North Division of the "AA" Eastern League...the team posted a composite 94-52 record...Walker finished third in the Eastern League in hitting (.321) while leading the circuit in runs (117), hits (163), and doubles (33)...also hit 22 homers...led the "AA" Midwest League in RBI with 98 in 1980 while at Appleton.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Originally signed by the Philadelphia Phillies' organization...left unprotected in the annual major league draft in December of 1979...standout baseball and football player at Coffee High School in his native Douglas, Ga. where he still makes his permanent home...rooms with long-time friend Ron Kittle on the road...White Sox nominee for 1986 Roberto Clemente Award for humanitarian work.

Dave Wehrmeister

Given name: David Thomas Wehrmeister. Age: 33. Born: November 9, 1952, LaGrange, Ill. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-4/195. Major league tenure: One year, 138 days. Residence: Concord, Calif. Contract status: Pending. Family: Married Linda Lansranki October 15, 1978; son Thomas (July 16, 1979) and daughter Ginny (April 6, 1984). First professional contract: San Diego; selected first round, January 1973, free agent draft. Major league debut: April 16, 1976 with San Diego (vs. Houston). Sox acquisition: Signed as free agent, January 21, 1985.

1985: A pleasant surprise for the Sox in the season's final two months . . . made 23 relief appearances and fashioned a 2-2 record, two saves and a 3.43 ERA . . . recalled from "AAA" Buffalo August 4 and made his White Sox debut the following night at New York . . . pitched one perfect inning in that game and three days later, following the short-lived two-day players' strike, earned his first American League victory with a relief win over Boston . . . retired the first five batters he faced in a White Sox uniform and the list of names is quite impressive — New York's Rickey Henderson, Don Mattingly and Dave Winfield and Boston's Jim Rice and Tony Armas . . . saved a 7-4 victory over Texas August 27 in Chicago when he pitched four hitless innings and retired 12 of the 13 men he faced . . . second victory came September 15 at Seattle when he hurled 4.1 innings of scoreless relief . . . longest outing was a six-inning effort versus Oakland September 21 . . . walked only 10 batters in 39.1 innings and struck out 32 . . . placed his name in the Comiskey Park record book when he served up George Bell's home run into the center-field bleachers August 23, one of only seven homers to reach that distant location in the park's 75-year history . . . opened the season as a starter for "AAA" Buffalo but moved to the bullpen for 12 of his last 16 appearances with the Bisons . . . owned a 3-4 record as a starter . . . as a reliever, allowed only three of 15 inherited base runners to score.

Major League Highlights: The 13-year pro made brief apperances with San Diego, the Yankees and Philadelphia before joing the White Sox in 1985 . . . made major league debut April 16, 1976 with San Diego after making the Padres' Opening Day roster . . . earned first big-league victory May 30, 1977 over the Giants . . . made American League debut with New York in the final month of the 1981 season . . . appeared in seven games with the Phillies in 1984.

Minor League Highlights: Broke in with the Padres' organization in 1973 at Alexandria of the Texas League. . .reached "AAA" Hawaii in his second year of pro baseball. . .among Pacific Coast League leaders in ERA (1.88) in 1979 before being traded to the Yankees where he pitched for Columbus of the International League. . .fashioned an 11-3 record at Columbus in 1981 and led the International League in winning percentage. . .traded to the Phillies for the 1983 season and produced an 8-2 record for "AAA" Portland of the PCL. . .started the third game of the "AAA" World Series against Denver and allowed only one earned run in 7.1 innings. . .was not involved in that decision.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Native of LaGrange, Ill., a western suburb of Chicago. . .starter on LaGrange High School's 1970 Illinois state championship basketball team. . .makes his residence in Concord, Calif. . .was the Padres' first choice and the third overall pick in the nation in January, 1973 free agent draft.

Infielder Ron Hansen set a major league record for most chances by a shortstop in a doubleheader August 29, 1965 when he handled 28 chances.

Ken Williams

Outfielder/#16

Given name: Kenneth Royal Williams. Age: 21, turns 22 April 6. Born: April 6, 1964, Berkeley, Calif. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-1/184. Major league tenure: None. Residence: San Jose, Calif. Contract status: Pending. Family: Single. First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: None. Sox acquisition: Selected third round, June, 1982 free agent draft.

■ 1985: Spent the entire season at "AA" Glens Falls of the Eastern League...batted .250 with 16 homers (second best on the club behind first baseman Russ Morman) and 66 RBI (third high on team)...stole 27 bases in 41 attempts...the '85 season marked his first full year at the "AA" level...appeared with the White Sox in their April exhibition with the crosstown Cubs...appeared in 17 spring contests with the parent club and batted .308 with three homers and five RBI...hit a pair of round-trippers in one game against Philadelphia at Clearwater...third homer of the spring was an inside-the-park blast versus the Mets at St. Petersburg.

■ Major League Highlights: Williams has not appeared in the major leagues.

■ Minor League Highlights: Williams is entering his fifth professional season...hit .298 in the Gulf Coast Rookie League in 1982...followed with a .231 season at Appleton with 12 home runs, 53 RBI, and 27 stolen bases...included in his 53 RBI were eight game-winners...the speedy former Stanford University wide receiver was promoted from "A" Appleton to "AA" Glens Falls during the 1984 season...in 38 games at Appleton, he hit .286 with five home runs and 26 RBI to open the season...homers combined with 11 doubles and a pair of triples gave him a .490 slugging percentage at Appleton, tops on the club for the year...at Glens Falls, Williams batted .246 in 97 games, including eight home runs and 47 RBI...stole 13 bases at Appleton and 16 at Glens Falls.

■ Miscellaneous/Personal: Outstanding throwing arm and exceptional speed...originally intended to play baseball for the White Sox organization only in the summers until his four years at Stanford as a football player were completed...however, after his freshman football season, he decided to devote full attention to baseball...as a freshman, Williams was a second-team wide receiver for the John Elway-quarterbacked Cardinal...didn't catch any passes but returned 25 kickoffs for 568 yards, an average of 22.7 yards per return...returned three kickoffs for 109 yards against Southern Cal, including a 69-yarder...made one pass interception in a brief stint on defense...one of the most highly recruited athletes in the nation as a high school senior.

ChiSox Memory

Comiskey Park has been the site of three All-Star Games — 1933 (the inaugural), 1950, and 1983 (the golden anniversary). The American League won baseball's first All-Star tilt (July 6, 1933) 4-2 on a two-run home run by New York's Babe Ruth in front of an official crowd of 47,595 that police estimated closer to 49,000. On July 11, 1950, the National League prevailed 4-3 in 14 innings. On July 6, 1983, California's Fred Lynn duplicated Ruth's heroics of exactly 50 years earlier with the first grand slam home run in All-Star Game history, leading the A.L. to a 13-3 rout of the N.L. The American Leaguers' 13 runs were an All-Star Game record and the victory snapped an embarrasing 11-game losing streak.

Franchise History

White Sox owner Bill Veeck savors his club's 1959 American League pennant.

Franchise History

They played the game on the streets and grimy backlots of Chicago's West Side, these ruddy faced boys of Irish descent. Before there was a National League, the semi-pro teams achieved legendary status. The Excelsiors, Aetnas, Libertys and Pasttimes were just a few of the "social-athletic" clubs that young Charles Comiskey may have played for (or against) during the "Pearl Button Era" of the 1870s and '80s.

Comiskey and Chicago. First the father, then the son made marks on the city's rich history. The family initially settled in Chicago in 1848. John Comiskey distinguished himself in municipal government, first as a clerk of the County Board, then as an alderman in the old 10th Ward. He apprenticed his son Charles to a plumber, believing it was the right and true path for a young man of strong physical capability.

But the boy had other ideas.

After knocking around the semi-pro leagues of the Midwest for several years, young Comiskey took over the first-base duties for the St. Louis Browns of the renegade American Association, the upstart circuit challenging the National League for baseball supremacy in the 1880s. In 1886, "Commy" defeated the Chicago White Stockings (now known as the Cubs) four games to two in the forerunner of the modern World Series.

The American League's Birth

Comiskey returned to minor league baseball following the demise of the short-lived Players League in 1890. The American League actually began operations on November 21, 1893 only then it was called the Western League. Its member teams came from Sioux City, Toledo, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Indianapolis, and Milwaukee. At the behest of the league's dynamic young president, Byron Bancroft Johnson, Comiskey purchased the Sioux City franchise in 1894 and moved it to St. Paul. As the league continued to prosper, secret plans were drawn to incorporate as a second major league. Ironically, James Hart, owner of the Chicago White Stockings, petitioned the Western League for a Chicago franchise in 1894. Hart was denied because Johnson did not want to surrender this lucrative market to the National League team who planned to use the club as a "farm."

In 1900 the Western League changed its name to the more grandiose American League. The St. Paul Saints, who had finished in the first division in four of the five years of Comiskey's stewardship, were transferred to Chicago on March 21, 1900. In return for Hart's grudging acceptance, the Chicago team agreed to locate on the South Side and refrain from using the city's name in its dealings.

Sportswriters began calling the club White Stockings and the small wooden ballpark at 39th and Wentworth became a popular gathering place for fans desiring to watch rough-and-tumble baseball free of the National League's internal politics and backbiting.

The Sox coasted to their first pennant in 1900, thanks to the spirited play of "Dummy" Hoy, Frank Isbell, Dick Padden and Roy Patterson. It was Patterson, the "Boy Wonder," who won the first "official" game in 1901 when the American League broke away from the National agreement and declared itself professional. That year, the Sox won their second pennant in a row — the first "official" American League pennant — with a host of ex-National Leaguers, including Clark Griffith who doubled as player-manager. In just two years, Comiskey had upstaged his powerful crosstown rivals. Despite repeated requests for an intra-city series to determine bragging rights, the Nationals refused.

The City Series

The City Series finally began in 1903 and the surprising Sox played the Cubs to a 14-game draw despite the cries of "fix" by Hart. He claimed his pitcher, Jack Taylor, had thrown games to the Sox, an unsubstantiated charge especially after 1906 when the Sox downed the Cubs in the city's only all-Chicago World Series. Comiskey later recalled that this 1903 series split was personally more satisfying than the 1906 World Championship.

There were many interesting "firsts" by the White Sox in the early years. Herm McFarland and Hoy hit grand slam home runs in the same game, May 1, 1901, becoming the first American League batters to hit grand slams.

The Sox have not hit two or more grand slam homers in the same game since!

Jim Callahan, later to become manager of the White Sox, pitched the club's first no-hitter, September 20, 1902, beating Detroit 3-0.

Fielder Jones, perhaps the greatest of all Sox managers, led the club from 1904 to 1908. Credited with inventing the "motion infield" and the "body twist slide," the fiery skipper guided admittedly weak-hitting teams to first division finishes that remained in doubt until the final week of the season in each of those years. It was called the "Hitless Wonder" era.

After Jones departed in 1909, the Sox sunk into a lethargic period of .500 baseball, remembered mostly for the pitching of Edward Augustine Walsh, the spitballer out of the Pennsylvania coal fields. It was also during this period (Jyly 1, 1910) the Sox moved into the Comiskey Park, four blocks north of the 39th Street Grounds.

Club founder Charles A. Comiskey, left, circa 1914, with Sox manager James Callahan and his son.

Success Then Scandal

In 1915, Comiskey have his managers talent. The contracts of Eddie Collins, "Shoeless" Joe Jackson, Lefty Williams, Hap Felsch, and Eddie Murphy were purchased at great cost. In the process probably one of baseball's greatest teams was being assembled. Ray Schalk later claimed if the team had remained together, it is likely the history of baseball in the 1920s would have been rewritten.

But the 1919 White Sox made history of another kind off the field. Several members of that club were found guilty of conspiring with gamblers to lose the 1919 World Series, a scandal not uncovered until the end of the 1920 season. Eight players eventually were expelled from baseball for life, and the scandal had a far-reaching effect on the club's fortunes for an extended period.

After the World Series championship of 1917 and the heartbreak of the 1919 "Black Sox" scandal, Comiskey opened his checkbook once agian, bringing such stars as Harry Hooper, Willie Kamm, Bibb Falk, and Bill Cissell to the Sox. Their talents could not stave off a series of second-division finishes that dampened Comiskey's spirits, hastening a physical collapse.

Broken-hearted and disillusioned, Charles Comiskey passed away in October, 1931, leaving the club's day-to-day operation in the hands of his only son, J. Louis, and his long-time general manager, Harry Grabiner.

It was in the 1930s that Sox developed their first farm system, and by 1935, results were obvious. Luke Appling, Rip Radcliff, Monty Stratton and others lifted the Sox to the .500 mark in '35, and a solid third-place finish the next two years. However, three events returned the club to its familiar losing ways by 1942: The sudden death of J. Lou in 1939; Stratton's career-ending injury; and, the impact of World War II proved disastrous.

Minus the calming presence of J. Lou, the Sox front office struggles magnified the larger failures on the field. Harry Grabiner left for Cleveland in 1945 after a falling out with Grace Comiskey, promising youngsters were not to be found, and by 1948, the Sox were losing 100 games per season again.

Enter Chuck Comiskey, Frank Lane, and Paul Richards. The three architects of the White Sox glory years of the 1950s were largely unknown in 1949. The gambling front office trio, with nothing to lose, masterminded a series of bold trades that helped usher in the "Go-Go" era. The familiar cry of "C'mon Luke" was replaced with the now-famous "Go-Go" chant that encouraged such base thieves as Luis Aparicio, Jim Landis, and Jungle Jim Rivera. Nellie Fox, Billy Pierce, and Sherm Lollar provided the fire-power and the pitching. So by 1959, with Al Lopex at the helm, the Sox ended a 40-year pennant drought with their fourth appearance in the World Series.

A front office rift that year brought Bill Veeck to Chicago. Despite the pennant and the excitement generated by "Barnum Bill", the Sox lapsed into fourth place by 1961.

Veeck bargained away the farm system with the hopes of repeating his 1959 success with a veteran ball club. Ill health forced Veeck into a premature retirement in 1961. His long-term business associate, Arthur Allyn, Jr., purchased controlling interest in the club, adding the Sox to a list of companies under the Artnell Corporation umbrella. A few noteworthy player moves in 1963, made by the new G.M. Ed Short, lifted to Sox into the upper strata of the 10-team league. But it was short-lived.

Lopez retired in 1965. His successor, Eddie Stanky, kept the "Pale Hose" in the thick of things, but his strict regimens were out of sync by the late 1960s. The inevitable collapse occurred in 1968, and Stanky was fired midway through the season. Lopez resurfaced again, but the farm system was still unproductive and the team could not regroup to salvage the season.

The years 1968 to 1970 were annums of struggle for a franchise with more than its share of misfortune. The low-water mark came during the dismal 1970 campaign when the Pale Hose recorded the worst won-loss record in baseball (56-106) and season attendance plunged to its lowest ebb since 1942 (496,355). Bill Melton, Carlos May, Walt Williams, and Wilbur Wood provided a few sanguine moments, but it seemed the only rumors concerning the Sox centered around their expected move to Milwaukee.

Revival

John Allyn saved the Sox from that fate when he bought his brother's interests late in 1969. A new regime signaled yet another upswing in fortunes. Chuck Tanner was hired as field manager; Roland Hemond arrived from the California Angels' farm system as director of player personnel. Nineteen seventy-one brought a rebirth of fan interest. Melton, Wood, May, and company landed in third place and indeed the future seemed rosy.

Dick Allen's arrival in 1972 turned a respectable young club into contending young club. Allen not only belted 37 home runs to set a White Sox single-season record, he also led the A.L. in home runs, runs batted in (113), and slugging percentage (.603) en route to the league's most valuable player award. Tanner was named manager-of-the-year and Hemond major league executive-of-the-year. To nobody's surpise, the Sox drew a million paying customers for the first time in seven years. The team stagnated in the next three seasons as old controversies surrounding the mysterious Allen surfaced again.

The team's fortunes during this period paralleled the economy of the 1970s — sluggish. John Allyn was dedicated to bringing home a winner but he was out of money and options by 1975. To his credit, he resisted offers to shift the franchise to Seattle, and only an 11th-hour deal with Veeck saved the franchise from yet another demise.

Sox fans owe a debt of gratitude to Veeck, but he was financially ill-equipped to run a baseball team in the high-stakes era of free agency. One glorious summer in 1977 proved to be an illusion. Veeck turned to his now-famous "rent-a-free-agent" scheme. Hall of Fame pitcher Bob Lemon managed the Sox, stocked with one-year free agents Oscar Gamble and Richie Zisk, to a third-place finish in the A.L. West. The slugging White Sox, the club's most potent team since the early '70s, pounded 192 homers, led by Gamble (31), Zisk (30), and Eric Soderholm (25).

Today's Regime

By 1980, the Sox were placed on the market again. This time there were interested buyers. When the league turned down a sale bid by Edward DeBartolo of Youngstown, Ohio, Veeck sold his interests to a group of investors headed by Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn, the former a prominent local businessman, the latter an ex-executive of CBS Sports.

The duo rebuilt the Sox in a relatively short time with imagination and daring. Carlton Fisk and Greg Luzinski, newly-signed free agents, provided immediate credibility while younger players like Harold Baines developed. Further credibility followed not only with improvement of the team's personnel but with the money the new ownership poured into modernizing and improving venerable Comiskey Park, the nation's oldest active ballpark. In 1983, the Sox won the Western Division by a record 20 games. With the exception of a hard-core nucleus developed during the Veeck era, none of the players had been around during the forgettable days of the late 1970s.

The revelry of 1983 was followed by a letdown in 1984. Through it all, manager Tony La Russa maintained an unshakable confidence and patience. Depsite a rash of injuries in 1985, the Sox rebounded to capture third place. The year was guarded success, but changes were made quickly. From the broadcast booth, Ken "Hawk" Harrelson assumed the duties of executive vice president-baseball operations.

A tradition of continuity and change again was upheld and a new page in Sox history had been turned.

Versus A.L. Teams

Baltimore Orioles

The White Sox dropped the season series for the third straight year... Orioles now enjoy a 261-231 advantage over Chicago since play began in 1954...the Sox have fared a little better since 1980, posting a 33-36 mark...the "mis-adventures" in Baltimore have been legendary since the team shifted its base of operation from St. Louis in 1953...1985 was no different...Fred Lynn's two out opposite field three-run homer spells defeat for Mike Stanton on July 12 after relieving the injured Bob James with nobody on base and two men retired.

Boston Red Sox

The ChiSox have enjoyed "Soxcess" in three of the last four seasons... 27-21 in that time...8-4-1 in 1985...the tie game was the first for the Sox as a team since 1980...Boston holds an 831-804 edge overall in a relationship known for its "streaks"...White Sox posted a 61-26 record from 1905 through 1908 after dropping the first four season series... Hose did not hold an edge over Red Sox clubs from 1946 until 1953... Chicago then won 11 of the next 13 season series spanning 1953-1966.

California Angels

The Sox duplicated their record of 1984 against the Halos at 5-8...the early years were dominated by the White Sox who won the first eight season series...lost 12 of 18 to snap the streak in 1970...the first game played in the "Big A" on April 19, 1966 went to Tommy John and the Sox by a 3-1 margin...feast or famine for the Sox since '70...Chicago won 10 of 13 in 1980 and again in 1983 but have dropped eight season series since 1970.

Cleveland Indians

Continued their winning ways against the Tribe in 1985...the 10-2 mark was the best against any A.L. opponent and helped boost the overall record to 837-804...39-28 since 1980...Even during their glory days, the Cleveland Indians have found the Sox to be a tough opponent...Sox divided 22 games with the Tribe in 1954, a year when Cleveland won 111 games...the Hose did not lose a season series from 1956 until 1968 ...more ties have been played with Cleveland than any other opponent.

Detroit Tigers

Sox divided the season series with the Bengals in 1985...Sox have won or tied three of the last season series with Detroit...quite a reversal from the mid- and late-1970s when the Sox posted a 22-47 mark from '75 to '80...Chicago clustered the bulk of their victories against Detroit in two separate decades — 124-95 from 1920 through 1929 and 122-98 from 1950-1959.

Kansas City Royals

Dropped eight of 13 decisions to the Royals despite completing their first four-game sweep of K.C. in Comiskey Park...inability to win a game in Royals Stadium cost the Sox a chance to contend for the division title...all-time season series stand at 5-10-2...116-137 overall.

Milwaukee Brewers

This spirited rivalry has calmed down in the last three years due to the Brewers' fall from contention. . . Milwaukee won the 1985 series seven games to five, taking a slim 99-96 edge in all-time play. . . the Sox enjoyed a 59-48 advantage before the Brew Crew gained respectability in 1978.

Minnesota Twins

The pesty Twins continued to remain a ChiSox nemesis in 1985. . . claimed their first season series (7-6) since the strike shortened season of 1981. . . Twins now lead overall series 217-181. . . Sox are 59-55 since the "South Side Hitmen" season of 1977, however. . . Sox have found the new "Homerdome" more to their liking. . . 13-13 since 1982 when the Twins vacated the "Met".

New York Yankees

An early-season sweep of the Bombers cost Yogi Berra his job and brought back Billy Martin. . . third time in nine years that the White Sox were the indirect cause of a Martin hiring/firing. . . Sox finished 6-6 with the New Yorkers. . . since 1982 the Sox have won or tied the season series. . . 29-19 in that time. . . The Sox did not win a season series from the Yankees from 1925 'til 1959. . . since that time they have recorded winning years in 1967, 1972-73, and 1982-84. . . best years were the first. . . Sox record against Bombers from 1903-1921 was 229-177.

Oakland A's

Despite some late-season slugging by Jose Canseco, the Sox won another season series from the A's, eight game to five. . . all-time series stands at 138 for, 141 against. . . a far cry from the Finley era. . . Sox trailed the series 68-90 after the 1976 season. . . the gap narrowed with the advent of free agency.

Seattle Mariners

Sox took nine of 13 against a Seattle team which was a puzzle before 1983. . . the Hose have dropped five of the nine season series with one split. . . despite the record, the Sox hold a solid 63-51 edge in overall play. . . 12-1 in 1983. . . 10-5 in '77. . . White Sox inaugurated baseball in the Pacific Northwest in 1969 but dropped a 7-0 decision to Gary Bell and the soon-to-be-moved Pilots. . . Sox claimed 10-8 season edge that year.

Texas Rangers

The Sox reeled off eight victories in a row to claim the season series against the Rangers 10 games to three. . . like their predecessors, the Washington Senators, the Rangers have been a favored Comiskey Park visitor. . . 5-1 vs. Texas in Chicago in 1985. . . 37-13 from 1978 to '85. . . 61-34 overall in Chicago since the first game April 18, 1972. . . Sox opening-night victory margin that year was 14-0.

Toronto Blue Jays

Sox record against the Jays fell to 51-54 after dropping nine of 12 decisions to the A.L. East champs. . . Sox have now lost three season series in a row since winning eight of 12 in 1982. . . Toronto is another expansion city that the Sox helped inaugurate, only that time in a snowstorm. . . the Hose lost 9-5. . . before 1977, the Sox' last professional appearance north of the border was an exhibition game played June 27, 1955. . . Toronto was still a member of the International League then and recorded a 7-3 victory over Bob Keegan. . . 8,064 fans attended.

Comiskey Park History

Seventy-six years age, Halley's Comet streaked across the horizon. Believing the old Irish superstitions of his boyhood, Charles Albert Comiskey was understandably apprehensive about the opening of his new ballpark. Taking the omens at face value, Comiskey decided not to attend the laying of the cornerstone on March 17, 1910. A single, solid green brick was laid in place by architect Zachary Taylor Davis, who kneeled on a piece of sod imported from Ireland specially for the occasion.

A labor strike by the steel workers, and the death of a construction worker hours before the gala opening, failed to diminish the revelry of that warm July afternoon when the "Baseball Capitol of the World" was christened.

And what an opening it was. A motorcade from the Chicago Loop to the ballpark preceded the festivities attended by mayor Fred Busse, C. C. Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, Garry Herrmann of the National Commission, Amos Alonzo Stagg, and Charles Murphy of the Cubs. It was a banner day for the "Old Roman" but his team lost to the St. Louis Browns, 2-0, despite fine pitching by Ed Walsh.

The date was July 1, 1910 a little more than 10 years since Comiskey opened business in Chicago.

Thirty-Ninth Street Grounds

With limited working capital, "Commy" purchased the former home of the Chicago Wanderers, a cricket team that had abandoned the park. When Comiskey surveyed the 39th Street grounds early in 1900, he found nothing more than an empty field overgrown with weeds and garbage. The very day that the Sox played their first home game in Chicago, workmen still were applying the final coat of paint to the wooden grandstand.

The Sox remained in this tiny ediface at 39th and Princeton for nine and one-half years. In 1902, the grandstand was enlarged with an overhanging roof installed. But even in its heyday, the park seated no more than 5,000. Overflow crowds convinced Comiskey to seek a new, more spacious home.

Thirty-Fifth and Shields

In 1909, he purchased a tract of ground from the estate of former mayor John Wentworth four blocks north of the 39th Street grounds. The selection of this property was not coincidental nor haphazard. In 1890, Comiskey played for the Chicago Pirates of the Player's League on that site in a park that long since had been razed. The fact that the Wentworth Avenue streetcar line ran adjacent to the property was not lost on the "Old Roman." Comiskey anticipated drawing fans from the north and west sides, not realizing his real constituency was the neighborhood people who resided in the ethnic south side wards.

For several months following the close of the 1909 season, Walsh and Davis toured American stadiums to draw from the experiences of developers and players alike. Comiskey Park, in all its symmetrical forms, is a hybrid of ideas. Davis envisioned a park designed along classical lines consistent with Daniel Burnham's Chicago Plan. His ideas were modified by Comiskey who favored a more functional approach. Its spacious contours — 362 feet down the foul line, 420 feet to straightaway center — no doubt were influenced by Walsh.

The old 39th Street grounds eventually were sold to the American Giants, a Negro League team operated by Frank Leland. Renamed Schorling Park, it remained such until a fire destroyed the grandstand in 1940.

The new Comiskey Park, anointed White Sox Park at first, featured an abundance of twenty-five-cent seats because of owner wanted to insure that even his poorest fans could afford a decent ticket. There were immediate problems for the security people, not to mention the great crush of fans unable to get in for the big events like Frank Chance Day when over 35,000 fans gathered to honor the "Peerless Leader" who was managing the Yankees. A section of grandstand collapsed that day, May 17, 1913, an early indication that a single-decked grandstand was too small.

Growth

The climate of the times dictated more changes in th 1920s. The popularity of the Yankees, Senators, and Connie Mack's A's led to more crowd problems and incidents of ticket scalping. Because Americans were spending more for entertainment, an upper deck grandstand was installed prior to the 1927 season. The now was completely enclosed except for an open portion in center field. The scoreboard, which previously had stood in right field towards center, was transferred to the right and left field walls. Comiskey Park took on a familiar appearance which would last in one form or another until the modern day.

During this time, the Comiskeys ran a bottling plant underneath the first base seats. Here, J. Lou Comiskey learned the baseball business. After his father's death in 1931, Lou took over the club's day-to-day operation. Because of his large size, a special elevator was constructed for him along the third base side. The old elevator with its guaint inlaid tile floor remained in use until 1982.

Face Lifts

Several attempts to change Comiskey Park's reputation as a pitcher's heaven have been periodically since 1934 when the infield was moved 14 feet closer to the wall to accommodate Al Simmons. "Bucketfoot Al" didn't like the old park very much, and when he was traded, the plate was moved back again. Later, inside fences in left and right field were installed in 1949 and again in '69-70. An inside fence in center field, reducing the distance to home plate from a cavernous 440 feet to a more conventional 400 feet, was erected in '49, removed in '76, and reinstalled for the '81 season.

Comiskey Park, the nation's oldest active major league ballpark, as it looks today.

ChiSox Memory

On June 22, 1938, White Sox outfielder Henry Steinbacher tied the American League record by hitting safely six straight times (one double, five singles) against Washington at Comiskey Park.

To their credits, Bill Melton (1971) and Dick Allen (1972) won their American League home run crowns with the park's basic 1927 dimensions. In 1983, a new ownership again moved the plate forward, and the increase in home runs was dramatic. However, the plate was returned to its original location following the '85 season.

Through it all, Comiskey Park has retained its unique but sometimes overlooked charm. In th 1930s when there was little to cheer about on and off the field, Sox fans always pointed to their 35th Street "shrine" with a degree of pride.

The first free-standing scoreboard was constructed in center field in 1950. Ten years later, Bill Veeck added fireworks and through the 1960s the board was nicknamed the "Monster." During Veeck's stewardship, the picnic area was built in the outfields and a spacious press box for Chicago Cardinal football was added along the third base line in the upper deck.

Infield astroturf was an Art Allyn idea. It lasted from 1969 until Veeck's second coming in 1976. In retrospect it probably wasn't a very good idea in the first place, but the 1960s were a time of experimentation and innovation. For a short time, the "Dugout Cafe" under home plate was serviced by "Soxettes" who served corned beef sandwiches and beer to hungry patrons.

Veeck restored the natural grass and whitewashed the park, covering Comiskey's legendary brick. His efforts to maintain the decaying, aging ballpark proved costly. The tandem of Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn, the current owners, continued to beatify the park and modernize its appearance by replacing a number of uncomfortable wooden seats, installing a Diamond Vision scoreboard in 1982, modern dugouts, and new auxiliary scoreboards. Supersuites were built for corporate clients in 1983.

That's Entertainment

By the time Comiskey Park celebrated its 75th anniversary in 1985 to continue its reign as the "grandam" of American stadia, the park already had experienced three World Series (four if the Cub's use of it in 1918 is counted), and three All-Star games.

In 1933, all eyes were focused on Comiskey Park when it was the site of the first All-Star Game. Staged as part of the Century of Progress Exposition that ran on Chicago's lake front that summer, the All-Star Game was an instant success as an official crowd of 47,595 crowded into Mr. Comiskey's house.

On July 6, 1983 — 50 years to the day — Comiskey Park was the site of the golden anniversary All-Star Game."

The American League won baseball's first All-Star Game, 4-2, on a two-run homer by Babe Ruth. And on July 6, 50 years later under the lights of America's oldest major league stadium, Fred Lynn of the California Angels hit the first grand slam home run in All-Star Game history, sparking the A.L. to a 13-3 rout of the National League.

The All-Star Game also returned to Comiskey Park on July 11, 1950. The N.L. prevailed 4-3 in 14 innings.

The football Cardinals, Mustangs, Sting, auto polo, war bond rallies, rock concerts, religious revivals, prep league championship games, prize fights, wrestling, a host of celebrities including mayor Daley, John F. Kennedy, George M. Cohan, Senator Paul Douglas and thousands of people from all walks of life all over the world have enjoyed the place.

Comiskey Park. There's no other place quite like it!

ChiSox Memory

Ed Walsh was the whole show in 1911. Besides posting an amazing 27-18 season, he also was the winner of "Comiskey Field Day," an exhibition of baseball skill putting ball players from competing teams in the 100-yard dash, the shot put, and a fungo-hitting contest. Walsh captured 1911 honors when he swatted a 419-foot fungo, bettering the mark set in 1907 by Mike Mitchell of Cincinnati.

"AAA" Buffalo Bisons — "Triple-A" baseball returned to Buffalo in 1985 when the White Sox moved their affiliate from Denver to the upstate New York city. The Bisons gave their loyal supporters a fine first half, jumping out to a 32-24 start and holding first place in the American Association's East Division as late as the last week in July.

Injuries to the parent White Sox, though, began to take their toll on the Bisons as the Sox were forced to call on several key Buffalo players to fill roster gaps. Second baseman Bryan Little, perhaps the key to the Bisons' quick start, was recalled for good by the Sox July 4. The Sox also took pitchers Bruce Tanner, Bill Long and Steve Fireovid for stints in the major leagues as well as outfielders Mark Ryal, Mark Gilbert and John Cangelosi, first baseman Joe De Sa, and catcher Joel Skinner, all important players in Buffalo's lineup. The Bisons began to slide and fell to a final mark of 66-76.

First-year manager John Boles kept his club close to the top despite the necessary talent raids by the parent White Sox. Boles had managed at all three lower levels in the Sox' system in the previous three years, taking Glens Falls ("AA") to the Eastern League playoffs in '84 and Appleton to the Midwest League title in '83.

Some outstanding individual performances were turned in by Buffalo players, many of whom received their crack at the big leagues with the Sox during the season. Pitcher Bill Long, acquired from San Diego in the multi-player trade that also brought shortstop Ozzie Guillen to Chicago, raced to an 8-1 start and finished with a 13-6 record. His 13 victories led the American Association.

Joel McKeon led the Bisons' bullpen with a 6-4 record and a team-high 12 saves. Jerry Don Gleaton, who spent the second half of the year with the Sox, paced the Buffalo pen in the first half with an 8-2 mark and seven saves.

Little batted .306 in the 49 games he played with Buffalo and gave some stability to a young infield. De Sa topped the club with 17 homers in just 97 games before his recall. Third baseman Steve Christmas, who also spent some time as the Bisons' designated hitter, was fourth in the league with a .298 average and rapped 16 homers. Outfielder Dave Yobs finished the season strong, compiling a .300 batting average.

ChiSox Memory

Salaries have come a long way since 1914 when Red Faber was a rookie for the White Sox. That year, he collected $1,200. He was purchased outright for $3,000 by Charles Comiskey.

"AA" Glens Falls White Sox — Glens Falls (N.Y.) struggled for much of the 1985 season but finished strong and challenged for the fourth and final playoff spot in the eight-team Eastern League. The Sox finished three-and-one-half games shy of the fourth spot, thought, with a 68-71 record.

Steve Dillard managed the Sox after directing the Pale Hose's rookie club in Sarasota in 1984. Several of the Sox' most promising prospects played at Glens Falls but the team was unable to put all the ingredients together until the season's final weeks.

The most productive player of the year easily was first baseman Russ Morman. The right-hander was the Eastern League's second-best hitter with a .310 mark and belted 17 homers with 81 RBI. He twice copped player-of-the-week accolades and earned the player-of-the-month award in the season's opening month. Morman's production at Glens Falls earned him a promotion to "AAA" Buffalo for the season's final weeks where he also grabbed a player-of-the-week award and clubbed seven more homers.

Catcher Ron Karkovice started strong and led the league in homers in the early going. He finished with 11 round-trippers and 37 RBI. Shortstop Mike Soper anchored the infield and placed eighth in the loop with his .296 batting average. Kurt Walker paced the pitching staff with an 11-6 mark and right-hander Joel Davis, who impressed with the parent Sox in the season's final two months, opened the season at Glens Falls and was 1-1 in just four starts.

The White Sox played under six different managers in a little over two years from mid-season of 1968 through the end of the 1970 campaign. Eddie Stanky resigned as field boss July 12, 1968. Les Moss replaced him on an interim basis July 12-13. Al Lopez, the Sox manager from 1957-65, returned July 14 for his second stint at the helm, a tenure that lasted until his resignation May 2, 1969. Don Gutteridge assumed the hot seat through September 2, 1970. Bill Adair sat in the chair on an interim basis for nine games prior to the arrival of Chuck Tanner September 15, 1970.

"A" Appleton Foxes — Appleton rolled to its third straight division crown but was denied its fourth consecutive league championship when it dropped a first-round playoff series to Kenosha. The final setback in the series with Kenosha was especially tough when the Foxes were dealt a one-run loss in a game halted by fog after seven innings.

Despite the disappointing finish, the season again was extremely enjoyable for the Foxes. Rival Madison jumped to an early lead in the Northern Division but Appleton caught them quickly and pulled away to another title as Madison slumped to third behind Kenosha.

Sal Rende completed his second year at the helm of the Foxes and outstanding individual performances were plentiful.

First baseman Tom Forrester, a January draft selection, joined the club in May and contributed a team-high 15 home runs. Outfielder Troy Thomas and infielder Jerry Bertolani finished fifth and sixth in the league in hitting with .292 and .289 average respectively, and outfielder Jim Winters topped the circuit with 91 RBI.

The Foxes' pitching was outstanding with Tony Menendez and Edwin Correa each contributing 13 victories and reliever Dave White finishing third in the league with 17 saves. Correa had the league's fourth best ERA (2.53) and lost just three times while Menendez compiled a 2.74 ERA, seventh best in the loop.

White, Menendez, catcher Jim Markert, Forrester, outfielder Mike Taylor and Winters all played in the mid-season all-star game.

"A" Niagara Falls White Sox — Niagara Falls jumped out of the starting gate and raced to a 12-3 start in its short-season format but struggled from that point to finish with a 34-43 final record.

The Sox, under the leadership of first-year skipper Luis Lagunas, placed third in the Southern Division behind Jamestown and Erie.

Leading the way offensively was second baseman Jose Mota, the White Sox' second-round selection in the June free agent draft and the son of former pinch-hitter extraordinaire, Manny Mota. The California State-Fullerton all-America performer finished sixth in the New York-Penn League with his .303 batting average and was the only Niagara Falls player to eclipse the magical .300 mark. His fine play earned him a brief stint at "AAA" Buffalo when the Bisons were in need of infield help.

First baseman Luis Peraza led the club with a dozen homers and 47 RBI.

John Pawlowski led the starting pitchers with a 9-3 record to place among the league leaders and reliever Bobby Thigpen finished with nine saves, fifth best in the league.

ChiSox Memory

The Sox have led the league 30 times in stolen bases since 1901, most recently in 1966.

"Rookie" Sarasota White Sox — The "rookie" Sox, under the direction of former Sox catcher and first-year manager J.C. Martin, started the season slowly but finished with a flourish and wound up just three-and-one-half games out of first place.

Their 40-22 record was the second best in the 10-team league behind the Yankees' 43-18 mark.

Chris Alvarez was a pleasant surprise at third base for the Sox, finishing fourth in the league with 31 RBI. He led the loop with nine game-winning RBI. Catcher Eric Milholland topped the regulars with his .295 batting average.

Wayne Edwards (7-3) and Donn Pall (7-5) paced the pitching staff with seven victories apiece and Eric Wilson was the top reliever with four saves.

ChiSox Memory

The White Sox played their first night game March 21, 1931, though it was only an exhibition. The Sox defeated the New York Giants 11-6 in 10 inning before a sparse crowd of 500 in Houston. It is believed that this game was the first night-time contest to feature major league teams.

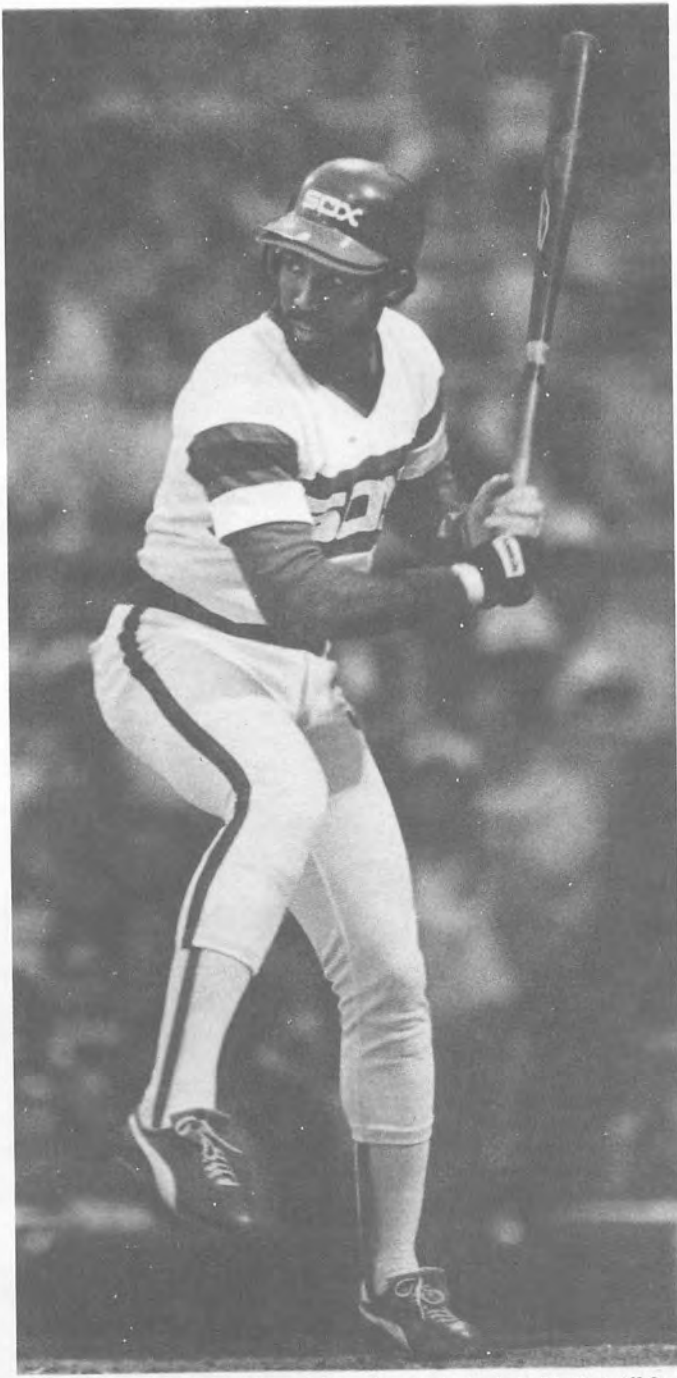
Russ Morman enjoyed a sensational 1985 season at the "AA" and "AAA" levels, posting composite totals of 24 home runs, 95 runs batted in, and a .309 batting average.

Miscellaneous



Sox right fielder Harold Baines delivered a pinch single in his first All-Star Game last season.

ChiSox Memory

Sherm Lollar and Frank Baumann became the third pitcher-catcher duo in baseball history to stroke back-to-back home runs. They accomplished the feat on July 13, 1961 against the New York Yankees in Chicago. Jim Hegan and Gene Bearden of the Indians were the previous tandem to do it in 1948.

ChiSox Memory

No one knows for sure but credit for the "Hitless Wonder" nickname may be attributed to Charles Dryden of the Chicago Tribune, according to Rich Lindberg of S.A.B.R. After the Sox staged a late-inning rally on a host of errors and walks in a game played in New York on July 13, 1906, the Tribune headline read: "Hitless Wonders Rally and Turn An Apparent New York Victory Into Defeat".

Broadcasting

Broadcast Inquiries

All inquiries regarding White Sox broadcasting — radio, free television, and cable television (Sportsvision) — should be addressed to Laureen Ong, vice president-broadcasting and special projects, Chicago White Sox, 980 N. Michigan Avenue #1610, Chicago, IL 60611. Broadcast coordinator Laura Jane Hyde can be reached at the same address.

Radio

WMAQ (670 AM) Radio, Chicago's 50,000-watt, clear-channel NBC affiliate, once again serves as the White Sox' flagship radio station. WTAQ (1300 AM) Radio, La Grange, Ill., also known as Radio Fiesta, will offer Spanish language descriptions of 32 White Sox games in 1986.

At press time, the White Sox radio network scheduled to carry WMAQ's description was as follows: Crystal Lake, Ill. (WXET-FM), Freeport, Ill. (WFRL-AM), Morris, Ill. (WCSJ-FM), Princeton, Ill. (WZOE-AM), Decatur, Ind. (WADM-AM), Ft. Wayne, Ind. (WEZR-AM), Goshen, Ind. (WZOW-FM), Knox, Ind. (WKVI-FM), Logansport, Ind. (WSAL-AM), Marion, Ind. (WGOM-AM), Plymouth, Ind. (WTCA-AM), Rensselaer, Ind. (WRIN-AM), South Bend (WHME-FM), Wabash, Ind. (WAYT-AM), and Sarasota Fla. (WQSA-AM).

The television network will be comprised of Bloomington, Ill. (WYZZ-TV), Kell, Ill. (WCEE), Rockford, Ill. (WQRF-TV), Springfield, Ill. (WRSP-TV), Davenport, Ia. (KLJB-TV), Des Moines, Ia. (KCBR-TV), and Indianapolis (WXIN-TV).

Don Drysdale

Adds second hat in his fifth season as Sox broadcaster. . . persuaded to become a club "pitching consultant" by former broadcast partner Ken Harrelson, the club's new executive vice president-baseball operations . . . concentrates on television broadcasting for the Sox. . . . member of the ABC-TV baseball telecast team for the 1984 National League Championship Series pitting the San Diego Padres and Chicago Cubs. . . began his broadcasting career in 1970 with the Montreal Expos. . . described California Angels' baseball for several seasons prior to joining the White Sox. . . the former pitching great for the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers was accorded the ultimate honor in 1984 when he joined former slick-fielding White Sox shortstop Luis Aparicio and Minnesota Twins' slugger Harmon Killebrew in the Hall of Fame. . . a 14-year pitching veteran, Drysdale compiled a composite record of 209-167 with a 2.95 earned run average. . . nine-time National League all-star. . . played in five World Series. . . best season was 25-9 effort of 1962 in Los Angeles. . . joined Sandy Koufax as one-half of the most lethal one-two pitching tandem of its day. . . probably best remembered for his major league record of six consecutive shutout games (58.2 consecutive scoreless innings) in 1968. . . resides in Palm Springs, Calif. in the off-season.

Frank Messer

Newest member of the White Sox broadcast team joins the Pale Hose after 18 years in the New York Yankee radio and television booths. . . will offer both play-by-play and color commentary on television and color commentary on radio. . . prior to joining the Yankees, Messer spent four seasons on the Baltimore Orioles' broadcast crew. . . has worked several World Series—1966 with Baltimore and 1976, '77, '78, and '81 with the Yankees. . . called Baltimore Colts' N.F.L. games from 1964-67. . . former radio voice of the New York Knicks of the N.B.A. . . . honored by the New York baseball writers during the past off-season for his service to New York baseball. . . native of Asheville, N.C. . . . lives with wife Rebecca and daughter Miki in Deerfield Beach, Fla. . . . avid golfer.

Brown

Crandall

Lorn Brown

Primary radio voice of White Sox baseball. . . serving second stint on Sox broadcast team. . . described ChiSox baseball to his native Chicago from 1976-79 and rejoined the Pale Hose during the latter part of the 1983 season. . . in between his Chicago tenures, Brown broadcast Milwaukee Brewer and New York Met baseball. . . Brown also has remained active in other broadcasting endeavors, particularly college basketball. . . most recently, Brown was the play-by-play voice of a Saturday Big Ten Conference television basketball game-of-the-week during the 1984-85 season while squeezing Bradley radio broadcasts into his busy schedule. . . in 1983-84, Brown described DePaul basketball on radio in Chicago. . . began his career in downstate Illinois with several radio and television stations. . . broke into baseball with the Iowa (Des Moines) Oaks, a former "AAA" affiliate of the White Sox. . . moved to the major leagues with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1974. . . spent five winters as the television voice of the N.B.A. Chicago Bulls. . . credits also include Notre Dame, Drake, and Illinois high school basketball. . . married the former Elizabeth Burke, ex-director of scoreboard operations for the White Sox, following the 1984 season. . . the couple resides in west suburban Oakbrook.

Del Crandall

The former major league player and manager returns for his second season as a color commentator, splitting time between radio and television after exclusively working radio in 1985. . . will offer spring training instruction to Sox catchers according to plans of new Sox executive vice-president/baseball operations Ken Harrelson. . . managed the Milwaukee Brewers from May 30, 1972-September 27, 1975. . . also managed the Seattle Mariners from June 25, 1983-August 31, 1984. . . prepared for major league managerial stints with minor league managerial positions at "AAA" Albuquerque (Los Angeles Dodgers) in 1969-70 and "AAA" Evansville (Detroit Tigers) in 1971. . . major league coach with the California Angels in 1977. . . Crandall's 1982 Albuquerque Dukes, which finished 94-38, were hailed in some quarters as the best team in minor league history. . . led the Dukes to five division titles, three consecutive playoff titles (1980-82), and one co-championship (1978). . . regarded as one of baseball's best defensive catchers during his 16-year playing career. . . spent his first 13 seasons with the Boston and Milwaukee Braves. . . also played for San Francisco, Pittsburgh, and Cleveland briefly at the end of his career. . . during his days as a Brave, Milwaukee won two National League pennants (1957-58) and one World Series (1957). . . four-time winner of the National League Gold Glove Award among catchers (1958-60, '62). . . five-time National League all-star (1955, '58-60, '62). . . tied the major league record by leading the National League catchers in assists six times (1953-54, '57-60). . . hit a composite .254 with 179 home runs and 657 RBI. . . resides in Fullerton, Calif. with his wife Fran and their six children.

Media Information

Credentials

Application for credentials to White Sox baseball at Comiskey Park should be made in writing on appropriate letterhead. Address requests to Paul Jensen, Director of Public Relations, Chicago White Sox, 324 W. 35th Street, Chicago, IL 60616. Requests for season credentials should be received by March 23, 1986. Single-game or single-series requests should be received at least one week prior to the requested game(s). Season credentials will be mailed; single-series or single-game passes will be left at the press will call gate (9). Single-series or single-game credentials must be displayed at all times.

Press Will Call

Press "will call" at Comiskey Park is located at Gate 9 on the third base (Shields Avenue) side of the park. The gate opens beginning one and one-half hours prior to the game's starting time. Media needing earlier access to Comiskey Park need to make arrangements through the White Sox public relations office.

Parking

Press parking is limited. The White Sox public relations office will make every effort to accommodate media members. Most of the parking available to the press is located on 34th Street immediately north of the left field wall.

Clubhouses

The White Sox occupy the third base clubhouse; visiting clubs man the first base clubhouse. The White Sox clubhouse is open to the media until approximately 30 minutes prior to the start of each game and again about 10 minutes following the game's conclusion. The White Sox clubhouse is closed to the media between games of doubleheaders. The visiting clubhouse is subject to the rules of the visiting club.

Training Room, Weight Room, Players' Lounge

The White Sox training room, weight room, and players' lounge in the home clubhouse are off limits to the media at all times.

Dugouts

The dugouts are off-limits to everyone except uniformed personnel and certain White Sox officials in accordance with American League rules.

Field

Credentials must be marked for field access. Credentials do not necessarily entitle holders access to the field. Media members with field privileges are free to circulate during batting practice through the conclusion of infield drills. Following both teams' infield drills, the field must be cleared of all non-uniformed personnel. Except in unusual cases, the field also is off limits following the conclusion of games.

Press Box

Located on level five. Most seats are assigned on a season basis. Access is limited strictly to working members of the media. Non-working members of the media should contact the public relations office prior to the game for accommodation in the stands. In addition to media services, a light meal service, snacks, and beverages are available.

Photo Locations

Field level and upper deck photo locations are available. The field level positions are located in dugouts on each baseline just beyond the players' dugouts. Since the space is limited, all field photo positions are assigned for the season. Special arrangements for use of the field level positions must be made through the White Sox public relations office. Several photo baskets hang from the facade of the upper deck at varying intervals around the infield. There are no photo positions in the outfield.

Bards Room

A special credential is necessary for admittance to the Comiskey Park Bards Room (level four). The Bards Room, which serves press meals in its north dining room beginning two hours prior to the game, also opens for beverages only for approximately one and one-half hours following the game. Space in the press dining room is limited so media members are asked to eat and relinquish their seats for others.

Game Notes

Game notes and statistics are provided by both teams prior to each game in bins located in row three of the main working press room.

Post-Game Notes

Notes, quotes, and statistics are provided to the press in written form as soon as possible following the game.

Broadcast Booths

Comiskey Park broadcast booths are pre-assigned. Broadcast booth needs should be directed to Laureen Ong Fadil, White Sox vice president-broadcasting & special projects. In 1985, Spanish language station WTAQ, La Grange, will carry a selected number of games, further limiting booth availability for non-broadcast needs.

Interviews

Uniformed personnel normally are available to the media on the field during batting practice and in the clubhouse during times when the clubhouse is open to the press. Media members needing to reach members of the White Sox organization at other times should contact the White Sox public relations office.

Audio Report

The White Sox daily audio hotline phone number is 312/924-3995, 3996. Actualities, game reports, and news is provided on a 24-hour basis. Reports are changed at least daily during the season and as appropriate during the off-season.

"On second thought, I'll have a Special Export."

We make Heileman's Special Export with only the finest barley, Bavarian hops and pure artesian spring water. Then we Kraeusen our beer, or brew it twice, for a naturally smoother flavor.

Is the famous beer from Holland made this way? Come to think of it, it isn't.

Heileman's Special Export.

You can travel the world over and never find a better beer.
